Fighting For Stalingrad Hits Peak of Ferocity

By The Canadian Press

After three weeks of already frightful struggle on the immediate approaches to Stalingrad, main theatre of the world conflict, the German offensive achieved peak ferocity today against elastic Russian defence and the Germans claimed two penetrations of the city itself.

By Russian accounts, however, the battered capital of the lower Volga region still flew her red banners of battle, with the foe checked once more on the outskirts.

The Germans said Stalingrad had been entered in both the southern and northwestern sections. The southern penetration was first reported yesterday, the northwestern today. The latest German claim today said dominating heights in the northwest of the city had been occupied.

YIELD SOME GROUND

Typical of the repeated rectifications in the semi-circle of defence was the Russian announcement that precious ground had been yielded southwest of Stalingrad but only until strength could be marshalled to stop and then blunt the new penetration.

British, Canadian and Russian airmen flailed Germany from the west and east during last night.

The Russian objectives in Germany had not been identified but a German broadcast dispatch said the Russians also bombed Bucharest, Rumania's capital, and "indirectively attacked" the oil field section around Ploesti, also in Rumania.

The dispatch said it had been rumored that parachutists were landed in the Ploesti region, but added "no confirmation of this report is forthcoming."

SEA-BORNE LANDINGS

The German suggestion that Russian saboteurs might have been landed in this rich oil region fitted into the widening pattern of such attacks by the British and Russians during the week-end.

These were topped by a British action against Tobruk on the Mediterranean and a Russian marine landing behind German positions facing northernmost Russia along the Barents Sea.

The sea-borne Russians struck into either Finland or Norway. This action, it was reported yesterday from Moscow, resulted in capture of 200 prisoners and destruction of considerable material.

Germans Execute Four More Czechs

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(CP)—Four more Czechs, one a woman, have been sentenced to death in Prague on charges of "publishing" and spreading illegal pamphlets directed against Germany," Czech sources here reported today. Eleven other Czechs were reported sentenced earlier this month on the same charges.

At last reports the assault was still under way.

The German high command was the authority for the odd report that a British detachment of seven men attempted to land on the French coast east of Cherbourg, France, Saturday night. Their boat was said to have been sunk by shore guns and the seven men killed or captured.

The detachment consisted strangely of five officers, including one from the fighting French navy, according to the German account. Berlin was as silent in construing their mission as Britain was on the entire affair.

REPORTS INDICATE:

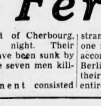

Balkan Revolt Flares as Opposition to Nazis Grows

By JOHN A. PARRIS

LONDON, Sept. 14. — (BUP) — A Balkan revolt, touched off by an attempt to assassinate Peter Gabrovski, Bulgarian minister of interior, was reported today in reliable advices from the continent.

Violence was sweeping Bulgarian Macedonia, where more than 100 suspects were reported to have been arrested after an unsuccessful attempt on Gabrovski's life at the old Yugoslavian town of Skoljje.

Intelligence reports from the continent indicated widespread and violent opposition to the Axis occupation authorities throughout the "protectorate" of southeastern Yugoslavia and the Macedonia area of Greece assumed by Bulgaria.

PARRIS

Macedonian guerillas, roving in bands, were said to have thrown the population of several districts into panic, resulting in clashes with Bulgar troops and police along the Yugoslav border.

Guerilla attacks on Bulgar border garrisons forced the Bulgarian government to proclaim a state of siege at Skoljje, a town of 65,000 persons, 110 miles southwest of Sofia. Other towns also were declared in a state of siege.

At Strumca, 72 miles southeast of Skoljje, three men were executed for allegedly attempting to incite a revolt.

Reports from the neutral Swedish Telegraph Agency called the Macedonian revolt "bloody." All Bulgarian officials have been killed in several small towns, it said. The Macedonia patriots were receiving ammunition from

No Storing of Tough Grain In Alberta

Alberta farmers should avoid threshing or combining until grain is dry, Hon. D. Bruce Macmillan, minister of agriculture, warned Monday in a statement on harvesting.

His statement follows:

Alberta's wheat and coarse grain crop this year has possibilities of producing highest yields in the history of the province. Unfortunately, adverse harvest weather, with wind and rain, has prevailed, with the result that crops in most sections are two weeks late in ripening, with considerable lodging in many fields.

IS DISASTROUS

"The combining of lodged crops or immature crops is sure to yield tough or damp grain. Too early threshing will be equally disastrous. Grain which is to be stored must be dry, because of limited storage facilities. Tough grain must be turned frequently, and this connat be done in overloaded elevators or home granaries.

Elevator agents will be compelled to refuse storage for tough grain. Risks are too great. Heating may take place in bins, which may not only spoil the grain, but which may also cause fire in the elevator. Grain mites also thrive when the moisture content of the crop is high. Farm storage of tough grain is subject to he same risks.

Farmers throughout the province should avoid threshing or combining until grain is dry. The crop is safer stooked in the field than when stored in a tough condition in a bin.

The provincial department of agriculture asks for co-operation of all farmers in this matter.

Nazi Labor Chief Changes His Tune On War Outlook

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The BBC said today that Dr. Robert Ley, German labor leader, has changed his tune of the Nazi slogan from "the certainty of victory" to "determination not to capitulate."

The BBC, heard here by CBS, said Ley in a Nuremberg speech omitted the previous oft-repeated reference to certain German victory, saying instead: "The German nation has entered the fourth year firmer and harder, and determined not to capitulate."

Today's War Moves

By FREDERICK OECHSNER

British United Press Central European Manager

The kind of fighting the Russians are displaying at Stalingrad is not in the Nazi book of blitzkrieg rules. This book definitely does not include loading yourself with grenades and then diving under tanks to be sure to stop them. It does not include a great many of the other unorthodox and desperate things the Russians have done in defending Stalingrad.

Although by no means lacking courage of their own, Nazi soldiers—and all the Nazi politicians from Hitler down—figure that when you're licked you're licked and might as well admit it.

The Dutch knew when they were beaten. So did the Belgians and—

British Move Further Ahead In Madagascar

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(CP)—British spokesmen announced today the capture of Maevatanana, 150 miles by road northwest of Tananarive, capital of Madagascar, and information reaching some military quarters here indicated that advance forces had pushed on to within 100 miles of the capital.

By this accout British forces had covered fully half the distance to the capital—230 miles air from the northwest Madagascar port of Majunga, one of three landings which they made last Thursday in an effort to prevent use of the French island by the Axis.

Week-end reports placing British troops 70 miles or less from Tananarive were unsubstantiated.

A communique said the forces pushing into Madagascar from three directions were making good progress, and that besides capturing Maevatanana, advanced detachments were moving on across the

Willkie in Iran

TEHERAN, Iran, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie arrived by plane today from Baghdad, Iraq.

MOSCOW, Sept. 14—(AP)—The Rumanian oil field centre of Ploesti was left in flames as a result of a bombing attack last night by Russian planes, the Moscow radio reported today.

Bucharest, capital of Rumania, and Koenigsberg in East Prussia also were said to have been Red air raiders' targets.

Thirty-three fires, accompanied by heavy explosions, broke out in Bucharest, the announcement said. Five blasts were observed in the vicinity of a military barracks, arsenal and the Rumanian war ministry.

Six large fires were reported started in Ploesti.

Other Rumanian towns—not named in the broadcast—also were said to have been bombed.

All but one Soviet bomber returned to their base, the radio said.

LONDON, Sept. 14—(CP)—British, Canadian and Russian bombers, delivering a new twin blow to the flanks of the Axis 1,000 miles apart, smashed at the northwest port of Bremen last night in an R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. attack probably hundreds of planes strong, and raided Bucharest and the Ploesti oil region of Rumania from bases deep in Russia.

Lone-flying British bombers were back over northwestern Germany again at dawn in follow-up attacks, the air ministry reported, announcing a total loss of 19 British bombers.

The air ministry said the 100th attack of the war on Bremen was delivered by a "very strong force," a phrase taken here to indicate that bombers by the hundreds were used. Three R.C.A.F. squadrons participated.

FIRES SEEN 100 MILES

Returning Canadian pilots reported visibility through cliffs in the light clouds was good and said they unloaded their tons of explosives over the Weser river port by the light of raging fires whose red glow they could see for 100 miles on their flight back to base.

The Berlin radio, broadcasting the German communique, said Russian bombers were over eastern Germany during the same night, and quoted dispatches from Bucharest that the Rumanian capital and Ploesti region to the north were attacked by Soviet bombers.

NAZI CLAIMS

The dispatches described the Ploesti attacks as ineffective and said Bucharest had two alarms during the night and some bombs were dropped but that no damage was caused.

Bremen, site of important submarine building yards and the Focke-Wulf airplane factory, was last bombed Sept. 4.

The German radio said British raiders had caused "material damage and destruction to buildings, particularly in residential quarters" in an attack on a "harbor town," but did not otherwise identify the target.

It was the first R.A.F. attack on Germany since last Thursday night, when Duesseldorf was blasted by a powerful force of R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. raiders.

ADMIT RUSS BOMBING

The Berlin radio also disclosed that Russian bombers had been over eastern Germany, but it asserted that only slight damage at isolated places was caused.

Both the Berlin and Vichy radio stations reported Budapest and other points in eastern Hungary, which the Russians bombed last Wednesday night, had air-raid alarms. The broadcasts reported no hostile planes had crossed the frontier.

Broadcasting stations at Bratislava, in Czecho-Slovakia, and in Rumania also went off the air during the night.

There was no German air activity over Britain last night.

BEAUHARNOIS, Que., Sept. 14.—(CP)—Several hundred employees of the Howard Smith Paper Mills plant here went on strike today, seeking higher wages.

U.S. Output Is Only Half Of Maximum

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told congress today the United States is producing only a little more than 50 per cent of its maximum possible war production and solemnly warned:

"Not until we have reached the maximum—and we can do this only by stripping our civilian economy to the bone—can our fighting men and those of our allies be assured of the vastly-greater quantities of weapons required to turn the tide.

"Not until then can the United nations march forward together to certain victory."

U. K. "OFFENSIVE BASE"

The president's statement was in a letter transmitting the sixth quarterly lend-lease report in which he spoke of Britain as an "offensive base." The report showed such aid to the British Commonwealth of Nations and 35 other countries during the 18 months since the program began totalled $6,480,000,000, with actual exports amounting to $3,525,000,000. In the same time lend-lease countries purchased $5,800,000,000 worth of goods, including munitions, from the United States.

Lend-lase help now is being provided at the rate of $8,000,000,000 a year, with the maximum aid possible under 15 separate appropriation acts reaching almost $63,000,000,000.

At present, the report said, about 35 per cent of lend-lease exports are going to the United Kingdom, 35 per cent to Russia, and 30 per cent to the Middle East, Australia and other areas.

"Aid to China," it added, "has been limited by the difficulty of transportation, but the develop-

Economist Made Aide to Winant

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Appointment of Winfield W. Riefler, economist of the Board of Economic Warfare, as special assistant to Ambassador John G. Winant in London, with the rank of Minister, was announced today by the state department.

Back in London

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(CP)—W. Averell Harriman returned to London today from the United States, where he went to report to President Roosevelt on the Moscow Churchill-Stalin conferences of early August.

Returns Here

Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, M.P. for East Edmonton, who returned here Monday from attending the session of parliament, recently concluded.

Member Lauds U.S. Actions On West Coast

General feeling at Ottawa and throughout Eastern Canada is that the United States authorities have taken hold firmly of the Pacific coast situation and have done, and are continuing to do, a good job in meeting the Japanese menace, Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, M.P. for East Edmonton, declared on her arrival home Monday after attending the parliamentary session.

"Throughout the east there is an air of confidence that the United States authorities have taken hold of this problem in a wholehearted, thorough way and are dealing with the west coast problem in their customary thorough and efficient manner," she said.

Mrs. Casselman declared that the situation in regard to the war has not changed at Ottawa. "They are girding more than ever for a greater effort though," she said. "There is a feeling that big things are in the offing, but none knows what they are going to be. The authorities are warm in their praises of the magnificent resistance put up by the Russians and until the military authorities give

Development of Prairie Rivers Stressed Here

The development of the waterways of the three prairie provinces as a post-war rehabilitation project was maintained by John R. Mr. MacNicol is visiting Edmonton in the course of his annual visit to the west, studying developments of natural resources here.

He spoke to the Kiwanians on three topics, namely the value of the Alaska highway to Edmonton; the Alberta oil situation; and the potential value of the waterways of the Saskatchewan river system.

He stated that the potential oil fields in the Peace River district are present in large quantities and that he was going to urge the Do-

Britons Place Dynamite Under Rommel's Tanks

READING, Pa., Sept. 14.—(AP)—A United States army officer, Lt.-Col. John H. Snyder, who escorted Wendell Willkie to Egypt, said today British forces are knocking out Gen. Erwin Rommel's tanks by placing dynamite under them.

"Light motorized forces sweep out and plant charges under tanks that might have been only temporarily disabled by bombs and shell fire," said Col. Snyder, chief of the intelligence section of the air transport command.

The Colonel, home for a brief rest, said Gen. Rommel has excellent repair facilities but is "finding reclamation of damaged tanks a tough job now."

Four Allied Merchant Vessels Also Reported Lost by U-Boat Action

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(CP)—Naval service headquarters today announced loss of the Canadian patrol vessel Raccoon with 38 officers and men, and the sinking of four United Nations merchant ships.

The navy did not give the exact location of the sinkings, but they were known to have occurred on the eastern coast.

Loss of the Raccoon brought to eight the number of navy ships lost by Canada since the war began.

Total number of navy men officially reported missing since the outbreak of hostilities was raised to 615.

GUARDING CONVOY

The navy statement said the Raccoon "had been presumed lost through enemy action while guarding a convoy of merchant ships, and that it must be presumed that all hands were lost with her."

"He also announced that there has been an increase in the tempo of enemy activity on Canada's side of the Atlantic.

"He regretted he has to report that four merchant ships had been lost by enemy action, with 10 of their officers and crew. The remainder of their personnel were rescued.

DETAILS NOT GIVEN

"For security reasons, the navy minister refrained from giving details of where and, when H.M.C.S. Raccoon was lost.

He did add, however, that she was one of an escort fleet with a convoy which came under attack from one or more enemy U-boats."

MacDonald Sees City as Future Air Cross-Road

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(CP)—Defence operations in the Canadian northwest — "one of the greatest estates in the world"—have resulted in a fresh pioneering drive, Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, high commissioner for the United Kingdom in Canada, said in a broadcast address here last night.

Mr. MacDonald said the country is seeing rapid changes, that Edmonton in the future "may be one of the most important cross-roads of air lines flying to and from every corner of the earth," and that "great defence works . . . being constructed in the northwest" are being completed rapidly despite all obstacles.

GREATEST ROAD PROJECT

Speaking over a Canadian Broadcasting Corporation national network Mr. Macdonald, in a descriptive talk on a recent 9,000-mile trip which took him to a number of far northern points, called the Alaska highway, now under construction, "the greatest piece of road-making yet attempted by man."

"The wilderness is waking up to the sound of airmen and soldiers hastening through the Canadian northwest and Alaska to settle our account with the Japanese barbarians."

The high commissioner asked Canadians if they realized that fully one-third of the entire Dominion lies north of parallel 60. The inhabitants of this part of Canada, he said, were "fine people, living simple, sincere and generous lives which put some of our city frills to shame."

"They are civilization's frontiersmen in this generation," he added, in a land "which in these changing times may contribute mightily to Canada's wealth and renown."

He told of one village visited, where the inhabitants, a Canadian, an Englishman, an American, a Pole, a Norwegian and a Dane, "were a pretty fair representation of the United nations."

EYES SPARKLE

"You should have seen their eyes sparkle when I told them as they told me that between them they were paying this year $3,000 in income tax as a contribution to Hitler's undoing."

An Indian village with 150 inhabitants made a spontaneous contribution of $200 to children in London who had been orphaned in air raids, he added.

Appeal Court Quashes Pair Of Convictions

Three appeals were heard in the Alberta court of appeal on Monday, two of which resulted in the quashing of convictions against Roderick Letendre, Edmonton soldier, and Otto Carlson- Alberta Beach, on charges of assaulting a R.C.M.P. officer.

The third appeal was dismissed when J. W. McClung, K.C., intimated that Carl Checknita, Glendon, had abandoned his appeal against conviction and sentence on a charge of causing grievous bodily harm to Arsene Guerrier. Checknita was sentenced to serve five months on the charge, and also pay a fine of $75. In default of payment of the fine an additional two months' imprisonment was ordered.

Mr. McClung informed the court that Checknita had intimated he would surrender to the police at St. Paul to serve his sentence.

Appeal by Mary Brooks against conviction and sentence on a charge of keeping a bawdy- house was adjourned until the November sittings of the court on the application of Neil D. Maclean, K.C.

Letendre and Carlson appealed against conviction and six months' sentence imposed on a charge of assaulting a R.C.M.P. officer on the ground that the charge was defective as it did not disclose particulars of the alleged assault.

FURTHER CONTENTION

It was contended further that the accused, when asked to plead before the magistrate, had entered a plea of guilty, but had qualified this plea with the statement that they "were drunk and did not know what it was about."

The court held that the convictions should be quashed and remarked that magistrates "showed too much readiness to dispose of charges on guilty pleas when the evidence in the case should be heard."

It was intimated by the court that new charges can be laid against the appellants.

mountains to the southeast toward Andriba, about 125 miles north of the capital on another road.

OVERCOME OPPOSITION

The Allied forces which landed farther south of Morondava were reported meeting "little or no opposition" on the advance inland. From Ambanja, on the northwest coast, another column was reported "making good progress" southward.

The force advancing from Majunga encountered resistance from Vichy forces at a bridge over the river Betsiboka, but this was overcome Saturday.

The defending forces has dropped the middle span of the suspension bridge into the river to hold up the British forces.

The most serious fighting possibly still is ahead, for the 4,000-foot plateau on which Tananarive is located is said to be the best-defended area of Vichy-controlled Madagascar. It is approached by steep, winding roads.

FORCES ADVANCE

The second column was coming up from the southwest of Tananarive after landing at Morondava, on the west coast more than 350 miles airline south of Majunga.

Sunday's communique said it was proceeding satisfactorily toward Maboslitra, 200 miles airline east of Morondava and 100 miles south of Tananarive, but its exact location also was not given.

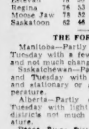

A third force, which went into action in northern Madagascar, was disclosed to have occupied Ambanja on Saturday after overcoming slight resistance. No casualties were reported from either side.

A delayed message said British troops took Majunga in a three-hour fight before breakfast the first day of the campaign. The total force both sides there was given as between 30 and 40 casualties.

Aerial Photos Confirm Damage In Nazi Cities

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(CP)—Daylight reconnaissance photographs of Duesseldorf and Karlsruhe substantiated yesterday original R.A.F. report of widespread damage in the latest raids on those German-Rhineland cities, it was authoritatively announced. Duesseldorf was raided last Thursday night, and Karlsruhe the night before.

"On the night after the attack on Duesseldorf the greater part of the town was covered by dense smoke and another reconnaissance had to be done" it was said. "The damage at both places is still being assessed and details will be issued later."

Mosher Urges All-Out Effort On War Output

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(CP)—A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, in an address prepared for delivery to the annual convention of the Congress today called on labor to center its entire efforts on essential war production and avoid disputes or other action which might hamper Canada's output of war materials.

"We must not endanger the war effort, no matter how great the provocation may be to do so, by strikes or slowdowns in war industry," he said. "Not a single day's production of war materials should be lost through any action on the part of the workers, for that means a loss, not to the employer or the government alone, but to the nation and to the Allied cause.

POLICY FAVORED

"Even though this may entail the acceptance of hardships, the endurance of unfair treatment in many instances, and the temporary abandonment of rights which have been won only by long and bitter struggle, I believe that this is the policy which has been followed in the chartered and affiliated unions of the congress ought to follow for tue duration."

"There are many matters upon which we do not see eye to eye with the government and we are not here to protect it from criticism or to justify many things it has done," Mr. Mosher said.

"But it is our government, democratically elected and holding office by the will of the people of Canada, and it is carrying on our war effort for the benefit of the whole nation and for the sake of all we hold more precious that life itself."

DEFECT IN POLICY

Chief defect in the government's labor policy in the past had been failure to provide protection for the right of workers to organize freely and bargain collectively, Mr. Mosher said. An additional source of criticism had been failure of the government and employers to cooperate with organized labor in calling national conferences on basic industries, to form industrial councils and provide adequate machinery for representation on government bodies.

"Speaking generally, management appears to be unwilling to discuss production policies with committees of their employees and the result is a mutual lack of confidence which is extremely detrimental to good relationships as well as to output of war materials," he continued.

The suggestion had been made, even by persons who considered themselves friendly to labor, that there should be no extension of the labor movement during war.

"Labor unions are being increasingly recognized as vital and essential factors in the social and industrial structure of a nation, and to stop organizing new groups of workers now would be as unwise as to stop recruiting members for the armed forces or bringing new workers into war production plants when larger numbers in both these forms of service were required."

Civic Employees On New Schedule

No complaints were heard Monday morning at the Civic Block as employees started their first day of early attendance under the staggered hours plan designed to relieve congestion on Edmonton's street railway system during peak load hours.

The plan went into effect Monday and all of the 200 employees were at their desks at 8:30 a.m., the new attendance hour. The next block will close at 4:30 p.m. from Monday, instead of the usual 5 p.m.

At present the new hours affect only the office staffs. The bringing of other classes of employees under the plan is being considered by the city commissioners.

Married Men With Dependents May be Called in States

ASBURY PARK, N.J., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Maj.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service, told New Jersey Legionnaires yesterday that the United States need for manpower on its far-flung battlefronts had made inevitable the call to arms of previously-deferred husbands with dependents and war production workers.

"We will have to come to the realization that there are not enough single men, that there are not enough married men without dependents for the mobilization of, say, between 10,000,000 and 13,000,000 in the United States," Hershey said.

No Place For War Strikes, Says Mitchell

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(CP)—There is no place for industrial strikes, inter-union strife or lockouts in Canada's war effort, Labor Minister Mitchell said in an address prepared for delivery today at the annual convention of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

"There is no complaint big enough to warrant ceasing one day in making the munitions required by those who are fighting for us," Mr. Mitchell said.

While there had been too many small strikes in Canada there had also been cause for complaint that some employers had discriminated against trade unions," he added.

While workers could not match the contribution of those who offered their lives on battle fronts they could always work harder, remembering that in the final analysis work would make victory possible. Workers would also be called on to aid in the struggle through increased taxes and loans.

Mr. Mitchell reviewed the growth in industrial employment in Canada, an increase of 600,000 workers in three years, with per capita earnings of employees of some 13,000 plants at $28.56 July 1 compared with $25.49 weekly a year ago.

The wage stabilization policy which the government had adopted was one of benefit to the worker, he said.

DRAW ATTENTION

The McMurray oil fields are today occupying the attention of the authorities and the fields west of McMurray spreading well into British Columbia are also worth consideration, Mr. MacNicol stated.

With Edmonton serving as the narrow end of the funnel for the huge resources of the great Northwest, there is no doubt that this city's future should be one of optimism.

With the construction of the Alaska highway well on its way the transport problem through the vast wilderness is nearing solution, he said.

TRANSPORT PROBLEM

The transport problem eastward could be solved considerably if the great Saskatchewan river system were developed into a barge transportation system, Mr. MacNicol stated.

Dams erected at suitable locations from the headwaters north of Lake Winnipegosis westward to this city would not only solve the coal shipping problem but would develop possibly 1,000,000 horsepower of electricity, which is increasingly in demand, he added.

This river has been used for transportation purposes in the last century and there is no reason why it could not be used again and on a larger scale, he stated.

Liquor Question Will be Studied

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Sept. 14.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told a delegation from the general council of the United Church in Ottawa, Saturday, that a committee of the federal cabinet was studying ways "in which effective action could be taken" to curtail liquor consumption in Canada, it was announced here today.

The delegation from the council —now in session here—reported the Prime Minister told them he accepted their argument for curtailment of liquor as "clear and convincing" and that he would soon make an appeal for temperance in the dominion in a national radio address.

Mr. King was quoted in the report as having told the delegation that he "fully recognized the seriousness and urgency of the situation" but that prolonged negotiations with the provinces over financial arrangements had made action by the Dominion government "difficult." However, restrictions the government had been forced to make along so many other lines "had opened the way now for action with regard to the liquor problem".

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(CP)—A committee of six members of the federal cabinet has been formed to study the liquor question in Canada with a view to reducing the annual liquor bill it was learned today.

The committee is headed by War Services Minister Thorson and its other members are Resources Minister Crerar, Revenue Minister Gibson, Finance Minister Ilsley, Postmaster-General Mulock and Fisheries Minister Michaud.

The committee has already held some meetings and "is thoroughly canvassing the entire situation," Mr. Thorson said today.

Nazis Making Plans to Fight Through Winter

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(CP)—The Germans were reported today to be making intense preparations for a strongly-fortified winter line in Russia even while the terrific frontal assault on Stalingrad is going on. Behind this line, apparently, Hitler hopes to regroup, rest and re-equip his badly mauled forces.

First disclosure of Hitler's winter plans, which he promised in his Reichstag address last April, was the Axis announcement of the appointment of Generals Franz Halder, Jacob and Wiertersheim to establish an impregnable line and clothe Axis troops against the ravages of the Russian winter.

In London it was believed these preparations were the imperative result of heavy casualties and material losses in Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock's frontal attack on Stalingrad, which the Nazi command earlier had hoped to avoid by its more familiar swift flanking movements.

Other winter line preparations reported from Axis and other sources include:

Construction of heavy concrete fortifications at strategic points behind the present front.

Large-scale production of heaters and protective equipment for all mobile equipment.

Orders for several hundred new locomotives.

Feverish construction of barracks in many areas of occupied Russia.

Aerial Collision Of Training Planes Kills Four Fliers

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(CP)—Four airmen were killed as a result of a collision between two training aircraft near Richmond, Ont., yesterday, Royal Canadian Air FForce headquarters said. Two of the dead were Americans.

A fifth flier saved himself by parachuting to earth after the airplanes collided.

The R.C.A.F. announced that one of the dead was Sgt. S. V. Patterson, whose wife lives at Eastview, Ottaw suburb.

The flier who survived the crash was P.O. C. E. Cussion of Chelsea, Que.

City Requested To Submit Name For New Ship

The City of Edmonton has been asked to submit three names of local significance to the Naval Board, the name selected by the board to be given to a Canadian naval ship now in course of construction, it was announced Monday by Major John W. Fry.

In the communication to Mayor Fry asking for the submission of three names it is pointed out by R. V. Pennington, secretary of the Naval Board, Department of National Defence, that there is already a R.C.N. ship called Edmundston, and its similarity to Edmonton makes it impossible to call a ship Edmonton.

Mayor Fry said the communication would be submitted to the City Council Monday night, and also that request would be made to the public for suggestions as to the names to be submitted.

The letter from the Naval Board reads: "I am directed to advise you that it is intended shortly to allocate names to several new Canadian vessels which are due to be commissioned as His Majesty's Canadian ships.

"In view of the relative importance of your city in the Dominion of Canada it is considered that one of the vessels of the Royal Canadian Navy should be named after it.

"It is regretted that the Edmundston, one of His Majesty's Canadian ships, bears a name so familiar to the name Edmonton that it will be impossible to apply the name of your city to the vessel.

"I am accordingly directed to request you to submit three alternative names of local significance in order of preference."

New Plant Turns Out Magnesium

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(CP)—The munitions and supply department disclosed today that the new government-owned plant of the Dominion Magnesium Company, near Renfrew, Ont., a $5,000,000 project, now in operation and Canadian-made magnesium is available for the first time."

The metal, in heavy demand for making aluminum alloys used in aircraft construction, formerly came entirely from the United States.

Canada's entry into the field of magnesium production is based on discovery of a new extraction method applied to dolomite deposits at Haley's Corners, near Renfrew.

PRODUCING MORE

Compared with their available resources, he said, Britain and Russia had produced more weapons than the United States.

"And they are continuing to produce to the limit in spite of the fact that Russia is a battle-field and Britain an offensive base."

The report said lend-lease funds now are being spent for many special products, including further tests of the "searchobile," shallow draft cargo vessel originally known as the "sea otter," and for saving shipping space and registration capacity by the development of dehydrated foodstuffs. (The "sea otter" is described as being virtually immune to torpedo attack.)

To show that lend-lease is not entirely a one-way proposition, the report said that in Great Britain 250,000 British workmen were engaged on construction for the American army in July alone.

AID RECEIVED

In addition, British guns and camps, aircraft and military stores have been turned over to United States expeditionary forces and reciprocal aid is being furnished American troops in Australia, New Zealand and by the "Fighting French" in equatorial Africa and New Caledonia.

Of the $4,489,000,000 aid furnished by the United States thus far, $5,129,000,000 represented goods transferred and services rendered, while $1,360,000,00 was the value of goods "in process".

During August, military items comprised about 58 per cent of total transfers, industrial materials 29 per cent, and foodstuffs 13 per cent.

Labor-Management Groups Urged For U.S. War Industry

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(CP)—Declaring the 50 per cent increase in war production since Pearl Harbor was attacked was good, "but not good enough," War Production Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson last night urged everyone engaged in war work or essential services to establish labor - management committees.

Speaking over the NBC network as a guest of the labor management committee of R.C.A.-Victor at Camden, N.J., Nelson told members of similar committees in 5,300 war plants throughout the United States:

"It will be harder to increase production now than it was six months ago. There are more physical difficulties to overcome. Times are tougher. So are we. All of us. We will not be stopped."

Vichy Labor Order Believed Plan to Give Nazis Workers

LONDON, Sept. 14. — (CP) — Fighting French sources said last night that Pierre Laval's plan to conscript labor in France appeared to be a carbon copy of the order which workers may be sent "collectively" to Germany to work in the war industries.

These quarters said Laval's plan to provide Germany with 350,000 workers on a voluntary basis had been a "ghastly failure" and, as a result, he was obliged to turn to a new scheme for forced labor.

They said it was doubtful whether such conscripted labor could be employed in France to Germany's advantage because Laval already had closed many factories and the munitions-making machinery had been shipped to Germany.

The dead are Pilot Bruce Yasinki, 36; W. Gabriel Auger, 38. The injured is Joseph Rioux, 32, Aluminum Company of Canada engineer.

Cause of the crash was not given, but it was announced investigations are being carried out by Dominion Skyways' engineers and officials of the Dominion Transport Department.

Goebbels Changes Line on Air Raids

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Paul Joseph Goebbels used to call R.A.F. attacks "nuisance raids," but the BBC reported Saturday the rising crescendo of British bombs bursting upon Germany has forced the Nazi propagandist to change his line.

As proof, the BBC, heard here by CBS, quoted this paragraph from a piece Goebbels wrote in the periodical Das Reich:

The war is entering a more urgent phase. All citizens in Cologne, Hamburg, Duesseldorf and other cities must help in such jobs as removing incendiary bombs from the rooftops. Normal organization is upset by the scale of the raids."

The BBC said a radio commentator was sent to Duesseldorf after bombers set that city allame Thursday night.

"He said life in the city was dead for some time," the BBC reported, "and that the people looked ill. All they could do now is to work, work, work, otherwise they would never be able to sleep again."

"TIMID" START WORRIES FOE

Dynamic Propaganda Is Allied Need

Copyright 1942 by The New York Tribune Inc., and The Edmonton Bulletin

It may well be argued that the mighty propaganda launched by both sides in this war over the merits of the peace they intend to set up after victory is wasted effort. Obviously the kind of peace the world gets depends on who wins. If we lose, we know very well what is in store for us—or we should know.

And yet both the Axis and the United Nations continue to hammer away at the theme. You might think that Hitler, with his troops and Gestapo sitting tight on the continent of Europe, would not have to bother with making glittering promises about the new order. That he does both is proof that he realizes that he has not conquered the minds of the people he so brutally rules.

For our part we cannot forget the deadly effectiveness of Allied propaganda toward the end of the last day when the spreading of the Wilsonian promises of freedom to the subject peoples and democracy for all played an important part in the break-up of the enemy empires.

NEED FORCEFUL LEAD

No impartial observer would say that United Nations propaganda is anywhere near so effective today as was Allied propaganda in 1918. Our statesmen have not given the necessary lead, and without a forceful lead, without a dynamic policy, no propaganda can be very successful. We are, however, making a timid beginning. And, judging by the angry enemy reaction, that beginning has been rather successful. It is evident that Berlin is facing its fourth war winter, the failure of its hopes in Russia, the mounting discouragement of its own under-nourished people and the growing resentment of the starving conquered populations, is taking more and more notice of the effect our propaganda, weak as it is, is having on the people's of Europe.

Take specifically the Axis reaction to four recent utterances concerning our peace aims by the President, Vice-President Henry Wallace, Secretary of State Cordell Hull, and Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles. In each case the lengths to which Axis propagandists went to counter the effect of these four pronouncements upon their own and conquered peoples showed the measure of their concern.

The most violent Nazi reaction was to the president's address to the International Student Assembly in Washington. There probably was a reason for this. It is well known that Hitler's most fanatical supporters in the Reich are the nation's youth. It is also so well known that Hitler at the moment is quietly laying the foundation for a European youth movement. If he can develop the same fanaticism towards himself among the youth of Europe that he has achieved in Germany, he need not worry about what the old folks think of the new order.

NAZI COUNTER-BLAST

In charge of building up the new European youth movement is Baldur Von Schirach, a pasty-faced Nazi private who built up the Hitler Youth Organization and became its head until he was appointed Nazi boss in Vienna. It was he who was called upon by Hitler to deliver Germany's counter-blast to Mr. Roosevelt's speech to the youth of the United Nations and their friends He appears to have been prepared for the task, for American and British short-wave transmitters were hardly on the air with the president's message (they peppered it to Europe for 24 hours in a dozen languages) before the Axis radios were relaying Von Schirach's outburst of vituperation in reply.

It was called not only against the president, who, because Hitler fears him most of all the United Nations leaders, has become "world enemy number one" to the Nazi propagandists, but against American youth.

"The United States," screamed Von Schirach, "has not been able to handle its own youth. American youth is without ideals . . . the criminal fool in the White House is not respected but despised by the youth to whom he appeals . . . within the American youth is the greatest shame of civilized humanity." And he distorted a statement of Mrs. Roosevelt: "Only ten days ago Mrs. Roosevelt stated that the degeneration of American youth was increasing to a frightening degree."

ROME JOINS CHORUS

Radio Rome took up the Nazi chorus in several languages. It told the French: "It is well known that America can't manage their own children . . . Roosevelt's speech to the youth shows us that America today is in the hands of the Jews."

Von Schirach hastily called a meeting of the European youth union in Vienna, proudly announcing in advance that the youth of fifteen nations "will unanimously reject this hypocritical message of Roosevelt." No doubt the youths will because the Nazis will force them. But Nazi uneasiness over Mr. Roosevelt's stirring message to the world's youth suggests that his words must have struck home with an effectiveness which did not please the Axis leaders.

The same might be said of the recent speeches of Wallace, Welles and Hull. Had Europe not heard them and pondered them, especially insofar as they promised a decent existence for mankind after an Allied victory, it is hardly likely that Berlin would have devoted so much time and energy in trying to refute them.

Wallace's now famous speech delivered at the "Free World" dinner on May 8 did not at first attract Axis attention, possibly because our own press did not at first catch its significance. On June 8 in a new address which was rebroadcast to Europe he reiterated the main points of his earlier speech and the next day the Axis went to work on him. On June 9 alone, Berlin allotted much of its radio time to Mr. Wallace in broadcasts to North and South America, to England, South Africa, the European continent, Syria and Africa. Lord Haw Haw devoted his entire commentary to an attack on the vice-president's speech. All over Europe, the German controlled stations in the occupied and satelite nations joined in the chorus.

Mr. Sumner Welles' speech of May 30 outlining the post-war world the United Nations would try to erect and proclaiming that "the age of imperialism is ended" was promptly seized on by Berlin, Rome and Tokio within 24 hours of its delivery. Throughout the month of June it was the subject of Axis counter-propaganda in hundreds of broadcasts in every conceivable language.

ATTACK "AIMS" SPEECH

Mr. Hull's broadcast of July 23 on our war aims was the subject of Axis attack beginning five hours after he made it, suggesting that Nazi technique henceforth was to try to demolish Allied pronouncements on such a vital subject by getting in their rebuttal before millions and even heard the original utterance. Mr. Hull's speech, for example, was delivered at 9 a.m., European time, so that few in Europe heard the direct broadcast or the broadcasts that were short-waved simultaneously. All the next day American and British transmitters bombarded the continent with long extracts from it, but Berlin got busy at 9 a.m. with its broadcasts distorting and ridiculing the secretary of State's blueprint for peace.

A careful checkup showed that the Axis used nearly every short-wave, medium-wave and long-wave transmitter under its control to refute Mr. Hull in hundreds of broadcasts that blanketed the world. Berlin even beamed special broadcasts on this occasion to Syria, Madagascar, the Belgian Congo, Ireland, besides its regular broadcasts which cover almost every other country in the world. Tokyo enlisted even the help of radio stations in Japan and Hsinking to attack Mr. Hull.

Axis counter-propaganda to the enunciation of United States war aims, while undoubtedly reaching a large audience due to technical proficiency, especially in radio, has shown little originality in its content. For the most part it reiterates an old Nazi line that Roosevelt, not Hitler, is out to conquer the world and that the war aims of the United Nations have really been stolen from the Axis and are therefore "insincere" and "hypocritical".

INCIDENTAL INTELLIGENCE FROM PROPAGANDA FRONT

The plodding German people who have been told annually for three years that "this is the year of decision in the war," were spared predictions as the war entered its fourth year. Said Gen. Ritter von Xylander in a home-broadcast: "Our enemies are not defeated. . . . Heavy fighting still awaits the Wehrmacht. This will await the German people. Steel-like hardness is needed to endure them."

Exaggerated claims of losses to Allied shipping have been the basis of one of the most successful of the Axis propaganda campaigns. Goebbels "Tribune" monthly total of ships sunk by adding on the last day of the month as many as are needed to boost the final figure for the month. On July 31, he announced the day's total as 32 enemy ships sunk. On August 31, the German figure was 31 for the day.

Vichy's propagandists continue to intensify their attack on the United States. . . . Discouragement over war prospects was very noticeable in Vichy broadcasts to the home population on the third anniversary of the war. . . . Goebbels has changed the anniversary date of the beginning of the war from September 1 to 3. The war which Hitler started on September 1, 1939, against Poland, Goebbels contends, was not war but "only a limited punitive expedition."

Revolt Flares On Continent, Reports State

"the enemy," it said, presumably meaning the Russians.

Radio Berlin broadcast a Trans-Ocean News Agency report from Budapest that death sentences had been threatened for anyone in Hungary who sheltered enemy parachutists. The threat followed recent Soviet air force raids on Budapest.

DROP PARACHUTISTS

There were authoritative reports after that raid that parachutists had been dropped. Hungarian newspapers said yesterday that official investigation showed observers had mistaken parachute flares for paratroop landings.

Hundreds of Macedonian guerillas were co-operating with the underground movement of General Draga Mikhailovitch, patriot leader who has resisted the Axis invaders since the fall of Yugoslavia.

Axis reports claimed that several patriot bands leaders had been trapped after fierce skirmishes.

Mikhailovitch conferred last winter with underground leaders from Bulgaria and other Balkan countries on plans to arouse a Balkan revolt. Only last week, it was disclosed that he had contracted an underground pact with guerilla leaders in Poland, Greece, Bulgaria and Rumania to sabotage the Axis war effort in those countries while his Chetnix patriots carried on in Yugoslavia.

AIM OF AGREEMENT

The aim of the five-country "guerilla agreement," it was said, was to so embarrass the German war effort that eventually an occupation army of 1,500,000 regular occupation soldiers would be needed.

It was known that guerilla activity in, Bulgaria, Rumania and Greece had increased immeasurably in the last few weeks. It always had been on a large scale in Yugoslavia, where Mikhailovitch even managed to send an air force against Axis troops.

The biggest problem for the patriots is supply. It was known that Russian planes recently dropped arms and ammunition to guerillas in Greece, Rumania and Bulgaria and for a time supplied the Yugoslavs.

Skolpje, on the main railway line from Athens to Belgrade, was understood to be the chief center of patriot resistance. From there the underground leaders organized raiding parties which attacked communications vital to the Axis. Traffic recently was suspended on several rail lines because of sabotage.

Reports reaching diplomatic quarters in Turkey from Bulgaria said German authorities were sending Gestapo agents to supervise war factories and communications after a wave of sabotage there.

Within the last fortnight, these reports said, saboteurs have wrecked the Phillippopolis telephone exchange and derailed a Germsn military train near Popovo.

The patriots were said in the Turkish reports to have infiltrated even into the Bulgarian regular army. Several regiments were reported dissolved under German pressure because they allegedly harbored Russian sympathizers.

It was known that some Bulgar officers were arrested and others fled.

Man, Wife Killed, Son is Injured in Triple Shooting

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., Sept. 14 —(CP)—Police last night were investigating a triple shooting Saturday in which Lorne Robinson, 64, of Collingwood township and his wife, Mrs. Mary Robinson, 63, were killed and their 27-year-old son Allen was critically injured. No reason for the shooting has been advanced.

A neighbor came upon the bodies Saturday night. Mr. Robinson was sitting in a chair in the kitchen at their home near Revena, Ont. The mother and son lay about 25 yards from the house, a 22 repeating rifle lying beside them.

best of all the illustrations of the tragic of demonstrated defeat—the French. These accepted the consequences of being outnumbered, outpowered and weakened to the point where the only alternative is annihilation. They threw in the towel.

The first adversary who departed from the rules was Great Britain. In September, 1940, Hitler's blitz was laying British cities in waste one by one, night by night. The climax was reached exactly two years ago, on September 15, with 24 hours of unbroken bombing. The Nazis were told us confidently in Berlin that the British army had no reserves whatever left were nearer right than they knew. But they were wrong in the claim that the British were beaten.

And they promised correspondents much more than half-seriously to fly them over to the German victory parade in London. But then the thing happened that mystified and enraged Hitler—the British wouldn't admit that they were licked. By Hitler's reasoning, that was unfair. The British of all people, weren't playing the game.

Then the same thing happened in Russia. Hitler once again ran up against the fanatical savage determination not to admit defeat. As often, and as believingly, as Hitler and his propagandists claimed the final annihilation of the Russian fighting power, just as often did it arise, like a Phoenix, on another front until, as the German soldiers bravely wrote home, "If the Russian army has been annihilated, we must be fighting ghosts out here!

TEST WILL COME

What is of vital importance will be to see how the Nazis face the same situation. The test will come, inexorably. It will come when the overpowering might of a united and coldly ruthless enemy has forced Hitler and his clique and his armies on to the defensive, into a corner, into a Stalingrad. With many of their own cities ruined, with factories, dams, canals and harbors destroyed, with 40 per cent of their food-producing land and as much as 60 to 75 per cent of their mineral wealth fallen to the enemy, bereft at last of the psychological advantage that the attacker always has—how will they act?

Courageous as they are (and it would be foolish to underestimate them), the German, faced by a foe as determined to grind them into the ground as they were to grind the Britons and the Russians, must show whether they can fight according to the other man's book of rules. The Germans must show whether National Socialism has given them the courage that it takes when the going gets not only tough but almost hopeless.

It cannot go on much longer that way at Stalingrad. The blood lust alone or this savage fortnight may exhaust the defenders. If it does, it is fairly safe to say that Stalingrad may go down in history as far more important than Brussels or Paris or any of the other Nazi victories. Stalingrad is one of those intangibles, one of those imponderables called symbols, that also figure in the book of rules.

chance of recovery by doctors, has been unable to tell what caused the tragedy.

R.A.F. Launches Night Attacks On Nazi Trains

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(CP)—The R.A.F. disclosed something new and destructive yesterday in its offensive against Hitler—squadrons of night-prowling train wreckers whose "engine shooting sorties have put a big crimp in German internal transportation."

The first night these cannon-packing Hurricanes were out on their specific mission 23 trains were attacked, the air ministry reported. Some of the locomotives were blown sky high and long strings of cars laden with inflammable war materials were destroyed. The next night all mail traffic on the German Nord system appeared halted.

DISRUPT SYSTEM

The aerial train wrecking expeditions are in addition to the regular bombardment of German and German-controlled transportation systems and the two combined were declared to have caused tremendous disorganization of Germany's facilities.

An attack by the top-scoring Hurricane squadron of the R. A. F.'s famed one-armed flight leader, J. A. F. MacLachlan, last April sparked the idea for the night attacks on railroad trains.

Himself flying alone up the Seine from Rouen, MacLachlan dived to 200 feet to attack two freight trains. Both locomotives blew up in clouds of steam.

From this starter, the air ministry said, the attacks have grown until "the strain on Hitler's supply system has become increasingly acute."

the word to go ahead on the second front offensive, there is little or nothing for the rest of us to say."

Mrs. Casselman declared the authorities appeared "well satisfied with the results of the Dieppe raid and consider it a feeler, or a rehearsal for bigger things to come."

GREATER EFFORT

Ottawa, the government is mobilizing its own and the nation's resources to peak capacity. "They are really swinging into it with even greater zest than before and are becoming better organized all the time."

Asked regarding the selective service activities, she said that the effects of the system now were beginning to be felt. She pointed out that there are tremendous problems to be faced.

"Non-essential industries will have to go," she said. Men and women being let out of essential industries on account of being overage for the armed services, or the essential industries, constitute a real problem that will have to be tackled. Of course, if they can be used in the non-essential industries matters will be facilitated."

Mrs. Casselman declared that there was no information or estimate as to the probable length of the war. She said there were many estimates, but of course, no one knew, could anyone give an accurate statement on the subject.

NOTHING TO ADD

She said there was nothing to add to what had been said already in the matter of service in Canada and its territorial waters and for overseas.

She plans to attend the annual meeting of the 20th Century club on Monday night and on Thursday will be the guest of the Rotary club at luncheon.

Military and other works here will be inspected.

She will remain here until parliament reconvenes, probably next January, unless some crisis arises that demands members' presence in Ottawa.

The session as a whole, she said, was interesting and all questions had been threshed out fully. She left Ottawa Friday night.

Calgary Woman is Robbed by Lad, 13

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 14.—(CP)—Mrs. Emma Davis, 73, of Calgary, yesterday told police she was knocked down by a 13-year-old lad she had befriended, and robbed of $200 and jewelry in a downtown lane. Mrs. Davis said she met the boy while searching for hotel accommodation, and that he pushed and tripped her in a laneway, snatched her purse, and ran off.

Consumers Are Urged to Stop Pork Purchases

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(CP)—J. G. Taggart, chairman of the Bacon Board, and foods administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, appealed last night to consumers throughout Canada to refrain from buying fresh pork, bacon or ham during the next seven weeks.

Purpose of the appeal — issued through the Wartime Prices and Trade Board — is to enable the Bacon Board to maintain satisfactory weekly shipments of bacon to Britain so as to assure the continuance of the British bacon ration at the present level.

(The bacon ration in Britain is four ounces per person a week.)

MAINTAIN SHIPMENTS

With the co-operation of Canadian consumers during the next few weeks, until about Nov. 1, shipments of bacon to Britain can be maintained, Mr. Taggart said. It is expected that additional hogs will be marketed early in November.

The bacon board is reducing the quantity of pork in bacon that may be sold in the domestic market to 50 per cent of the normal weekly sales in 1940.

Consumers in Canada, Mr. Taggart said, can control the volume of hogs slaughtered on farms or by butchers for sale on city markets or in small shops in villages, town and cities. If the consumer refrains from buying pork for the next seven weeks, many more hogs will be marketed through the plants producting export bacon.

The present bacon agreement with Britain calls for not less than 600,000,000 pounds of bacon and pork, or average weekly shipments of approximately 11,500,000 pounds. Up until a few weeks ago, Mr. Taggart said, weekly shipments had been maintained at a satisfactory level. During the past four or five weeks, however, there has been a sharp decline in the shipments to Britain which Canada has agreed to make.

SEA ASSAULT

Red Commandos Attack in North

MOSCOW, Sept. 14.—(CP)—A commando-style, seaborne assault behind the enemy's far northern line was reported yesterday from the Barents Sea by the Russian navy newspaper Red Fleet, which credited Red marines with destroying 11 heavy guns, several mortars, two ammunition dumps and one food depot.

Suggesting that the Barents coastal operation was more than a minor hit-and-run attack, Red Fleet said the assault was continuing. Admiral Nikolai Kuznetsov, Russian navy commissar, sent congratulations to the units involved.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Moscow to London said the attackers also were credited with capture of 200 prisoners as well as enemy trenches

FINLAND POSITIONS

The operation seems to have been directed against German positions in Finland or the nearly northeastern extremity of Norway.

It assumes additional significance against the background of what the Germans have spictured as a great continuing air battle for position in that section along the Barents Sea, part of the Arctic Ocean.

Although neither side has interpreted the situation in the Far North, the jockeying for position suggested the possibility that the area might soon become a major theatre of action before winter forbids big operations.

The far northern reaches of Norway and Finland, as well as the adjacent Kola Bay and Rybachi peninsula section of Russia, have figured in second-front speculation.

Norway is separated from the Rybachi-Kola area only by the narrow tip of northernmost Finland. There were reports last week that Russian guerillas had penetrated into northern Norway.

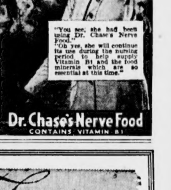

French Prisoners Arrive at Dieppe On Special Train

NEW YORK, Sept. 14—(AP)—With everything done to remind them of Hitler's "graciousness" in granting freedom, a special train crowded with French war prisoners from Dieppe and its vicinity arrived in Normany Saturday, a reward to the citizens of that region for behaving themselves during the Canadian-led raid on Dieppe last month.

But with all the ceremony calculated to stress the good-conduct reward angle, the fact remained that the BBC during the raid constantly told the Dieppe people to remain in their homes and take no part in the fighting for fear of reprisals.

The Berlin radio broadcast that the prisoners, released from German prison camps upon Hitler's special orders, were given an official reception at a station between Rouen and Dieppe.

Spread the Traffic

During the first eight months of the year the city's street railway system handled 21.5 per cent more traffic than during the corresponding period last year. But in August the passenger increase was 36.8 per cent. There was some wet weather in August, but allowing for this the point is obvious that the rate of increase over last year's figures is itself increasing. The congestion already serious at rush hours can only become a blockade on a stormy winter day unless something is done meantime to spread out the busy periods.

Officially or by widespread individual action, Edmonton will have to do some travel rationing on its own account. We just can't all ride at the same time, nor even all those who have to travel at stated hours to and from work.

"Wild West" France

At Nantes four gunmen invaded a court room, shot the presiding magistrate, wounded two court attendants, and made off with a prisoner who was being tried on a charge of "terrorism".

Nantes is in the occupied zone of France. "Terrorism" is the mis-used term applied to French patriots who attack Nazi soldiers, commit sabotage, or defy the edicts of Stuelpnagel. These facts give the virtue of heroism to what would otherwise be an act of outlawry.

Likely enough the man rescued was slated to be shot or sent to a concentration camp for something no more serious than eating a few bites more food than the gauleiter prescribes as ration for a Frenchman. The rescuers of course knew they could expect no mercy if captured.

Their action was exceptional in kind only, but typical of the rising tide of revolt. It indicates the desperation to which tyranny is driving the people of the occupied region, and suggests the readiness with which multitudes there will rally against their oppressors when the arrival of a strong Allied invading force makes it possible and useful for them to do so.

They Speak For Themselves

Mr. Churchill told the House of Commons at London, quite correctly, that the Congress party represents neither the people of India nor even the Hindu masses. It does represent the impossible idealism of Gandhi and the far from idealistic ambitions of the self-appointed group of subleaders who have attached themselves to him.

It is notable however that even his curious assortment of lieutenants accepted Sir Stafford Cripps' proposal, and turned against it only when the Mahatma called for a campaign of civil disobedience. How little they and their followers share the Gandhi spirit was shown when they promptly turned his campaign of non-violence into a race war, so far as their talents and influence enabled them to do so.

That they accomplished no more than stirring up bloody riots in a half-dozen centres—and getting themselves locked up without a Hindu revolt following—is the measure of the claim of these lieutenants to represent the Hindu masses or the multitude of tribes which make up the population of the great peninsula.

That the troubles have ended with the jailing of the Congress leaders is not probable; it is easier to start racial strife than it is to stop it. But what has been clearly demonstrated is that the party is not competent to speak for India, nor even for the majority race.

Between Two Fires

Frankfurt and Duesseldorf were hammered again last week by Allied bombers based in Britain, while industrial and railway centres in east Germany were pounded by the Red airmen.

These raids from both sides of the Reich have developed into a set pattern. They alternate when the weather in one area is unfavorable, and go on concurrently when clear skies make flying conditions good in both.

This of course does not just "happen." The operations are quite obviously part of a general plan to put Germany between the jaws of aerial "pincers." The western and eastern air commands are joining to give Herr Hitler a demonstration of what his favorite "scissors" manoeuvre looks like from the standpoint of the victim.

Since the raiders from either side are going over with clocklike regularity and in growing numbers it is to be inferred that the supply of machines and fuel on either front is sufficient. That the dualstaffing will be kept up is to be supposed, and that it will become more intense is probable.

Berlin of course continues to cheer up its radio audiences with assurances that the damage is confined to the wrecking of some "houses." But there must be a rapidly increasing number of Germans who know that Dr. Goebbels is using the term in the widest sense, to include "houses" devoted to the production of munitions of all sorts and to the management and operation of the railway systems.

It is not for nothing that the gauleiters are threatening, penalizing and kidnaping all over the occupied countries in order to get men into Germany for forced labor. They are needed to clear away the wreckage and repair damages to the war industries. Germany's production plants are being blown to pieces faster than they can be rebuilt. Photographic evidence or Berlin admissions are hardly needed to make that plain.

An official of the Fighting French has been in Ottawa, possibly urging "recognition" of General de Gaulle. Canada is the only Empire country still maintaining diplomatic relations with Vichy, relations which in the circumstances are more "diplomatic" than real. The Dominion is only doing so because London thought it advisable to keep this channel of official communication open. If the British authorities think it is no longer worth while to preserve the formality, the Canadian public will suffer no regrets at the severance of the rather meaningless official connection.

Canada, one of the world's great timber-producing countries, is experiencing a scarcity of lumber "the gravest" in its history. A variety of causes have contributed to bring about the condition, and official steps are being taken to enliven logging operations. If they succeed building materials will become again available for house-construction, a matter of urgent civilian importance, besides an increase in the timber supply needed directly and indirectly in the war program. A bad feature is the announcement that prices of some classes of lumber will have to move upward.

Work Keeps You Sane

Stay Busy and Avoid the Mental Strain Brought By War.

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

A correspondent, writing to The Bulletin, takes issue with what I had to say a few days ago about war marriages.

As I remember it, I offered the opinion that sometimes a man who is married is more likely to maintain his stability in the stress of wartime than a man who has no family ties. This correspondent apparently jumped to the conclusion that I was impugning the morals of unmarried men in the services and so he wrote a letter in their defence.

My argument had little, if anything, to do with morals. It is sufficient for our purpose to assume that our boys, married and unmarried, behave with average decency under any circumstances. That is to say, I have no specific information that leads me to believe that wartime morality is greatly different from peacetime morality.

My meaning was, perhaps, more finely drawn that that. What I intended to convey by my remark about marriage giving a man stability is that the man with family ties is much more likely to maintain a wholesome and balanced habit of thought than the man who finds himself adrift in a strange new world of violence.

And that, of course, applies with even greater force to women.

War Madness

It is useless to deny that there is such a thing as war madness. We saw it pitifully often during the last war and after the last war. It is characterized by giddiness and irresponsibility and selfishness and growing unbelief. The victim subscribed with pathological eagerness to the old axiom, "Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we die."

Queerly, enough, it was not so much the men on active service who succumbed to this spiritual ailment as the young men who stayed at home. They achieved a sickly and fevered sophistication. They were restless, hysterical, bitter and agnostic in all their views.

Physicians tried to treat this state—when they got the chance—as a nervous disorder. It was nothing of the kind. It was purely mental. It was a form of escape from realities of violence and change which the victims were unwilling or unable to face.

The individual who fell into this mental abyss was obsessed by the apparent instability of the world. Consequently, he or she felt lost and bewildered and conscious of remoteness from those things which had always been an anchor in life.

That is what I meant by saying that the married man who goes into the services frequently has more stability than the unmarried. There is nothing like a family for keeping one's feet upon the ground.

Loneliness

War madness, of course, is only an obsession of loneliness.

Women can avoid it by hard work and unselfish service to others.

That is why, even if there is no important work for women to do in wartime, it would be necessary to invent war work for women. Indeed it would be necessary to invent war work for women.

The knitting of socks and field comforts, the rolling of Red Cross bandages, the labors to raise money for worthy charities, the food and and one jobs that women do so well in wartime, all these are of great importance. But they have the additional value of maintaining the worker's sanity and mental balance.

You can't feel lost or alone or bewildered when you are up to the ears in some useful job.

The war is to be won, I believe, just as much on a state of mind as on material effort. Wholesome thinking is essential to victory.

Keep wholly busy and you will not only preserve your own mental well-being, but add materially to the war effort as well.

Use of Honey

I have a letter from a housewife who complains of ill-luck in using honey in cookery. She says the even prettiest mark of honey, in place of sugar, are tough and heavy.

The secret of using honey successfully in cookery, as many women are finding out, is to let the cake or cookies stand for some time before using it.

A chemical and physical change takes place in articles cooked with honey as time goes by. The honey gradually crystallizes and the toughness disappears.

If you have honey in cookery, figure on letting the baked article stand at least three weeks before you attempt to use it.

In three weeks the honey in the cake or cookies changes to sugar in fact, but the sweetness and toughness will be gone.

Affairs of C.B.C. Still in Sad Tangle

Committee, Board and Cabinet Are at Variance in Changes.

By GRANT DEXTER

OTTAWA—Nearly a month ago the board of governors of the C.B.C. announced recommendations to the government. These recommendations were the result of the report of the House of Commons radio committee which found in favor of a complete reorganization of the C.B.C. management.

The government has not yet acted upon these recommendations and it is common gossip that they have been referred back to the board, being unacceptable to the cabinet

Except in one respect, the reasons why the cabinet has disagreed with the board of governors are not clear. It is known that the cabinet is opposed to the large increase in salaries which the board proposes to pay collectively to the senior officers of the C.B.C. Under the existing management, the general manager is paid $12,000 per year plus an allowance of $3,000. The assistant general manager is paid $12,000 plus an allowance of $2,000 and the total thus paid is $30,000.

The board of governors recommended that the general manager be paid $15,000; the assistant general manager $12,000 plus $2,000 allowance; and the director general of programs $12,000 plus $2,000. The director general was designated as Gladstone Murray, hitherto the general manager. He was found, by the committee, to be unfitted for the post of general manager.

Three Top Officials

The proposed re-organization would create three top officials instead of two and would swell the salary total from $30,000 to $43,000 per year. The cabinet, as it now stood, declined to sanction this increase and referred the recommendations back to the board of governors for re-consideration on this point.

There may, as well, be other points of conflict between the government and the board. While there is no official information to go on, the spate of news stories appearing in eastern newspapers since the recommendation of the board of governors was announced would indicate a number of points of conflict.

The committee recommendations stressed the need for simplification of the C.B.C. management and condemned the existing arrangement under which executive control is divided between the general manager and the assistant. The committee found that the general manager should be the chief executive, responsible for all the affairs of the corporation. Yet the recommendations would supplant dual control with a flat type of structure, adding to the confusion. Moreover, the statute provides that the board of governors cannot appoint officials with salaries exceeding $10,000 per year which means that the government by order-in-council would have to appoint all three of the top men. Officials directly appointed by order-in-council are not completely responsible to the Board of Governors, so this departure inevitably would involve a greater degree of political control. In this regard, however, it is plain that the government has not been seeking greater power over the C.B.C. The recommendation originated with the Board of Governors.

British System

A persistent attempt has been made, through newspaper publicity, to show that the Board of Governors is proposing to adopt the British system, under which the Director General of programs is responsible to the General Manager but to the Board of Governors. There is no official warrant for this interpretation but the persistence of the campaign indicates either that there is such an intention on the part of the Board or that prominent C.B.C. officials desire such a set-up.

If this story is true, the result would be a further and very marked departure from the recommendations of the committee and from the declarations of the Board of Governors. The Board in March 1941 stripped the General Manager of control over finance, except for a small unallocated budget of about $50,000 per year. But if Mr. Murray is Director General of Programs, is to be independent of the General Manager, he would have in his control the program budget of $500,000 per year.

The confusion in this regard is made greater by the statement of Dr. J. H. Thompson, the General Manager designate, in which he plainly proposed to control the Director General of Programs.

Stately Homes of England

Old Country Organization Aims to Preserve the Ancient Landmarks.

FROM THE OBSERVER, LONDON

War, destroyer of serene and lovely things, stimulates the will to keep them. The National Trust, at its meeting tomorrow, can happily report very considerable progress. It is now, on the common behalf, a very large landowner and householder, too.

The "stately homes of England" are being saved both as homes, which they ought to be, and as public assets, whose beauty of stone and park is publicly enjoyed. This is due to the Country Houses scheme, which the late Lord Lothian helped to evolve as a form of private tenancy coupled with public enjoyment. It is admirably backed his own counsel by his gift of Blicking Hall.

Last year Sir Charles Trevelyan added the historic Wallington with 13,000 acres. Bequests of land and houses for the common pleasure splendidly increase because of the knowledge that the National Trust can handle properties efficiently. It is a curious and on the whole successful British habit to promote public activities through private corporations. Shy of nationalization in the old sense, we achieve our changes in other ways. The National Trust is one of these private enterprises of public utility. The trouble is that it lacks public financial backing and must rely upon gifts and donations. It is good news, however, that endowment funds handed over for the upkeep of settled estates will be exempt from death duties.

The Trust began mainly as a guarantor of common access to wild and lovely country. It becomes increasingly responsible for the whole heritage of history and for the buildings in which men of genius have perfectly mixed their labor with the natural qualities of site and scene.

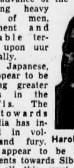

Saturday Night Radio Review

A Summary of a Broadcast Delivered Over CFRN September 12.

By HAROLD L. WEIR

The Russian news, on the whole, is not good. While isolated bright spots appear in the fighting, and while the gallant defence of the Soviet forces is a continuing epic of courage and determination, we must face the fact that steamroller advance of the Germans is inflicting a heavy losses of men, equipment and valuable territory upon our great ally.

The Japanese, too, appear to be enjoying greater success in the Pacific. The move towards Australia has increased in volume and fury.

Harold L. Weir

There appear to be threatening movements towards Siberia.

Now all this must make us thoughtful and serious. It must increase our energy and our determination. But it need not discourage us.

It is true, as I have said before, that the Axis seizure of the oil sources in the Caucasus might enable Hitler to carry on the war for ten, twenty or thirty years.

Most Desperate

But only the foolish expected a short war. We have got to make up our minds to it that we are engaged in the bitterest and most desperate struggle in our history, possibly in the history of all the world. In all parts of the earth, we are literally fighting for our lives.

But, facing these isolated defeats, there is this to be remembered. And I have said this before, too. We must bear in mind that the struggle has broadened out to such gigantic dimensions that no single defeat, or victory, even falling within the major category, can be decisive. The war will not be lost or won upon any single battlefield. Thus, the reverses in Russia and in the Pacific can in no sense be interpreted as final. Great as they are, they are still so comparatively insignificant, in relation to the entire picture, that they cannot even be taken as indicating a trend in the war.

We are having bad news. It is only a phase, just as any severe illness is only a phase in a man's whole lifetime.

Great Magnitude

It is difficult to understand these things because the magnitude of the war baffles the human understanding.

It is, perhaps, the same lack of understanding of the needs of the war that makes our Canadian propaganda so pitifully weak, as was exemplified in the case that stirred up a tepid tempest in Toronto this week.

It seems that a motion picture films reel dealing with the raid on Dieppe was shown in Toronto theatres and aroused the ire of good patriots there because, being edited in New York, it exaggerated the part played in that expedition by American troops and minimized the part played by Canadians.

It is natural, I think, that the American news reels should thus laud American exploits. They are made for American consumption and calculated to sustain American borale.

But what is the matter with our public information officials that the same bit of careful editing is not done in Canada for Canadians? It seems to indicate a deplorable laxity in our propaganda department that we should have to be content with patriotic medicine prescribed for somebody else.

Our propaganda people seem to have plenty of money and time to turn out flag-waving effusions, on the screen and in pamphlet form, that are as obsolete as the bow and arrow—and as effective.

But when it comes to a matter like the picturization of the Dieppe raid, which would not only inform our public, but stir their deepest patriotic emotions, these publicity experts are simply not there.

Propaganda, the psychological war, is a tremendous factor in this struggle. We do not appear to have begun to understand it—or to use it.

We Fight Too

Prime Minister Churchill again was bitterly assailed this week in the British House of Commons. This time he was the target for the fiery wrath of a radical who accused the Prime Minister of "lacking the guts" to open a second front and assist Russia.

There are two things to be said about this incident.

The first is that the invasion of Europe can't be a sudden haphazard expedition. It requires tremendous preparation and perfect timing.

Surely Dunkerque taught us that once the British expeditionary forces in continental Europe in full strength, it must either win or die. It will either crush Germany or face utter destruction. We can't take on a job like that at the moment deemed most desirable by all the hare-brained radicals in Parliament.

The second thing that needs saying about this incident is that many people are getting heartily sick of the assumption that only Russia is doing anything in this war and that all strategy must be turned towards the aid of Russia.

There are a number of queer people in this country and in Britain, too, who were very lukewarm about the war until Russia got into it. They did not become patriots until Moscow gave its approval.

Brilliant Effort

Now common sense shows that we have got to have complete cooperation among the Allies. Failure to support the gallant Russian resistance would be suicidal. And no one in his right mind is going to deny Russia full credit for an astonishingly courageous and brilliant effort in the war. Russia has surprised and inspired the civilized world.

But let's not get an obsession about it. Let's not forget that our men are fighting major battles in Africa, in the air above Europe and in every sea in the world. Let's not forget that it is our forces, training diligently in England, which are expected to deliver the final blow to Germany and bring the war to a close.

We are not fighting this war for the benefit of Russia, but for the benefit of civilization.

Mr. Churchill knows that very well. He has discussed it fully in Moscow. The only people who don't know it are those dreamy fanatics in democratic countries who are obviously more communistic than Josef Stalin himself.

They are becoming a nuisance.

Not Enough Yet

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in a glowing speech this week, reviewed the first three years of the war and told Canadians they should take a "legitimate prids" in their war effort.

What Mr. King neglected to say was this:

That splendid as Canada's effort has been, it is only about ten percent, or less, of what our effort must be to win.

We are up against two savage nations that have forgotten everything else in their determination to destroy us. They are prepared to starve, freeze, endure all pain and die in order that every last one of us may be killed and our institutions permanently crushed.

We can only meet this ferocious determination and this totality of sacrifice in one way. We can only meet it with a similar determination and a similar totality of sacrifice.

How far, how very far we are from that state of mind!

The most elementary factor in total war is still being neglected. We are still wrestling with the undemocratic voluntary system of enlistments, the best of our young men still almost carrying the burden, while the scrubs and the selfish and the cowards skulk at home.

Equality

How can we have totality of sacrifice without equality of sacrifice? How can we talk about our magnificent war effort when the war, for many of us, is still a remote and unpleasant game?

To win this war, we have got to be filled and steeled with spirit. We have got to see the point and purpose of it. We have got to picture in our minds the beauty and opportunity and Christian righteousness of the world we are trying to build.

Civilization languishes. It languished for twenty desolate years under our own greed and vanity and indifference. It languishes, now, under the menace of an implacable enemy.

It is our hope — our only hope —that there will be kindled in this war a spirit equal to conquering it. That is the hope of the world. It is the hope of humanity.

Somewhere there is the store of sacrifice and the flint of determination must be struck a spark which is capable of illuminating the world.

DYNAMITED SECRETS

An eminent New York geologist believes that the secrets hidden beneath the waters of the sea can be exposed by dynamiting, and blowing deep sea life and vegetation to the surface.

A World at War demands TOTAL WAR EFFORT

"Total War Effort" is the goal towards which the mounting activities of all Canadians are steadily directed and an efficient, experienced banking service is keeping in step—financing war contracts—handling payrolls

—providing banking facilities of every description to industry, to agriculture, to the Armed Forces, to Government and to business in general.

Banking service also plays an important part in war financing through the sale and distribution of Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates and in the operation of Exchange Control and various other Regulations and Restrictions now in effect.

At the branch of this Bank most convenient to you services are provided which cover all banking needs.

Wheat Trading Is Light at 'Peg

WINNIPEG, Sept. 14—(CP)—Wheat trading was relatively light on the Winnipeg grain exchange today and interest was centred in the coarse grain section where rye gained almost three cents. The October wheat future was unchanged at 90 cents a bushel.

Local mills took probably more than 300,000 bushels of wheat in connection with domestic flour sales.

cash wheat trade was small and was made up of a few purchases of No. 2 Northern by shippers. Spreads were generally unchanged.

In the coarse grain pit, there was considerable activity in rye and prices gained almost three cents at top levels, with southern buyers and shippers taking about 200,000 bushels out of the pit. Buying by the former was apparently in connection with inter-market spreading.

Shippers offered support in barley and there was a little mill and shipper buying in oats. Prices of both were up slightly.

Country marketings Saturday totalled 1,906,000 bushels compared with 1,183,000 bushels a year ago. Grain inspections at Winnipeg, Saturday amounted to 243 cars as against 702 cars a year ago.

New Cattle Price Policy Hits Snag

By GRANT DEXTER

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—Events are rapidly showing that the new cattle price policy announced by the Wartime Prices nad Trade Board, with the approval of the government, is not acceptable to the farming community and the Dominion department of agriculture.

In the announcement of Sept. 4, when the policy of June was reversed and the domestic ceiling was imposed on cattle (from June until September the board through a subsidiary had been paying U. S. prices and accepting the loss) it was stated that the representatives of the cattle producers had approved the new policy. It now appears that this statement was optimistic. Protests are coming in from many organizations and, still more significant, the department of agriculture was not a consenting party. At the time the decision was made and approved by cabinet, several ministers, including Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, were away.

Prospects are that the policy will be reconsidered by the government and that an increase in price will be granted. The increase might not equal the premium received by cattlemen from June to September 4, when the Wartime Food Corporation bought at U. S. price levels and absorbed the difference between these levels and the domestic ceiling. But it might run to half or one cent per pound.

Wheat, Rye Hit New High Marks

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—(CP)—Wheat and rye prices touched highs not reached since mid-July showing gains of 2 and more than 3 cents respectively, as buying expanded in the grain market today.

Washington reports indicating anti-inflation legislation may authorize the president to limit farm prices to parity or highest levels reached this year and may provide a definite floor stimulated buying of cereals.

Profit-taking reduced the gains. Wheat closed ¾-1¼ cents higher, oats ⅛-⅝ up, rye 2½-2¾ higher.

Machine Guns Set Up in Vichy as Test Manoeuvre

VICHY, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Troops and police set up and manned machine-guns at strategic places throughout the city Saturday in what authorities called a practice manoeuvre.

The first guns appeared at dawn and up to 10:30 a.m. soldiers guarded the post office and bridges and watched roads leading into Marshal Petain's capital city.

The population for a time speculated on whether a serious internal event was expected but authorities said it was practice to test a plan of operations against any possible disorders which might be directed against the government or town.

The machine-guns were put in place at the post-office, which also houses the telephone exchange, the railway station and bridges and roads leading into the city.

Strato-Planes Used by Nazis To Attack U.K.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(CP)—German sub-stratosphere bombers, equipped with supercharged Diesel motors, have made several daylight attacks on Great Britain recently, it was announced yesterday.

The first such bombings of Britain were made from altitudes of nearly 40,000 feet by modified Junkers 86-P's fitted with experimental pressure cabins.

THIRD NEW WEAPON

This type of plane is the third new weapon in the German air arsenal for daylight forays against strongly defended British ports and cities.

The others are the four-motored Heinkel 177 which carries eight tons of bombs—equalling the capacity of Britain's biggest machines—and the bomb-carrying Focke-Wulf 190's, the special function of which is to speed over coastal targets at low altitudes and get away fast before the speedy British Spitfires can reach them. The FW-190's are primarily fighters.

Some British aeronautics critics began expressing doubt whether bombing Germany is likely to prove a decisive factor in the war.

The Sunday Observer's air correspondent suggested yesterday that "the fascinating pronunciamentos of the air ministry may be intended more to frighten the enemy than as a true indication of our policy."

DESTROY LUFTWAFFE

He said the Allies must destroy the German air force and added, "to do that we must bring the enemy air force to battle. Sweeps do not do this, but combined operation can, and does, as the Dieppe raid showed."

Several Fined in City Police Court

Alex Chartier, road project subcontractor, was sentenced to 10 days in jail, when he was found guilty in city police court Monday or driving a car while under the influence of liquor.

Chartier was involved in a slight accident on 98 street that resulted in his arrest on the charge.

Edward Longmore and Josephine Patterson were fined $40 and $30 respectively, on charges of intoxication. Both were previous offenders on similar charges.

Four other drunks were each fined $20 and costs.

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(BUP)—Deacon Bill McKechnie, the bespectacled and usually benign manager of the Cincinnati Reds, exploded angrily when informed what Dodger President Larry MacPhail has said about him.

It was a downright shame that this information had to be related to McKechnie, who was smiling contentedly as he laced a shoe in the dressing room deep under the Ebbets Field stands—just after his Reds had beaten the Dodgers twice, knocking them out of the National League lead.

But the mills of journalism grind relentlessly, so a reporter said to McKechnie, "Boy, oh boy, Did Mac-Phail just put the blast on you in the clubroom. He said you are playing favorites, doing everything you can to beat the Dodgers so that the Cardinals will win the pennant. He said you deliberately pitched Johnny Vandermeer out of turn against the Dodgers on their last trip to Cincinnati, so you wouldn't have to use him against the Cards."

"WE PLAY TO WIN"

McKECHNIE reared up from his shoe-lacing with such a jerk that he almost dislodged his spectacles. It was the first time we ever saw him fighting mad.

He snarled, "Why—that red-faced so-and-so. He don't know what he's talking about. We have no pitching turns on this club. I pitch the man I think will win on any given day. There's no person connected with the Cincinnati club who can tell me when to use a pitcher, and so I'm certainly not taking any orders from MacPhail.

"Why—if I used turns in pitching, Ray Starr wouldn't have been in there today against the Dodgers. I sent him in with only two days' rest. He pitched a two-hitter against Boston on Thursday. I figured he could win today, so I sent him in. We play to win, against the Dodgers or any other club. MacPhail just can't take it."

WITH Deacon Willie spitting out words like an irate tomcat the reporters figured this was the moment to ask him for a solid pennant prediction. But shrewd William balefully evaded. He doesn't thumb the Dodgers out of the race, despite his wrath against their prexy.

"No one can tell about this race yet, McKechnie replied. The Cards' one-game lead doesn't mean the end for Brooklyn. Anything can happen in the remaining 12 games for each. I wish my club had the chance Brooklyn still has."

Meanwhile MacPhail was still holding forth in the clubroom. Despite his blast at Deacon Bill, Larry was not doleful over the Dodgers' five straight defeats, nor over the St. Louis lead.

LARRY STILL HOPEFUL

NO Sir, red-headed Larry was just as big cheerleader who consoled a weeping woman in the clubroom with lusty pats on the back. The lacrymose lady was manager Leo Durocher's wife.

MacPhail attempted to pep her up with: "Take it easy kid—take it easy. Dry up your tears, kid. There's nothing to cry about. We aint's licked yet. Not by a long shot."

During the second game, Larry had done his cheer-leading from the rear of the press coop. He grinned out at the fans behind the coop, turning his thumbs up and gesturing violently to stimulate enthusiasm. His efforts were only mildly successful. This particular wedge of Flatbushers, apparently no longer shared the flag faith which MacPhail professes.

Walk-Rites Play Old-Timers at Kingsway Tonight

The provincial champion girls softball team, the Walk-Rites, will play a mixed softball and baseball game this evening against the Old Timer girls commencing at 6:45 at Kingsway Park, providing the weather permits.

This will be the last appearance of the Walk-Rites before they start on the trip to Saskatchewan in search of the western Canada softball title. They offered to contribute the receipts of tonight's game to help defray expenses of the school attendants who are to participate at Athabasca next week-end in the provincial inter-scholastic track and field meet.

While the Walk-Rite battery will be chosen today the Old Timers will probably show Ramsay and Hunter in the baseball with Helm relieving in the softball.

The game will consist of four innings of softball and followed by four frames of girls' baseball rules.

Training Centre Has Sports Meet

RED DEER.—Men from the R.C.A.S.C. Training Centre here had a sports meet at the Exhibition grounds recently. About 800 were present and points were awarded for the various events and the team from No. 3 Company won the trophy which was presented to them by Lt.-Col. J. J. Burton-Williamson, V.D., the commandant.

Jack Staples, Y.M.C.A. supervisor, was in charge of the meet.

Alsab Out—Races Saturday

Whirly's Bankroll Gets $24,300 Boost

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 14.—(AP)—The year's "dream race" turned into a nightmare Saturday when Alsab refused to tangle with Whirlaway in the Narragansett Special—and he's probably lucky he didn't.

For Whirly ran one of his greatest races to come from far back, win the "big heat" going away, and get even for all the things they said about him when he lost this same rich stake a year ago.

With the $24,300 he won, he skyrocketed his gaudy all-time record bankroll to $491,136, just a pitch and putt away from his $500,000 goal.

And the way Whirly did it, coming from as far back as he never came before, it is doubtful if even Alsab could have matched the lightning he turned loose on the stretch. He was some 36 lengths out of it at one point, and it looked as if Jockey Georgie Woolf just couldn't get him out of a mild lope. Suddenly he turned it loose—and it was just a romp.

A lot was taken out of the race when owner Al Sabath, the Chicago lawyer who owns Alsab, withdrew his three-year-old a few hours before the race with the explanation that the colt's arrival Thursday was too late to permit him to carry out the scheduled training plans.

Warren Wright, owner of Whirly, agreed Saturday night to allow the colt to run in a match race with Alsab next Saturday.

Sports . . . . Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(AP)—If Col. Bob Neyland's eastern United States army all-star football outfit failed to show as much Saturday as Maj. Wallace Wade's western crew, maybe you can blame it on a coin. The two coaches flipped for choice players and when it came to fullbacks Neyland won and picked Noble Standlee over John Kimbrough, who has been practically the whole western team.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Frank B. Ward, Youngstown, (O.) Vindicator: "There are 24 members of the Baseball Writers' Association in the armed forces now—and probably all prepared to second-guess every major operation."

ODDS AND SOME ENDS

Mushky Jackson, who has been in the fight racket for 28 years, is retiring to work in the shipyards —and he says its patriotism, not dough, that inspired the move. . . . Mel Harwood, former National Hockey League referee, is lining up a coast guard hockey team to play in Baltimore. Art Coulter of the Rangers and Ty Anderson may be on the team. . . . Lou Nova, back in training on the west coast, has been offered a scrap with Turkey Thompson at Los Angeles but says he'd rather fight Bob Pastor or Billy Conn at the Garden.

Don McIntyre Doubles Home Green in Ninth

Tommy Brant threw a six-hitter at the Arrows down at Renfrew Park yesterday afternoon and shut them out 1-0 to give the Dodgers an even break in the senior baseball playoffs. Each club now has a pair of wins, one game being a tie and the series must at least go the full seven games now.

Although Brant kept Phil Horne's squad in check all through, it was not until the ninth that his team-mates were able to give the coup de grace, Don McIntyre's terrific drive to the left field fence sending in George Green with the payoff counter.

Up to the break in the final inning, pitching honors had been very evenly divided, neither Morris Hawkey nor the Dodger chucker yielding more than one safe bingle in any inning. In the first eight frames, Arrows had collected five hits all in different sessions and the Dodgers had only been able to touch Hawkey for four.

Only once had George Green's men been able to get as far as third and that was in the fifth canto when Dick Latiff opened up with a double and eventually reached third on a fielder's choice. Dick wasn't able to get any further in spite of the fact that Lucien Tougas, in slowly stealing second, tried to clear the way for a break for Latiff. On only two occasions were the Dodgers able to reach even second, for Hawkey was pitching just as good ball as Brant. Green died on the middle station after clouting out a double in the second and he sacrificed Jiff Robinson to second in the fourth after the latter had drawn the only walk Hawkey gave in the entire game.

Phil Horne was the only Arrow to reach third during the afternoon. He singled in the fourth, stole second and got to the corner sack on short's error in handling Hawkey's grounder.

A hit by Lupul and an error in the seventh also made it awkward for Brant, but he struck out Williams and Shandro to retire the side. Arrows also had a chance in the eighth and again in the ninth, but Tommy came through with a strikeout for the third out' each time.

A fast double Wynn to Green to Latiff for the first two outs in the last frame after Betts had singled spoiled the Arrows' final bid.

After Robinson had flied out to Betts in the first half of the ninth, George Green singled and then Don McIntyre's long ball rapped over Lupul's head and it hit the fence on the first bounce. It was a terrific wallop and Don only took two sacks on it, for the Arrow left fielder made a fast return and the Dodgers' big gardener wasn't taking any chances.

Lupul pulled off a remarkable catch in the 3rd which saved a certain run when Superstein drop ped one over short. Mac Colville had six putouts and covered his whole acre very thoroughly.

King Cops Four Classics

Jockey Says Sun Chariot Best Horse He Ever Rode

NEWMARKET, Eng., Sept. 14. — (CP) — A little fellow under an oversize jockey cap, his appearance belying his 33½ years, eased out of sweat-stained royal silks Saturday in a jockey's room after winning the coveted St. Leger and said:

"Sun Chariot is the best horse I have ever ridden."

That high praise from Gordon Richards, who has ridden the best for the Royal and other stables during a 20-year career, came a few minutes after Britain's horse of the year established a Royal record with an easy victory in the St. Leger—the last classic race of the season.

It was the third St. Leger crown for Richards who has won every classic except the Derby.

The little jockey took the King's Sun Chariot home in 3:08 1-5 for the three quarters, making her the first filly to win the race since 1827 and the a 9-4 second choice in the betting and won by three lengths from Lord Derby's Watling Street with Lord Rosebery's Hyperides third.

Sun Chariot established a royal record for classic winners by taking the 1,000 Guineas and the Oaks while His Majesty's Big Game took the 2,000 Guineas, bringing the King's total to four of the five classics.

The best previous performance by a British monarch's stable was the King's grandfather, Edward VII, won three classics, including the Derby in 1895 and again in 1900.

Moose Loose Second 11-2

No. 4 I.T.S. Takes Senior City Men's Softball Title

No. 4 I. T. S. scuttled the Moose 11-2 at Kingsway Park on Saturday night to capture the city senior men's softball championship in two straight games. They won the first 10-9 last Thursday.

Ray Hosshowsky went the route for the Airmen, setting the Moose down with only six hits. He had 10 strikeouts and issued only two walks.

Stan Devieq pitched the first three innings, and was nicked for six hits and a like number of runs. Pete Prokopy had one strikeout, gave four passes and allowed six hits for the rest of the game.

Gil Folka was top slugger with two for four, including a homer and a double.

TWO IN FIRST

I.T.S. got off to a two-run start in the opening canto. Steele led off with a single and Russ Grant doubled. Happy Holman flied out to right field scoring Steele and Gil Folka brought in Grant.

In the second Roy Whiskar walked, went to the next station on Drew Craig's ground ball, to third on Wright's walk and came in on Ken Lebbert's fly to left field.

The Airmen ran the count up three more in the third. Grant was safe on an error and Happy Holman and Gimpy Stulberg both tripled. Hosshowsky was safe on a fielder's choice and the Whiskar doubled.

Gordon Wright's hit on a pair of errors gave the I.T.S. two more in the fourth and a walk to Holman and Gil Folka's homer added another brace in the seventh.

A triple by Holman and Stulberg's out gave the winners another in the ninth.

SINGLETONS FOR MOOSE

Moose counted one in the fifth frame and the other in the eighth. Art. Dalmar's triple and a wild pitch brought in the initial counter.

A walk to Eddie Goyan, George Bercha's hit and a single by Pete Prokopy ahead of Bill Sasyn's drive netted only one in the eighth.

I.T.S., as a result of their win, became holders of the Motor Car Supply trophy, emblematic of the city championship for one year.

High Scoring Features British Soccer Matches

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(CP Cable)—High scores and big crowds featured play in British football leagues Saturday. Three teams, Blackpool, Brentford and Bristol City, pumped in nine goals apiece for the day's highest scores.

Attendances went as high as 35,000 for a Belfast match between the Irish Football Association and the British Army, which the Irish won 3-2.

Arsenal, Aldershot and Reading remained unbeaten and untied in the south. Arsenal edged out Millwall 2-1 before a crowd of 12,500. Aldershot beat Luton 3-2 and Reading won 4-1 from Fulham.

In the north five teams kept perfect records. They were Derby County, who blanked Birmingham 5-0, Blackpool who beat Bury 3-0, Liverpool who won 1-0 from Everton before a crowd of 17,000, Chester who shut out Manchester United 2-0, and Sheffield Wednesday who won 4-1 from Rotherham.

Aston Villa, previously unbeaten, lost 2-1 to Coventry before 14,706.

Lovels Athletic remained in front in the west with a 2-1 victory over Bristol.

Feature of the Scottish Southern League play was a 1-1 draw between the unbeaten Rangers and Hibernian. Morton, also unbeaten, moved into a first place tie with Hibernian by blanking Celtic 4-0.

Dallas Club Out Of Pro Hockey

DALLAS, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Dallas will make no attempt to continue professional hockey this winter, Clarence E. Linz, president of the local club in the American association, said Saturday.

"I do not believe it will be possible to obtain enough players from Canada, because of the war, to support several leagues, and as far as Dallas is concerned, we will make no atttempt to have professional hockey," Linz stated.

Calgary Wins Softball Series With Saskatoon

SASKATOON, Sept. 14.—(CP)—A fatal two-run error by Right Fielder Elmer Samson Sunday broke up a tight ball game at Cairns Field this afternoon between Calgary Purity 99, Alberta champions, and Saskatoon College lads. Saskatchewan titlists, to give the Albertans an inter-provincial senior men's best of three softball series by a score of 2-1.

The teams broke even in the first two games Saturday, Alberta took the afternoon tilt by a score of 9-2 but College lads came back strong to trounce their opponents 12-4 in the evening encounter. Sunday's game, which was played before approximately 2,300 fans, went to the Albertans by a 5-4 count.

The Calgary team may now be regarded western Canada champions unless the Manitoba winners decide to challenge the Albertans.

The Albertans had very little trouble to subdue the Saskatchewan champions Saturday afternoon. They took a three run lead in the second innings and climaxed a eighth inning rally with another six runs. Gill and Watson were the opposing pitchers.

First game:

Calgary	030 006 000—9	16	1
Saskatoon	001 010 000—2	9	4

Durocher, Dressen Both Get Plasters For Rowdy Conduct

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(AP)—As if the Dodgers' five-game losing streak and loss of the National League lead weren't enough, Manager Leo Durocher of Brooklyn Dodgers was fined $100 Sunday and was told bluntly by League President Ford Frick that if the pennant chase were not so close he would have been suspended.

Durocher's penalty and a $50 fine and five-day suspension for Dodger Coach Chuck Dressen were handed out by Frick for a rowdy argument the manager and coach had with Umpire Al Barlick when Mickey Owen was called out on a close play at first base in the seventh inning of Saturday's game between the Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals.

Believe It Or Not— —By Robt. Ripley

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—(CP)—Vancouver golfers led the field in raising money for war charities, with Montrealers their closest opposition. The coast city's exhibition season isn't over yet (Ben Hogan will be there next Thursday) but its $8,000 take in the Lions Gate open gives it a clear margin of the field.

Montreal has raised $2,713 from three war charity field days, and there may be more to come. Exact records aren't available from other cities, but they are known to fall below these figures.

The Regina Sandiau Golf Association should have a large donation for the Red Cross at season's end, when the year's profits, including the swag from the Canada open, will be turned over. B. L. Anderson, secretary of the R.C.G.A. told me no figures will be available on this donation until the year-end.

Individual clubs have used many unusual money-raising plans to swell war funds. One of the most successful is at the Macdonald club, near Montreal, where anyone driving into a certain bunker on the 18th hole pays 25 cents. The bunker has been worth of hooks, slices and (always be charitable, fellows) bad bounces this season.

STRAIGHT TALK DEPT.:

J. P., (Toronto Telegram) Fitzgerald, on Canadian football: "It is to be hoped and trusted that the playing season and all connected therewith will be conducted with a little more stability of mind, than the preliminary skirmishes . . ."

Incidentally—Schoolboy Rowe was voted a full share in Montreal Royals' second-place swag from the International League, although he arrived only about three weeks from the season's end. . . . He'll probably earn a full share, and more, of the playoff booty . . . Omar's Gift, who cost guess how much, isn't finished for the season after all . . . She's sound after a two-month layoff, and will run in the Toronto fall meetings.

It must be lonesome around Iron-Hard Park de Young in Regina these days, without the thuds and smashes of big men training for football and the soul-searing screams of Dean Griffin getting into shape for another season of heckling fans from the secondary defence line.

Cincy Reds Beat Bums Twice

St. Louis Now One Game Up As Dodgers Drop Five in Row

By GAYLE TALBOT

BROOKLYN, Sept. 14.—(AP)—While 31, 463 fans slowly died in their seats, the Dodgers dropped both games of a double-header to Cincinnati Reds Sunday, 6-3 and 4-1, to fall a full game behind St. Louis Cardinals, who were dividing a twin bill with the Phillies.

Only once during the afternoon did the Brooklyn rooters have a chance to cheer. Their moment came during the seventh inning of the opener, when the news was posted on the scoreboard that St. Louis had lost its first game to the Phils.

First Bucky Walters and then Ray Starr, two righthanders, poured it on the once-haughty Dodgers. Walters allowed them six hits in the opener and fairly coasted to victory after Buck Newsom had been pelted from the mound. Starr yielded five blows in the second game, only one of which came after the second inning. The defeats were the fourth and fifth straight for the Dodgers.

NEWSOM STARTS WELL

Newsom, the Dodgers' "pennant insurance," had every intention of turning the tide Sunday. He had asked and received Manager Leo Durocher's permission to pitch both games—provided he won the first. The big Bobo started like a champion, fanning three Reds in the first inning.

But if didn't last. Eric Tipton, red left-fielder, greeted him with a single in the second inning, and Eddie Joost's double and an error by Pee Wee Reese brought in two runs. Then, in the fourth, two walks and a hit batsman loaded the bases and Bucky Walters smacked a mighty double to bring the whole gang home.

That was all for Newsom. The three assorted curvers who followed him allowed the Reds only one more run.

HOME RUN TO CAMILLI

The Dodgers tried to save the day in the second game. In the second inning Dolph Camilli led off with a line double, reached third in the course of events and then made a bold dash for home as Starr wound up lengthily. He got there too, as Starr's belated pitch bounced off Ray Lamanno's glove.

That, however, was the last damage the Dodgers did Starr.

In defeat, the Dodgers ran their paid attendance for the season to 1,006,366, the largest at any second straight year they have crossed the 1,000,000 mark.

Cincinnati	020 310 000—	6	7
Brooklyn	000 200 100—	3	6

Walters and Lamanno; Newsom, Casey (6), Hughes (8), Webber (8) and Owen.

Second game:

Cincinnati	000 021 810—	4	7
Brooklyn	010 000 000—	1	3

Starr and Lamanno; Davis, Head (9) and Owen.

CARDS BREAK EVEN WITH PHILADELPHIA

Ace Adams and Ken Raffensberger, each of whom has won 15, failed, but even though they had to be content with winning one out of two the Phils kept roaring their exclusive possession of first place in the National League by a full game.

The Cards won the overcast game in the opening tussle and gave the Phils two runs in the ninth inning to lose 2-1, but they came back like champions in the second game and won, 3-2, to profit by Brooklyn Dodgers' double loss against Cincinnati Reds.

The stress of the exciting pennant struggle made everyone in Shibe Park tense. The big show brought out a crowd of 20,280, coming within a few hundred of being the largest turnout of the year for the Phils.

BEAZLEY AFTER 20TH

In the first game Johnny Beazley, the Red Birds' great rookie who had won 19 games and ardently hoped for his 20th, pitched eight shutout innings and his teammates gave him a run in the fifth by cascadilizing on one of the three hits they made off Tommy Hughes.

But when victory came close the Cards grabbed two violently. With one out in the ninth inning Danny Litwhiler raised a short fly near right field foul line and three Red Birds flew to take it. Second Baseman Jimmy Brown elected himself for the honor and fell down after getting his hands on the ball. The result was a double.

Bill Burdick, a kid just up from the Eastern league, singled and Litwhiler slid home for a run as catcher Walker Cooper dropped Harry Moore's perfect throw on a close play.

This was bad enough, but shortstop Martin Marion, usually faultless, fumbled an easy roller by Danny Murtaugh and Tommy Livingston followed with a sharp single to score the winning run.

PHILS OUTHIT CARDS

The nightcap began as another tight duel between Howard Krist of the Cardsand and Rube Melton of the Phils, but its complexion was changed in the fourth when both runs scored twice, even though it continued close.

In the St. Louis half of the fourth Enos Slaughter walked, Stan Musial tripled and Johnny Hopp doubled. However, the Phils retaliated with four successive singles by Litwhiler, Kitten, Burich and Murtaugh to tie the score and dispatch Krist.

This proved a mistake, for Bill Beckmann, formerly an unsuccessful hurler for the Philadelphia Athletics, shut them out the rest of the way and again Terry Moore banged his sixth home run into the left field stands in the fifth inning to decide the game.

St.Louis	000 010 000—	1	3
Philadelphia	000 00x 02x—	2	8

Brazle and W. Cooper; Hughes and Livingston.

Second game:

St. Louis	000 210 000—	3	6
Philadelphia	000 200 000—	2	10

Krist, Beckmann (4) and O'Dea; Melton and Livingston; Bragan (7).

AMERICAN LEAGUE

CLEVELAND, Sept. 14—(AP)—New York Yankees climbed within one game of the American League pennant Sunday by sweeping a double-header from Cleveland Indians.

The Yanks slugged Rookie Ray Poat and his ineffective successor, Al Milnar, for 14 hits to grab the first contest 9-1, and Hank Borowy outpitched Chubby Dean in the nightcap to win 4-2. It was the Tribe's fifth straight loss.

Borowy spared New York's attack in the third inning of the nightcap when he singled to score Gerald Priddy and Buddy Rosar, who had doubled home Joe Gordon for the first run.

New York	004 410 000—	9	14
Cleveland	000 000 010—	1	7

Ruffing and Dickey; Poat, Milnar (4) and Hegan.

Second game:

New York	000 300 100—	4	11
Cleveland	200 000 000—	2	11

Borowy and Rosar; Dean and Denning.

RED SOX STILL TRYING

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Boston Red Sox made one dying gasp for the American League pennant Sunday afternoon when they beat Chicago White Sox 6-5 and 10-1 in a double-header.

The Yanks, however, won two and need only to win one more game to clinch the pennant.

Bill Butland won his seventh in a row Sunday afternoon when he held the White Sox to but four hits in the first game. That made his record seven and one. Ted Williams drove in seven hits off Buck Ross and Joe Haynes and these included Ted Williams' 32nd homer of the season in the seventh inning while Boston was scoring all of its runs.

Ted Hughson turned in his 20th victory of the season in the second game when he limited the White Sox to seven hits and shut them out.

Boston	000 000 006—	6	7
Chicago	001 000 000—	1	4

Hughson and Peacock; Dietrich, Perme (8) and Tresh.

BROWNS OUTPLAY ATHLETICS

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Gilt-edged pitching and fortunately bunched hitting supported the Browns Sunday as they whipped Philadelphia Athletics 5-2 in the nightcap of an American League doubleheader after coastin to a 7-6 verdict in the opener.

Elden Auker, veteran right-hander, allowed but three hits in the opener as he blanked the Athletics who had 6th decision of the campaign. Chet Laabs plastered his 25th home run in the sixth inning.

The Athletics were outhit in the nightcap, but Vern Stephens' home run in the seventh, followed by George McQuinn's double and Frank Hayes' single proved the deciding edge after Philadelphia went into an early lead with a two-run burst in the first.

The real guts of the afternoon was Auker's job of hurling in the opener. Only one Athletic reached third base and only one other as far as second.

Fowler, Wolff (6) and Swift, Wagner (6), Sundra and Hayes.

SPLIT AT DETROIT

DETROIT, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Rookie Hal White pitched Detroit Tigers to an 8-6 victory over Washington Senators in the second game of a twin bill Sunday after the Tigers had kicked away the opener, 5-2, by donating the Senators three runs in the ninth.

White limited the Nats to four safeties while his teammates were pasting Alex Carrasquel and Rookie Lou Bevil for 11. Carrasquel was charged with the defeat, his seventh to go with seven victories.

Washington	000 001 103—	5	11

Merullo's lapses, which came in the second inning of the nightcap, shattered the mark of three shots in an inning, held by many players since 1900, and equalled the old National League record of a quartet of errors in one inning made by Bill Fuller of Washington in August, 1898.

The Merullo jitters were pardonable, however, for he had just become the father of a baby son, born in a Boston hospital a few hours before game time.

Alberta District News In Brief

More Than Half Ton of Fruit Seen at Beaverlodge Station

BEAVERLODGE.—By September 2, a total of 786 pounds of crabapples and 27 pounds of good sized standard apples had been weighed on the Dominion Experimental Station at Beaverlodge in the Peace River region of northern Alberta, with most of the apples and a few of the crabs still on the trees. When all are gathered the total should exceed half a ton, according to Assistant John F. Moore, M.Sc., who is in charge of the grounds.

Fully a dozen apple trees and a great many named varieties of crabs are fruiting. In addition, there are dozens of seedlings, a few of which are promising.

Hibernal has been the most productive apple to date and Osman the most reliable good crab. One little Hibernal which began to bear in 1931 has missed only two years since and this years is laden more heavily than ever. Superior to it in size and flavor of fruit is a large yellow seedling from Morden, Man., bearing this year for at least the second time. An Osman crab which has been bearing heavily for years yielded this year 25½ pounds of choice fruit, excellent for jelly-making and very fair for dessert or sauce.

SOON BUY AT STANDS

At this rate future tourists along the Alaska highway will be buying home grown apples at roadside stands in the Peace, Mr. Moore believes.

Apples are not the only tree fruits at Beaverlodge. Plums, sour cherries of two types and a pear have been produced—not a pair of pears, as was the case two years ago, but half a pair of pears—augury, it is hoped, of more to follow.

Altogether the horticultural grounds at Beaverlodge cover about ten acres.

Many Ducks in Rimbey Area: Devour Grain

RIMBEY.—Ducks are very plentiful in this district and more than one farmer is annoyed at the rate these birds are devouring crops.

With the hunting season opening Monday, plenty of good shooting is assured and it is expected enthusiastic nimrods will have a hard time keeping within the bag limits —12 a day and 100 for the season.

$300 Stamps Sold at Rocky in '15 Minutes for Canada' Drive

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE. —Full returns of the War Savings Sale in the Fifteen Minutes for Canada" have come in and show that more than $300 worth of stamps was sold here.

As Thursday is a half-holiday, merchants took time later to sell stamps, as they are seldom many in town Thursday. Young girls in colorful uniforms sold the stamps on the street and say they had not one refusal, even in the crowd who could only afford to buy one stamp. School children bought them at the school.

DEACONESS MARRIED WINNIPEG CEREMONY

Miss Mary Todd, deaconess in the Presbyterian church here for the past six months, was married recently in Winnipeg to Hugh Campbell of Dauphin, Man. Miss Todd, who came here from work in Regina, had been a deaconess in the Peace River country and in the Willowdale district in Alberta for a number of years. She came to Canada from Belfast, Ireland, where her father is a Presbyterian minister.

More than a week of sunny dry days has sent the harvest into full swing. Hip is very scarce and many farmers' wives are driving teems or tractors, and high school students are staying home from school to assist. Small fields in bush country mean that there is little power farming here.

War Tribute Paid At Lloydminster

LLOYDMINSTER.—Lloydminster and district residents gathered at the public school grounds this week to pay tribute to those who died in the First rGeat War and to mark the outbreak of the present war.

The address was given by Rev. Mr. Walker of Knox Presbyterian church and chaplain of the local branch of the Canadian Legion. Telling the congregation they had a vital part to play in the war, he said: "We must put on the whole armor of God that we may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil, for we wrestle not against flesh and blood but against principalities and powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places."

The service was conducted by D. McKenna, president of the local branch of the Legion, and P. H. Robert. Miss Davis sang "Land of Hope and Glory" and Mrs. Fleming was at the piano.

Canadian Legion members, the local company of the B.L.I. and Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Cubs and Brownies, headed by the B.L.I. bugle band, paraded to the service. Many wreaths were placed at the cenotaph.

Former Russian Aviator Claims To Have Discovered Noah's Ark

The fate of Noah's Ark, after the deluge had passed, and the flood waters subsided, for many years has been a matter of investigation and speculation for Bible scholars, and scientists.

The subject frequently is debated and discussed. New light is thrown upon it by an article brought to The Bulletin by H. B. McMartin, 11513 87 street.

The article in question was written by Vladimar Roskovitsky, a former Russian aviator, now an American citizen, who sets Bibles straight. He tells of flight over Mount Ararat and of seeing a structure, in perfect state of preservation, resembling the Ark, and of observing nearby, the altar upon which Noah offered sacrifice when he emerged from the Ark.

Noah was an Old Testament patriarch, son of Lamech and father of Shem, Ham and Japheth.

He built the ark in which he, his family and some representative animals were saved from the Flood. After the waters subsided he became the ancestor to all the world. Incidentally, another legend claims him as the first to cultivate the vine (Genesis ix.x.)

THE DELUGE

The Deluge or the Great Flood, pre-eminently that described in the Book of Gensis as overwhelming all living beings except Noah, his family and the animals which accompanied him, is paralleled in early Babylonian literature and in folklore all over the world.

Excavations at Ur and Kish have revealed deluge floors and antediluvian remains, supporting the view that the story concerned local floods in the Euphrates Valley.

Mount Ararat, which plays a central part in the Vladimar Roskovitsky article, is in Ararat, a district in Armenia, named from its chief river Aras, or Araxes. It was on Mount Ararat that the Ark is said to have rested (Genesis VIII.). The mountain is an extinct volcano with two peaks and is 17,000 feet high. Armenians call it the Masis and the Persians Mount of Noah.

Roskovitsky, after some preliminaries, on the preparations for the flight, while he was serving with a group of Russian aviators stationed at a lonely, temporary air post 25 miles north west of Mount Ararat, tells the main part of his flight as follows.

OBSERVE CRAFT

"A couple of circles around the snow-capped cone and then a long, swift glide down the south side, and then suddenly we come upon a perfect little gen of a lake; green as an emerald, but still frozen over on the shady side . . . a submarine. No it wasn't, for it had stubby masts, but the top was rounded over with only a flat cat-walk about five feet across down the length of it. What a strange craft, built as though the designer had expected the waves to roll over the top most of the time and had engineered it to wallow in the sea like a log, with those stubby masts carrying enough sail to keep it facing the waves.

". . . We were surprised when we got close to it at the immense size of the thing, for it was as long as a city block and would compare very favorably in size to the modern battleships of today. It was grounded on the shore of the lake with about one fourth under water.

"It had been partly dismantled on one side near the front, and on the other side there was a great doorway nearly twenty feet square, but with the other door gone. This seemed quite out of proportion, as even today ships seldom have doors even that large.

". . . When we related our find, the laughter was loud and long. Some accused us of getting drunk on too much oxygen and there were many other remarks too numerous ol relate."

OTHERS SEE IT

He then tells of the captain of the detachment going up and on the captain telling him that Noah's Ark. Roskovitsky replied. "Yes sir, but I don't understand what a legend of Noah's Ark has to do with finding this strange thing fourteen thousand feet up on a mountain top."

Roskovitsky then continued. "This strange craft,' explained the captain,' is Noah's Ark. It has been sitting up there for nearly five thousand years. Being frozen up for nine or ten months of the year it couldn't rot, and has been in cold storage, as it were, all this time. You have made the most amazing discovery of the age."

The writer then relates how the report having reached the Russian government, two special companies of soldiers were sent to climb the mountain. One group of 50 went up one side and a group of 100 went up the other. About one month was required to reach the Ark. Complete measurements were taken and plans made and many photographs were taken.

MANY ROOMS

Roskovitsky continues. "The Ark was found to contain hundreds of small rooms, and some rooms very large with high ceilings. The unusually large rooms had a fence of great timber across them, some of which were two feet thick as designed to hold beasts ten times as large as elephants. Other rooms also were lined with tiers of cages somewhat like one sees today at a poultry show, only instead of chicken wire, they had rows of tiny iron bars along the front.

"Everything was heavily painted with a wax-like paint resembling shellac and the workmanship of the craft showed all the signs of a high type of civilization.

"The wood used throughout was 'cleander' which belongs to the cyprus family, and never rots, which, of course, coupled with the fact of it being painted and dying frozen most of the time, accounted for its perfect preservation.

TIMBER BURNED

"The expedition found on the peak of the mountain above the ship, the burned remains of the timbers which were missing out of the one side of the ship. It seems that these timbers had been hauled to the top of the peak and used to build a one room structure inside of which was a rough stone altar like the altars the Hebrews used for sacrifices, and it had either caught fire from the sun, or been struck by lightning as the timbers were considerably burned off."

Roskovitsky states that the records never were made public and probably later were destroyed.

So far as is known there has been no other expedition to investigate the Russian aviator's discovery, and until publication of his article, with the Russian records destroyed, few knew of the incident. Perhaps in happier times, a further quest will be made to the emerald lake at the top of Mount Ararat.

Beulah Home Celebrates its 33rd Season

"We are deeply conscious that it is only as God is honored and honored, that we can build strong clean character without which we are weak," Mrs. Mary A. Finlay, superintendent of Beaulah Home, declared in her thirty-third anniversary report, given Sunday in connection with anniversary services.

"Our churches must suffer and our nation will continue to suffer, but if God be for us, who can be against us?"

She said that during 1941, more than 300 girls were cared for, and during the eight months of 1942, 89 young women have been admitted, and 89 babies born there.

She expressed thanks for assistance to the home from the Y.W.C.A., Bethany Lodge, Hope Mission, the Salvation Army Women's Home, and the Dorcas circle.

J. F. Lymburn, K.C. chairman of the board of directors, presided at the anniversary program. The Citadel Salvation Army band played, and the guests joined in group singing.

A comparison between the Beulah Home and other welfare work and the story of the Good Samaritan was drawn by the Rev. Daniel Young of the First Baptist church. Mr. Young read the Scripture story, and said that the thing most worthy of notice was the lack of identification of the Good Samaritan.

"He was unwilling to what he could with no further publicity about his good deed," he said.

Finances were reported by W. J. MacKenzie, and E. E. Roper gave the report of the nomination committee. Mrs. John Suder sang "Great if Thy Faithfulness."

After Mr. Young's address, the Rev. E. P. Wahl of the Central Baptist church offered a benediction.

Eleventh Hour Purchase Carnival Ticket Wins for Thelma Boness

An eleventh hour purchase of a ticket to the War Services Entertainment Board of Northern Alberta carnival won the handsome, brand new $5,000 bungalow and a lot that goes with it, for 19-year-old swee and pretty Miss Thelma Boness, 10944 125 street.

She had purchased several tickets and had attended the carnival early Saturday night. She decided to go home early. On the way out she purchased another ticket from one of the I.O.D.E. vendors.

Lucky ticket won her the bungalow and lot.

Although the drawing took place at midnight, with Frederick Crumblehulme, chief auxiliary officer of M.D. No. 13, drawing the lucky ticket, that gave Miss Boness the bungalow, she did not know of her good fortune for a couple of hours.

It was 2:30 a.m. Sunday when Miss Boness was located and taken to the carnival headquarters.

There, covered with confusion, blushing prettily—and she is a very pretty girl—she was handed the key of the bungalow by Harold L. Weir, associate editor of The Bulletin and chairman of the War Services Entertainment Board of Northern Alberta.

INSPECTS HOUSE

Immediately on receiving the key and the profuse, almost overwhelming congratulations of a legion of the faithful who had lingered long and lovingly in surveying the bungalow, Miss Boness was taken on a special, personally-conducted tour of her new possession by Ernest Litchfield, well known contractor, who had built the house.

She expressed herself as overjoyed with the house. The design and plan of the house, the materials employed, the built-in cabinets in the kitchen, the inlaid bathtub and other appointments all won from her the warmest praise.

"I cannot tell you how delighted I am to win the bungalow," she said. "Like everyone else I had hoped to win it, but realized the chances against it were so great that I really didn't expect to win it."

Miss Boness has not yet made her selection of a lot to which the bungalow will be moved. The city has offered a choice of several locations but she has not yet cast the die in the direction the bungalow will be moved.

One does not pry into private affairs too much, and it is Miss Bonss' affair whether she lives in the bungalow, but there is every reason to believe she will.

The house will be moved by the War Services Entertainment Board to the selected location.

The carnival ground was crowded Saturday night. On all sides there was an air of excitement and expectation. There was a gala carnival spirit abroad. Sale of tickets ceased at 11 p.m. and at midnight the drawing took place. In that fateful hour between 11 o'clock and, midnight, hearts beat fast and hopes were high. At home, Miss Bonss quietly prepared for her Sunday activities. Then came the great moment and the draw.

The crowd, for the most part quickly dispersed.

More than 60,000 tickets were sold for the carnival. Every night saw thousands enjoying the various games.

While final financial results are not availble, it is understood that the gross returns were large and that the final results will be "highly satisfactory."

Lions to be Hosts Luncheon Meeting

The Lions club will be hosts to the Optimist club at the regular weekly luncheon gathering at 12:15 p.m. Thursday at the Macdonald hotel.

The post-luncheon meeting will be in the form of a social get-together with musical entertainment featuring the program.

Jack Williams, basso; Jack Jones, singing comedian and Arthur Fleming, piano, will be the artists. Jack Millar is in charge of the program for the joint meeting.

Stanley Franklin, Lions' president, will be in the chair.

Ideal Hunting Weather Marks Season Opening

Perfect hunting weather greeted Alberta nimrods at the opening of the duck hunting season half an hour before sunrise Monday. With prospects for a more plentiful supply of ducks and geese this year than there has been in the past several seasons, hunters who are determined to get their bag early in the season, left the city at the week-end to be on deck at the duck ponds early Monday morning.

Those who delayed their departure till late Sunday or early Monday morning faced muddy roads and weather regarded as very unfavorable for travelling but most favorable for hunting.

The season for ducks, geese, rails, coots, and wilson snipe will be open till November 28. October 1 is the opening date of the season for hunting Hungarian Partridges, sharp-tail grouse, prairie chicken, spruce partridge and ruffed grouse.

CLOSING DATE

Closing date for "the Huns" is November 28 and that for partridge and grofse is Oct. 31.

In Alberta duck hunters are permitted to bag 12 ducks in any one day. The season's bag is not to exceed 100. They are allowed five geese in any one day and 25 for the season.

No one shall have in his possession at any one time more than 36 ducks, the Alberta regulations state.

Though hunting prospects this fall are generally regarded as good, game officials state that owing to severe frosts during the nesting season and heavy rainfall throughout the summer, the prospects are "not quite as promising though still well above average."

SCARCITY OF SHELLS

There is a scarcity of shells and all sportsmen are requested by Dr. T. F. MacDonald, president of the Northern Albegta Fish and Game Protective League, to save their empty shell cases.

Cases of both shot gun and rifle shells, including those of the 22-calibre rifle, are valuable for salvaging brass and the president of the protective league urges that hunters turn in the empty cases to one of the following dealers in Edmonton who have consented to receive them:

Eaton's, Bill Greer's Hardware, Hudson's Bay, Munro's Hardware, Northern Hardware, Thompson Hardware, Uncle Ben's, Herb Webb, Bill Werner and J. A. Werner.

Manitoba Woman Is Dead in City

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Lacquement, who has been in this city about a month, died Sept. 14 in a local hospital. She was 79 years old. Her body will be taken to Bowsman, Man., for funeral services and thereby enjoying the various games.

While final financial results are not availble, it is understood that the gross returns were large and that the final results will be "highly satisfactory."

Mrs. Lacquement is survived by her daughters, Mrs. George Toque, New Westminster, B.C.; Mrs. Andrew Ashton, Bowsman, Man.; and Mrs. Gordon MacDonald, Beverly, Alta.; one son, Mr. Thomas Scott, Birch River, Man.; five sisters, Mrs. Isa Todd, Bowsman, Man.; Mrs. William Scott, Bowsman River, Man., Mrs. Adolph Lacquement, Swan River, Man., Mrs. David Togue, Minisonas, Man., and Mrs. Joseph Hawthorn, B.C.; and one brother, Mr. Albert Togue, Bowsman, Man.

Airport Extension Necessitated by Rapid Development

All-Out Development Of Alberta Tar Sands Said Vital War Need

Asphalt being developed from the McMurray tar sands is of a very high quality, and as this product is progressively becoming scarcer, the all-out development of the tar sands deposits of Northern Alberta is an imperative war measure in the opinion of John R. MacNicol, Conservative member of the Dominion parliament for Toronto-Davenport, who returned to Edmonton Saturday from an extensive tour of the McMurray district and other parts of the Peace River district.

War demands have resulted in an acute shortage of asphalt, and this shortage will become more and more acute. More and more of the product is being called for in the nation's war effort, stated Mr. MacNicol, and shortly demands for this product will come for the surfacing of the Alaska highway and northern airports.

This demand, in Mr. MacNicol's opinion, cannot be met from known supply sources, and he considers it imperative that the McMurray sands, which he described as one of Canada's really great natural resources, should be intensively developed.

Pointing out that such development would be of great advantage to Edmonton Mr. MacNicol said that in his opinion Edmonton's future lies in the north, a land within which great developments may be expected during the coming years.

It is estimated, stated Mr. MacNicol, that the surfacing of the Alaska highway will require not less than 1,400,000 barrels of asphalt, while the hard surfacing of runways on northern airports will

Coming Here

Maj.-Gen. Jean Knox, the Controller General and Director of the Auxiliary Territorial Service in Great Britain, who is touring the Dominion and visiting Canadian Women's Army Corps establishments. Mrs. Knox is the highest ranking woman officer in the forces of the British Empire. She will be here next Friday. (Canadian Army Photo.)

Women's Corps Leader Coming Here on Friday

Maj. Gen. Jean Knox, chief controller of the Auxiliary Territorial Service in Great Britain, will spend four days in Alberta this week, inspecting the Canadian Women's Army Corps here, at Calgary and Vermilion, and during that time it is expected that she will make addresses here and Calgary. She will visit this city on Friday.

Maj. Gen. Knox is the first woman general in the British Commonwealth of Nations, and she is the first woman holding that rank to visit Canada.

She arrived in Ottawa last Tuesday, and is now on a Dominion-wide tour, which it is expected, will take her to Calgary Tuesday evening.

Maj. Gen. Knox is anxious to see the work that the C.W.A.C. is doing in different parts of the province, and on Thursday she will visit the C.W.A.C. training centre for Western Canada at Vermilion. On Friday, according to present arrangements, she will be in Edmonton, where she will inspect the Edmonton detachment of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, and will address a meeting of a women's club at noon, the luncheon to be held at the Macdonald hotel.

Definite plans for the visit of Maj. Gen. Knox to Military District No. 13 will be completed on Monday. It is understood that high military officials from N.D.H.Q. Ottawa, as well as from Military District No. 13 will accompany her during her tour of this military district.

Floating Debt Of City Lower By $828,789.76

The floating debt of the city of Edmonton has been reduced by $828,789.76 during the first six months of 1942, it is disclosed in a report made to city council by the city's auditors, Messrs. Kinnaird and Aylen. This reduction is due to a considerable extent to the tax collections for the six-month period being about two-thirds of the levy for the year.

Revenue for the six-month period amounted to $2,376,037.33, with expenditures $2,556,693.42, leaving a surplus for the period of $19,343.91.

The expenditure for the cost of living bonus during the six-month period was $58,177.76. This has been absorbed by the different civic departments.

Getting Around
Jack DeLong

We think the most important thing about life is living. If you don't feel right you are not really living. And those who try to live too fast or too hard get over the road far too quickly by worrying themselves into a state of incapacity to enjoy life.

What we think is a highly interesting article appears in the current issue of Reader's Digest. It is a condensation from Fortune Magazine, entitled: "Stomach Ulcer-Wound stripe of civilization."

We think the article is particularly appropriate at this time, because of the vastly greater strain that most people are under, due to the war. Some authorities think that as many as 15 per cent of the adult population have, or have had, an ulcer condition.

Modern medical research now seems to point strongly to emotional strain as the main cause of ulcer. A case is cited where a man de-

Boxing Champion Enlists in R.C.A.F.

Three times winner of Alberta boxing championships, Pvt. Will Earle Reynolds has joined the R.C.A.F. as an airframe mechanic. He won the titles in 1929-30-31.

He has been employed as a school teacher at Lavoy.

One brother is already serving with the R.C.A.F. and the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Reynolds, reside at Camrose.

Bond Maturity Is Defaulted

Alberta government five per cent bonds for $2,948,000 issued in 1922 and maturing Sept. 15, will be defaulted, it was reported Monday by provincial treasury officials. The province will continue to pay halved interest rates on the bonds on which principal cannot be met.

Of the total issue $2,218,000 was for Alberta government telephones and the balance for general purposes, it was stated.

The issue was payable in Canada and New York.

Army Will Open Traffic Office Here

To regulate United States Army traffic through Edmonton, a local station of the Regulatory Traffic Board of the United States War Department will be established in Edmonton under the direction of Major G. B. Seiler.

The decision to open this office came after a conference between Major Walter C. Tillman, Washington, chief of the Regulatory Traffic Branch of the United States War Department, and local freight, passenger and communications officials of the C.P.R. the C.N.R. and the N.A.R. railways.

Electors Must Get Names on Voters' List

Warning that eligible electors whose names do not appear on the voters' list would not be allowed to vote in the Sept. 22 provincial by-election unless they had their names placed on the list on or before Wednesday next was issued Monday by H. H. Crawford, returning officer.

For the convenience of those who did not get slips from enumerators who made a house-to-house canvass recently to compile the voters' list, the returning officer's headquarters at 9916 Jasper Avenue will remain open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday, Sept. 14, Tuesday and Wednesday.

CALL AT HEADQUARTERS

"If electors eligible to vote did not get slips from enumerators, it is a fairly definite indication their names are not on the list," Mr. Crawford said. "The only way to have them included is to call at our headquarters on the days mentioned.

"Such electors are advised not to overlook this formality, as they will NOT be sworn in and permitted to vote when they visit the polls on election day," he said.

About 180 new names have been placed on the list so far as the revision of the voters' list proceeds, it was reported.

The advance poll for the by-election will be held next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 17, 18 and 19, at the returning officer's headquarters for the convenience of those who will be out of town on business election day. The advance poll will be open from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 10 p.m. on these dates.

Warning Given Timber Fires In Dry Season

While forest fire damage to date this year has been small as compared to other years, the "dangerous dry season is still ahead of us and every precaution should be observed to prevent conflagrations that proved so costly in other years," T. F. Bielfgen, provincial forestry director, said Monday.

"We have been very fortunate in suffering only small timber fire damage so far this season, but we are keeping our fingers crossed," Mr. Bielfgen said. "If the fall season is a dry one, there is a very real threat from forest fires which may sweep through tinder-dry areas and do thousands of dollars in damage before they are brought under control.

TIMBER FOR WAR

"This year, particularly, it is up to every Alberta resident to take every precaution against outbreak of fire. Travellers should make sure that camp-fires are extinguished before they leave them and farmers and settlers should also guard against clearing fires getting out of control and destroying valuable tracts of timber needed for the war effort.

"Lighted cigarette stubs are also a menace and persons travelling by any of our transportation systems should not throw lighted stubs away. Even though the stubs have been extinguished it is advisable to place them in a container where they will be no threat to our forests."

Landslide Causes Delay C.N.R. Train

Traffic on the C.N.R. main line was held up for five hours Saturday when a landslide was the cause of a train wreck near Blue River, B.C. A freight train was badly wrecked and the line blocked for five hours to clear the tracks of debris.

None was injured. Blue River is situated about 400 miles west of Jasper, Alta. It was the center of the highway project in which Japanese labor was used last spring.

Describes Meet

H. R. Milner, K.C., prominent Edmonton lawyer, who returned here Monday after presiding over a meeting discussing the future plans of the Conservative party, held at Port Hope, Ont.

Canada Should Remain Within British Empire

Self interest demands that Canada remain within the British Commonwealth, declared attending the unofficial conference of Conservatives at Port Hope were agreed, H. R. Milner, K.C., who was general chairman of the conference, stated on return here Monday from the east.

Immediate conception for service anywhere in the world, with consideration of past-war problems contingent on the defeat of the Axis powers, were also agreed points of general policy. While the conference was in no sense official, and does not bind the Conservative party as such, it was felt that any official conference to be held later would most certainly be based on general policies of the Port Hope convention.

Following is a statement made by Mr. Milner on general points of interest arising out of the discussions at the conference:

While the Port Hope conference was entirely unofficial and in no sense binds the Conservative Party, it was very representative of the back-bone of the party.

IS CONFIDENT

I think it can be assumed that any official convention will adopt the major part of the Port Hope recommendations. The conclusions of the delegates were embodied in a report which will be available in a few days in printed form. Those reading it will note that while firmly adhering to fundamentals, a good deal of new ground was broken. There was complete unanimity that the country was committed to and should prosecute an all-out war, immediate conscription was demanded, and everywhere it was emphasized that any considerations of post-war problems was contingent on the defeat of the Axis powers. The conference believed that the very ground of self-interest our place as a nation within the British Commonwealth should and must be maintained. The proposed social legislation, contingent as it is on the outcome of the war, is based on the maintenance of the private property system and the profit motive.

FARM PROBLEMS

A great deal of attention was given to the problems of the western farmers, one of the most interesting items being a declaration in favor of the extension of a Farm Bank under which farmers will obtain intermediate and long-term credit. It was pointed out particularly the wheat farmer requires not only credit but, owing to the variability of his income, flexibility in the terms of repayment.

It was thought that the present debt structure could best be revamped by amending and strengthening the present Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act.

One section of the conference devoted all its time to labor problems and brought down recommendations which were satisfactory, not only to the employers, but to the labor representatives present.

All together I think it can fairly be said that a basis was laid, and steps taken, which will lead to the revival of the Conservative Party.

Flames Break Out Clark Lumber Mill

A blaze that broke out in the shavings room at the W. H. Clark Lumber Co., 109 street and 103 avenue, at 7:32 p.m. Saturday was extinguished quickly by firemen from halls No. 1 and 2. There was no damage done and the flames were confined to the roof.

The fire started when Oliver Christenson, caretaker, was forcing shavings through a blower. A backdraught caused sparks to ignite the shavings and the flames spread rapidly to the heap in the bin.

The caretaker turned in the alarm and firemen soon had the flames under control. Christenson was playing the water hose on the flames when the firemen arrived.

20 City Boys Assist Farmers In Harvesting

Two farmers living north of Edmonton had their harvesting problem solved when 20 boys from the city went to help in the fields, Saturday.

The boys were taken out by J. Bentley, on whose farm they worked first. Morris Bacon, who brought them home, was the other farmer assisted.

The boys left town at 8.00 a.m. and were home again at 9.30 p.m. They completed 70 acres of harvesting, and each boy earned $1.75.

GOES WITH BOYS

A. V. Cameron, physical education instructor at the McCauley school, accompanied the boys and worked with them.

"I think the boys did a great job," said Mr. Cameron. "They were plenty tired by the time the day was over, but we all enjoyed it and the employers were fine to work with."

The boys who worked are Dan Sekul, Billy Stansfield, Frank Jeffries, Morris Wiederspil, M. Petal, A. Sibel, Bob English, John MacLean, G. Poppole, Doug. Cameron, B. Dugard, G. Crngco, Dick Evans, Edgar Anderson, Claude Riddle, Steve Mendryk, Byron Rierson, Nenon Ewanew, and Erie Bryant.

Noted Athlete To Take Part In Track Meet

Featuring AC2 Eric Coy, British Empire track and field star, a track and field meet that promises to provide splendid competition is scheduled for No. 3 "M" depot R.C.A.F. in the exhibition grounds at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

The meet, which is being staged by permission of Wing Commander W. C. Weber, officer commanding the depot, will bring out some of the finest talent ever assembled in competition in this city. In addition to Coy, there are many other prominent track stars, who will be pitted against each other in a long list of competitions, forming an attractive program.

The meet is open to the general public and is free of charge.

Coy is British Empire champion at the discus, javelin and shot put. Several hundred airmen will compete in the events.

No "Dark Horses" For By-Election

No "dark horses" had filed nomination papers as candidates in the Sept. 22 provincial by-election when nominations closed at 2 p.m. Saturday, nomination day, according to H. H. Crawford, returning officer.

Five candidates are now officially in the by-election race. They are Maj. Nelles V. Buchanan, M.C., Liberal Party; John B. Gillies, Social Credit Party; William "Paddy" Griffin, "soldiers' candidate"; John F. Lymburn, K.C., Independent Party, and Elmer R. Roper, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

All nominations were accompanied by the required $100 deposit.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

Do you think the Russians will start another punishing offensive against the Germans once the bitter winter of the Russian front sets in again?

THE ANSWERS

SGT. NORVAL ARMSTRONG, R.C.A.F.: Yes, I do. I think the Germans will be worse off than ever, because they are deeper in Russia in many places than they were last winter. Guerillas will also be more active than was the case last winter, because Hitler's diminishing manpower will find it more difficult than ever to police the huge spaces of Russia and fight the Russian armies at the same time.

MABEL ROBB, stenographer: I think that Russians and winter will be too much for Hitler this time. And by next spring the Nazis will realize it is impossible to win this war.

FRED CARBERRY, lumber merchant: I hope that the Russians have the reserve strength to hit back this winter, and if they do, I believe the German machine would really crack. But we must not lose sight of the fact that Russia, too, must be suffering heavily. I think the Russians should receive more and more aid from her Allies in these coming weeks.

On leave from their unit, which has been stationed in Western Canada for a considerable period, a large number of men from the 1st Bn., Edmonton Fusiliers, Canadian Army (Active), are back in Edmonton, it was stated by Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., area commandant.

Additional Space Needed To Accommodate Runways, Buildings Being Erected

Considerable extension of Edmonton's airport has been necessitated through the increased war activity and city council Monday night will be asked to approve extensions of the field's boundaries to provide space for new buildings being erected, and also for new runways now under construction.

Council will be asked to approve the inclusion of property between 117 and 118 avenues to the west boundary of 107 street to provide accommodation for a considerable number of buildings now being erected.

The commissioners report that developments are proceeding so rapidly that the extension of the east boundary of the airport throughout its present length to the west boundary of 107 street may be necessary soon. Also an area east and west in the vicinity of 116 street on the southwest of Kinsway is now being developed for airport purposes.

NO EXPENSE

The report states that these extensions will necessitate the requirement of a certain number of lots and buildings, but it is understood that the city will be put to no expense in this connection.

The commissioners seek also the authority to include the extended territory into the lease by the department of transport dated August 22, 1940, and to make the necessary application to the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners for cancellation of any plans affected by the territorial extension of the airport.

A special appropriation of $3,000 will be sought for the continuance of Air Raid Precautions work in Edmonton. Already $2,900 has been

Poor Digestion Ruins Many Marriages Today

If Husband Becomes a Pessimist Wife Should Watch What She Feeds Him; Good Meals Lead To Family Peace And Comfort

Perhaps, after all, the Orientals have a truer conception of love than we westerners when they locate the seat of the tender emotions in the liver instead of in the heart, as we do. The Turkish Clark Gable, for instance, does not address his best girl as the darling of my heart. He calls her the joy of his liver. No doubt when the lady proves unresponsive he does not upbraid her for breaking his heart.

To the unthinking, especially to those who are oldish, it may seem unimportant. Nevertheless, dieticians have taken the matter up and are investigating the effect of love upon digestion. They seem to have come to the conclusion that it is not romance that quickens the pulses or gives to the sentimental that all-gone feeling, but something that they ate.

Of course, it is disillusioning to be told that we may be suffering from too much lobster Newburg instead of the grand passion and that we need is bicarbonate of soda instead of a marriage license or a divorce, but it lends interest to a discussion that the biochemists and dieticians have recently been having on the effect of love on the gastric juices.

According to a woman, who is a famous authority on the subject, love is more likely to ruin the digestion and the appetite than anything else and it has the soothing effect of a demolition bomb on the human system. This view, however, is contradicted by a man, evidently an idealist, who believe that being in love may lead people to a wholesome balanced diet, even to eating spinach. He even goes so far as to say that lovers may be so absorbed in each other that they will be unaware of what they are eating and will nibble on raw carrots instead of caviar canapes.

But, here is the catch in the argument: all the authorities seem to agree, that for love to be a good stomach tonic, it has to be serene and calm and happy. Otherwise it plays hob with digestion and not only upsets the stomach but the disposition.

CARRIES MESSAGE

This scientific investigation of the effect of food on love is of tremendous importance to women and carries a message and a warning to every girl who is thinking about getting married and to every woman who is already married.

For the thing that is most important to every woman who has a husband is not the state of his affections but the state of his digestion. If that's all right, she is assured of peace and comfort and prosperity and a fireside companion, whereas if he is half starved or fed on the food he abhors or is dyspeptic he will be cross, irritable, fault-finding and complaining, and a sorrel-headed bear will be pleasant to live with compared with him.

LEARNING TO COOK

Girls who put their faith in the theory that love is not only blind but tasteless, do not think it worth while to learn how to cook before marriage. They think that their own husbands will be so absorbed in adoring them that they will not know what they put in their mouths or be able to tell the difference between good and bad coffee; but alas, such is not the case. The first disillusionment that many a bridegroom gets is in discovering that Angel Face is a poor cook and by the time he gets through telling her what he thinks of leathery steaks and soggy pies and watery potatoes there is mighty little gilt left on the wedding cake.

It is common knowledge to one and all that a man puts his stomach in his wife's keeping when he gets married and that not only his health but his success depends upon the care she takes of it. If she feeds him on good nourishing food he will be going strong at middle age, but if he has to get up and cook his own breakfast and eat his dinner out of paper bags and tin cans he will be a nervous wreck before he is 40.

And he will have thrown away his good chances by being so cantankerous and quarrelsome that nobody could get along with him or by being made so pessimistic by indigestion that he couldn't see a good opportunity when it slapped him in the face.

So, ladies, take a tip from the dietitians. Look after your husbands' digestions and the other problems of marriage will look after themselves.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

One can understand the logic of a mother who thinks to teach her child the "feelings" of others by subjecting his to the same treatment he metes out. But, despite its seeming logic, this is not good training.

To illustrate: Mrs. T. N. B. says her three children, 3, 2½ and 2½, are all robust, healthy children who never have been ill and seem to possess twice a much "life" as most children.

"My husband and I pay a great deal of attention to them and they are, of course, the joy of our lives. But here is what has happened. My youngest has developed the hateful habit of biting other children. He does it without provocation. He has a very affectionate nature and seems to bite for no cause at all. In fact, he does it more often to children he doesn't know.

"I have bitten him back every time and have isolated him with no result. I enjoy association with my friends and this is most unfortunate.

"I am at the point now at which I don't know whether I should keep him away from children entirely (though this doesn't seem right). But if he keeps this up much longer he and I will both be outcasts.

Another mother has this same problem and we hope your advice will help us both.

"I must explain that the other children do not pick on him, so this is not done in self-defense."

This seems to you more terrible than it is, for you know, without being told, that the child is not doing this maliciously in order to hurt the other children. It is what is called attention-getting device, and it work well, for him.

He has no resentment against these children, but he wants to be noticed, and he wants to show them that he is noticing them. The bite certainly does the trick.

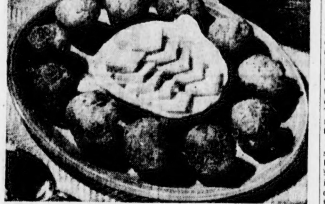

Your practice of biting back is reprehensible. Your behavior should be, always, an illustration of correct not revengeful attitudes. Since it is wrong for him to bite others it is doubly wrong for you to bite him, since obviously you ought to know better.

Watch him carefully. If you see him rush up to a child as if to bite, attract his attention elsewhere or else isolate him immediately with explanations.

But, to give him some outlet for the emotion he feels toward other children, suggest that he pat their cheeks, or squeeze their hands or put his arm around them. He has not learned the ways in which we show interest in others and those ways you must teach him. This behavior is of passing concern because children do learn quickly that it isn't liked or approved by anyone.

Our leaflet, "Good Manners," may be had by sending a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of this newspaper.

Budget-Wise Recipes Are Tempting, Nourishing

Guaranteed to bring youngsters hurrying home to lunch is this noon-time plate of applesauce muffins and American cheese—packed with nourishment and appealing to the youthful sweet tooth as well.

By MRS. RAYNOR JOHNS

Use enriched bread and enriched flour in all your children's menus to put vitamins and iron into their diet at no extra cost. Use whole grain products too, at least twice a day.

APPLESAUCE MUFFINS
(2½ dozen)

One-half cup shortening, ¼ cup sugar, ¾ cup light corn syrup, 2 eggs, ¾ cup applesauce, 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup chopped nuts.

Cream shortening and sugar together. Add corn syrup and beat well. Add beaten eggs. Add applesauce. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add to creamed mixture, stirring only enough to moisture flour. Add nuts. Bake in greased muffin pans in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

CORNMEAL MUSH
(Serves 4 to 6)

Three cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup whole ground cornmeal.

Bring water to boil, add salt when water is boiling briskly, slowly add whole ground cornmeal. Cook about 10 minutes. Pour into a loaf pan which has been rinsed with cold water. Let stand overnight. Slice when thick, and fry in good hot fat until brown on both sides. Bacon drippings are excellent for frying cornmeal mush.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Baked apples, cornmeal mush, corn syrup, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Vegetable salad, applesauce muffins, cheddar cheese, grapes, tea, milk.

Dinner: Tomato juice, beef and vegetable stew, brown rice, mixed greens salad, chocolate bread pudding, foamy lemon sauce, coffee, milk.

What To Do

9-14

Can you suggest a suitable wedding gift for a girl that marries a man who must return to camp? She will continue to work, and to live with her parents.

ANSWER—The question you ask is a difficult one, but after all, there are many girls doing just what you mention in your letter.

It seems to me, since they won't be housekeeping for awhile, that the most sensible gift would be somethings she could use even though she is living with her parents.

Bridge sets should be useful, ash trays, cocktail napkins, luncheon sets. In fact, anything that she would use in entertaining her friends, or that she could use in her room. An electric clock would be nice and she would probably be pleased with a piece of sterling silver to match her chosen pattern.

Beef Prices Are Further Reduced

OTTAWA, Sept. 14. — (CP) — A further drop in wholesale beef prices becomes effective Monday in line with the graduated seasonal reduction announced on June 25, officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board's food administration said last night.

The new scale of wholesale car case prices covers the period from Sept. 14 to Nov. 30, inclusive. Prices of beef quarters and cuts will also range correspondingly lower than those in the preceding period, Aug. 24 to Sept. 13.

Points For Parents

Mother: "Daughter, will you wash the dishes alone tonight so I can help Dad with his books?"

Mother: "If you'll do the dishes alone tonight, I'll let you go to the show twice next week."

Members of the family should render reasonable service to each other as a matter-of-course and not resort to bargaining.

Writing Letters Is Easy With Rules

"Still Writing That Letter?"

A letter needn't take such hours, perhaps losing them—because let. If you put off writing to friends—ters are such a hard task, follow a little plan in your writing.

First, a lot of "You." Write "What are you doing . . . Everyone asks about you."

And strike that warm flattering note right at the beginning, not starting with "I guess it's time to write you," but with "At last a chance to write you!"

Second, a little "Me." For, of course, friends want to hear about you. Tell about the fun you've had —partying, fixing up the living-room or teaching Fido a new trick.

Third, a dash of "They." Is there something to tell about mutual friends? There's sure to be—and there you are at the end of the sheet before you know it, writing "When will we see you again? Fondly yours—"

Knowing the simple rules you can write all sorts of letters with ease. Our 32-page booklet has 24 model letters—friendly, business and social—including invitations, thank-you notes, job applications. Gives pointers on vocabulary, letter etiquette.

Sends 15c in coins for your copy of "Good Letter-Writing Made Easy" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service Department, 60 Front Street West, Toronto, Ont. Be sure to write clearly and print Name, Address, and the Name of Booklet.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

An old familiar name to bridge players is that of Richard L. Frey, a member of the team who recently won the world championship Masters team-of-four title. Dick was one of the original members of The Four Aces. It looks as if he is really out to establish a record this year, as this is his third major victory of the year. Earlier in the year he won the national knockout team-of-four title for the Vanderbilt Cup and the Eastern States open pair championship.

Duplicate—Both vul.

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1♠	1♥
Pass	2♥	4♠	Pass

Opening—♥K. 14

Frey wins many points by making speculative doubles of low contracts. In today's hand he sat West. If you look at his hand alone and consider the bidding, you would think it problematical whether three clubs can be set. Karl has made only an overcall at the level of one. Supposing that he can win two tricks and West wins two aces, where is the setting trick to come from?

But the fact is that there is so much "body" to East's hand and so little to North's that the three-club contract is hopeless. Declarer actually went down 1100 points, though he had to play very badly to avoid winning six tricks.

Today I will try to explain to you the part which food plays in the cause and cureo f all common disorders.

Digestive Disorders: Are induced by various dietetic indiscretions, such as the use of foods hard to digest, inharmonious mixtures of even good food, over-eating, eating irregularly, and eating when exhausted by fatigue or nerve strain. These are the principal causes of the many digestive disturbances included in the term "Indigestion." The discomfort arising after the meal provides an immediate clue to the trouble.

Eczema: Is a skin disorder resulting from stomach hyper-acidity brought about by wrong food combinations. The effective treatment is the dietetic treatment which eliminates the digestive reasons for this persistent eruption.

Flatulence: Or excessive gas, is perhaps the most common symptom prevalent with every disease. Most people are literally "walking gas factories." Out of what can this stomach and intestinal gas be made, it not from food improperly used?

Goitre: Is characterized by an enlargement of the thyroid gland, owing to irritation. Two common causes are: a diet lacking in iodine and irritation of the gland by toxic wastes, created by dietetic errors.

Headashe: Is only a symptom, but is usually due either to an upset digestion or to biliousness. If you are troubled by repeated headaches then give thte necessary attention to your diet.

Heart Troubles: Are made worse by distention of the stomach either by gas or by too much food, which distention will cause a pressure up against the heart. Such gas-producing foods as onions, garlic, cooked cabbage, and baked beans must be entirely eliminated.

Insomnia: Or inability to sleep is commonly due to a digestive disturbance, accompanied by flatulence. Many people have learned by sad experience the close relationship between unwise eating and being unable to sleep, but others do not know that sound, restful sleep is best obtained when the digestive tract is free of those foods which help it to do its work peacefully.

Kidney Trouble: Is caused by diet which throws too heavy a burden upon this eliminative organ. Often there is present a sluggishness of the intestines, bringing about an absorption of poisons from the colon which causes excessive amounts of indican to appear in the liquid waste thrown off by the kidneys.

Rheumatism: Is mainly developed by a disordered metabolism, and the rehumatic patient seems to be unable to burn sugar and starch properly. Certainly, diet plays an important part in helping overcome the tendency to rheumatism.

Over-Weight: One of the principal causes of gain in weight and condition is the use in excess of starch, sugar and fatty foods. Reducing the weight is best accomplished by a change in diet.

I undertook a big task in trying to show you what an important factor food is in the production of many of the common disorders. I have not mentioned other contributing causes, but have emphasized only the dietetic causes, which I hope will give you a new viewpoint on the subject. If I have succeeded in encouraging you to eat more wisely, I shall be well satisfied for I firmly believe that health comes most of all from eating wisely.

All questions regarding Health and Diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, 1151 West 6th St., Los Angeles, Calif.

Fix Honey Price

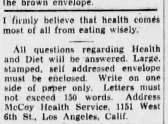

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(CP)—Maximum wholesale and retail selling prices for extracted honey and for pasteurized granulated honey have been fixed in an order issued by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board's foods administration.

As in the case of the recent order setting maximum prices on eggs, the primary object is to maintain uniformity of supplies in all sections of the dominion, the board said in a statement.

129 India Orphans On Hunger Strike

BOMBAY, Sept. 14.—(CP)—One hundred and twenty-nine orphans are on a hunger strike at the Lady Northcote Hindu Orphanage, protesting against what the demonstrators charge is maladministration of the institution by the Hindu superintendent. The children, in emulation of a familiar tactic of M. K. Gandhi, although their movement apparently has no political motive, refused their first meals Saturday.

Canada-U.S. Share Common Cause In War

VANCOUVER, Sept. 14.—Basis of the common cause of Canada and the United States is in "two words that will recur again and again, but go deep—we share," Mrs. Malbone W. Graham of Santa Monica, Calif., advisor to the chief of naval personnel in relation to the new women's corps in the United States navy, told the Women's Canadian Club here Saturday.

Her address, which was broadcast over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, was the first she will make in a tour of British Columbia under auspices of the Association of Canadian Clubs of Canada to foster mutual understanding between the two nations.

COMMON DANGER

"We share a coastline and the common danger as the thrust of aggression is toward us," Mrs. Graham said. "Increasingly we share the common defence—in Alaska, in the Canadian divisions, based on these shores in the convoying in the Atlantic. We hold a continent in joint responsibility, your country and mine.

Mrs. Graham said that in recent months the face of democracy, your government and mine have met problems and built a structure of co-operation such as we have never known before in our many years of living next door."

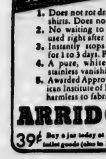

What had been achieved in months under pressure of common danger had not happened in years without it, but the strength of the new structure, both during the war and after it, "depends on the foundations in public understanding and public opinion in your country and mine."

District Officers Of Credit Unions To Meet Tonight

Edmonton and district Credit Union officers will meet in the Legislative Buildings at 8 p.m. Monday to consider the calling of a meeting at Red Deer at which the formation of a Credit Union League of Alberta will be discussed.

Father Briara, Edmonton, who has recently returned from Antigonish, N.S., where he studied Credit Union methods, will speak at Monday's meeting.

September 21 To Mark 2nd Birthday Shop

On September 21, the Red Cross Superfluity Shop, 10135 102 street will mark its second birthday, for it was just two years ago this month that the shop was organized. Since that time, proceeds from sales at the shop, amounting to $8,700 have been donated to the Red Cross Society for Empire Overseas work in aid of men in armed services, for refugees and for prisoners of war.

Of this amount, $3,100 has been given to a mobile kitchen fund for Great Britain; $2,500 to the Red Cross Campaign; $600 to the Navy Mothers' Club of Edmonton and the balance to the general funds of the Red Cross. Premises for the shop are donated by C. R. Frost, and all the workers are voluntary, with the result that 100% of sales go directly to the Red Cross.

During that time many Edmonton housewives have contributed articles of glassware, silver, china, embroidery and antique pieces to the shop. It is hoped that the generosity of Edmonton citizens during the past two years will be continued during the coming years.

Comprising the committee in charge of the shop are Mrs. Robert E. McLaughlin, Mrs. L. D. McLaurin, Mrs. Norman Fraser, Mrs. Angus McDonald, Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Mrs. W. C. McCormack, Mrs. O. F. Strong, Mrs. W. C. Inglis, Mrs. T. Harold Field, and Mrs. E. D. C. Thomson.

Concert Given At R.C.A.F. Depot Sunday

By permission of Wing Cmdr. W. G. Webber, officer commanding No. 3 "M" Depot, R.C.A.F., a concert was given in the sergeants' mess at the depot on Sunday evening. The concert, in which a number of well-known Edmonton artists took part, was given under the auspices of the War Services' Entertainment Board. Mrs. Richard MacDonald was director.

Artists appearing in the variety program presented include Miss Jeanette Paul, soprano; Miss Norma Madill, contralto; Miss Betty Cairney and Miss Joy Dobie, Scotch dancers; Miss Betty Freeman, acrobatic and tap dancer; Jack Jones, comedian, Philip Knowles, baritone and Piper Alan Mitchell. Miss Alice Mitchell, who was accompanist, also played a pianoforte solo.

Following the concert, the artists were entertained in the sergeants' mess. Sgt. Major Chudley, R.C.A.F., was in charge of arranging the program and was master of ceremonies.

TO MAKE HOME AT INNISFAIL

Pictured shortly after their marriage Saturday evening in St. Stephen's College chapel are Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Gillis. The bride is the former Miss Elsie Mary McCall, only daughter of the Rev. Dr. F. S. McCall and Mrs. McCall of this city, and the bridegroom is the only son of Mr. Duncan John Gillis and the late Mrs. Gillis, also of Edmonton. The couple will reside at Innisfail.

Elsie McCall and John Gillis Are Married in College Chapel

TALL white candles cast a soft glow over the interior of St. Stephen's College chapel on Saturday evening, when Elsie Mary, only daughter of the Rev. Dr. F. S. McCall, Principal of Alberta College, Edmonton, and Mrs. McCall, became the bride of Mr. John Joseph Gillis, only son of Mr. Duncan John Gillis and the late Mrs. Gillis of Edmonton. Gladioli in pastel shades were arranged artistically on altar and chancel rail. The bride's father, the Rev. Dr. McCall, assisted by the Rev. A. K. McMinn, officiated.

Both bride and bridegroom are well-known in Edmonton circles here, the former having graduated with her B.A. degree, and the latter having obtained his B.Sc. degree in 1938. The bride is also a graduate of the College of Education.

Capt. Robert Pearson escorted the bride to the altar. She was a dainty figure in her white ciré slipper length gown, cut on princess lines with three quarter length sleeves, and trimming of lace and beadwork. Her chapel veil was held in place by gladioli and pink cornflowers. Her only piece of jewelry was a strand of pearls, and she carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli and pink cornflowers.

An only attendant, Miss Anna Gillis, was a pretty picture in her floor length gown of sunset rose crepe. The skirt was cut on the waist tightly fitted, and she wore a bolero jacket. Her shoulder length veil matched her dress, and a cluster of yellow gladioli and pink cornflower was pinned to her hair in the front. She carried an arm bouquet of the same.

Sgt. Pilot Frank McCall, R.C.A.F., brother of the bride, was best man. Miss Kathleen Busby sang "Ave Maria" and "Still as the Night" and Miss Helen Porter was organist.

Mr. Richard Woodsworth ushered the guests to their places.

AT THE RECEPTION

Sweetpeas and roses in soft pastel shades were arranged in the dining room of the bride's home for the reception which followed immediately after the ceremony. Mrs. McCall received in a formal gown of midnight blue, princess style, and with a corsage of talisman roses at her shoulder. Miss Florence Todd, of Calgary, aunt of the bride, was also in the receiving line. She was smart in a dark red dress with matching hat and corsage of cream and red roses.

The reception table was lighted by white tapers and graced with fragrant cut flowers. Centred by the bridal cake, the table was set with an Italian embroidered cloth.

For her wedding trip to Banff the bride changed to a beige tweed suit with rust accessories and corsage of red-rust dahlias with dark green cedar.

The couple will make their home at Innisfail, Alberta. The bridegroom is a chief navigation instructor at No. 32 E.F.T.S., Bowden, Alta.

Europeans, Canucks Rub Shoulders In Halifax Restaurants

HALIFAX, Sept. 14. — (CP) — Lunch hour is a glamorous time for the working girl in Halifax, once the preliminary of elbowing her way through wartime mobs to a table is over.

In a city whose population has doubled in three years with but slight increase in the number of restaurants, the mid-day hour can no longer be considered a period of rest, but there are compensations for a person who likes to watch what's going on around her.

There's never a problem of finding a lunch partner, for nowadays

BY JOAN STEEL

WINNIPEG, Sept. 14.—(CP)—"They're not all so tall, but they're strong," a male member of the Canadian army provost corps observed cautiously as he watched 72 potential army policewomen training at Fort Osborne barracks here.

The provosts comprise the newest branch of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, with girls carefully selected from every military district in the Dominion participating in training classes.

The first provost class started training in August. The complete course takes four weeks and at the end of that time the C.W.A.C. will have the first graduate class of women qualified to deal with the discipline of girls in the armed forces. Their authority extends to women in the naval and air services as well as the army.

TEMPERAMENT COUNTS

Qualifications for a provost include a good physical build and a suitable temperament, defined by officers as embodying the characteristics of leadership, tact, firmness and the ability to make quick decisions. A grade nine standing in education is preferred. Physical qualifications do not depend on height for the girls range from five feet two inches to six feet.

The police branch of the service has a wide appeal. Pte. Olive Wallace, of Punnichy, Sask. confessed she has always wanted to be a policeman. Pte. M. M. Ruddy of Toronto came to the corps with previous experience gained as a police photographer with the Ontario government. For Pte. B. Schreiner of Toronto, joining the provosts was a matter of keeping up family tradition as her father is with the military police. Pte. E. M. Robinson of Regina, said she had been chosen because of her ability in chasing people off C.W.A.C. property during her basic training days.

Traffic control, psychology, pistol shooting and unarmed combat are only a few of the trainees' subjects with the latter two the general favorites. Maj. W. A. Jones, assistant provost marshal for M.D. No. 10, informed his class in a lecture on arrests that "a soldier must be sober before being brought up before his commanding officer."

BRACELETS, TOO

Handcuffs which are part of the policewomen's standard equipment were passed around for examination. The inevitable happened when L. Cpl. Lucume Hamel of Quebec City proved their efficiency by locking herself in. Sgt. Maj. J. Stocks came to her rescue with a key.

Classes in Judo-wrestling or unarmed combat are conducted by Sgt-Maj. Stocks. The different holds are carefully demonstrated and practiced.

During their four weeks' training in Winnipeg, future army policewomen are entertained by shows, dances, boat trips and corn roasts arranged by the Greater Winnipeg War Services Co-ordinating Board and the Young Women's Christian Association.

the thing to do is to take the first empty seat at a table. The stranger soon becomes talkative and turns out to be an Ottawa woman who thinks Nova Scotian weather tantalish." A sent torn between the contending claims of an engineering course and the Air Force, a housewife worried over the casualties at Dieppe, or some exile from Europe struggling with the mysteries of English pronunciation. And that's the way it is, almost any day. Through the doors, there comes in uniform or civilian clothing, men and women from all the provinces of Canada and many countries of Europe.

Miss E. Hart Is Honored at Many Parties

MISS EVELYN HART, whose marriage to Mr. James Coulson of Winnipeg will take place Saturday, has been a guest-of-honor at a number of entertainments within the past few weeks. First to entertain for the bride-to-be were Mrs. Creighton Dobson, Mrs. Harvey Dorey and Mrs. Alan Henry who were hostesses at a breakfast party at Mrs. Dobson's home.

Miss Genevieve Boyle and Miss Evelyn Kinnear entertained for a number of guests at the Purple Lantern on Saturday, and Sunday Miss Anna Gillis arranged a breakfast party at the Macdonald hotel.

The bride-to-be will be feted Monday evening at the Garneau home of Miss Roberta Collins, and Tuesday, Miss Alberta Hastie is planning a party at her suite in the Annamoe Apts.

Aircraft Workers Entertain 400 At Saturday Dance

Central Masonic Temple was bright with patriotic decorations on Saturday evening, when 400 members and guests of Northgate Lodge, No. 1598, recently organized aircraft workers' union, gathered for dancing.

Old time and modern music, tags, spot and other novelty dances supplied the evening's entertainment.

In charge of arrangements were: Mr. Arthur L. Howard, chairman; Miss Ruth A. D. Moore, secretary; Mrs. Alice L. Kemp, Mr. Wilson Condy, Mr. Adrian Guenette, Mr. Walter Gray, Mr. Roy J. A. Payne and Mr. R. W. Preus, president.

Miss Edith Hilton, Miss Ruth Moore and Mr. Roy Payne arranged decorations for the hall.

Poor Digestion Ruins Many Marriages Today

If Husband Becomes a Pessimist Wife Should Watch What She Feeds Him; Good Meals Lead To Family Peace And Comfort

Perhaps, after all, the Orientals have a truer conception of love than we westerners when they locate the seat of the tender emotions in the liver instead of in the heart, as we do. The Turkish Clark Gable, for instance, does not address his best girl as the darling of my heart. He calls her the joy of his liver. No doubt when the lady proves unresponsive he does not upbraid her for breaking his heart.

To the unthinking, especially to those who are oldish, it may seem unimportant. Nevertheless, dieticians have taken the matter up and are investigating the effect of love upon digestion. They seem to have come to the conclusion that it is not romance that quickens the pulses or gives to the sentimental, that all-gone feeling, but something that they ate.

Of course, it is disillusioning to be told that we may be suffering from too much lobster Newburg instead of the grand passion and that what we need is bicarbonate of soda instead of a marriage license or a divorce, but it lends interest to a discussion that the biochemists and dieticians have recently been having on the effect of love on the gastric juices.

According to a woman, who is a famous authority on the subject, love is more likely to ruin the digestion and the appetite than anything else and it has the soothing effect of a demolition bomb on the human system. This view, however, is contradicted by a man, evidently an idealist, who believe that being in love may lead people to a wholesome balanced diet, even to eating spinach. He even goes so far as to say that lovers may be so absorbed in each other that they will be unaware of what they are eating and will nibble on raw carrots instead of caviar canapes.

But, here is the catch in the argument: all the authorities seem to agree, that for love to be a good stomach tonic, it has to be serene and calm and happy. Otherwise it plays hob with digestion and not only upsets the stomach but the disposition.

CARRIES MESSAGE

This scientific investigation of the effect of food on love is of tremendous importance to women and carries a message and a warning to every girl who is thinking about getting married and to every woman who is already married.

For the thing that is most important for every woman who has a husband is not the state of his affections but the state of his digestion. If that's all right, she is assured of peace and comfort and prosperity and a fireside companion, whereas if he is half starved or fed on the food he abhors or is dyspeptic he will be cross, irritable, fault-finding and complaining, and a sore-headed bear will be pleasant to live with compared with him.

LEARNING TO COOK

Girls who put their faith in the theory that love is not only blind but tasteless, do not think it worth while to learn how to cook before marriage. They think that their own husbands will be so absorbed in adoring them that they will not know what they put in their mouths or be able to tell the difference between good and bad coffee; but alas, such is not the case. The first disillusionment that many a bridegroom gets is in discovering that Angel Face is a poor cook and by the time he gets through telling her what he thinks of leathery steaks and soggy pies and watery potatoes there is mighty little gilt left on the wedding cake.

It is common knowledge to one and all that a man puts his stomach in his wife's keeping when he gets married and that not only his health but his success depends upon the care she takes of it. If she feeds him on good nourishing food he will be going strong at middle age, but if he has to get up and cook his own breakfast and get his dinner out of paper bags and tin cans he will be a nervous wreck before he is 40.

And he will have thrown away his good chances by being so cantankerous and quarrelsome that nobody could get along with him or by being made so pessimistic by indigestion that he couldn't see a good opportunity when it slapped him in the face.

So, ladies, take a tip from the dieticians. Look after your husbands' digestions and the other problems of marriage will look after themselves.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

One can understand the logic of a mother who thinks to teach her child the "feelings" of others by subjecting his to the same treatment he metes out. But, despite its seeming logic, this is not good training.

To illustrate: Mrs. T. N. B. says her three children, 5, 3½ and 2½, are all robust, healthy children who never have been ill and seem to possess twice as much "life" as most children.

"My husband and I pay a great deal of attention to them and they are, of course, the joy of our lives. But here is what has happened. My youngest has developed the hateful habit of biting other children. He does it without provocation. He has a very affectionate nature and seems to bite for no cause at all. In fact, he does it more often to children he doesn't know.

"I have bitten him back every time and have isolated him with no result. I enjoy association with my friends and this is most unfortunate.

"I am at the point now at which I don't know whether I should keep him away from children entirely (though this doesn't seem right). But if he keeps this up much longer he and I will both be outcasts. Another mother has this same problem and we hope your advice will help us both.

"I must explain that the other children do not pick on him, so this is not done in self-defense."

This seems to you more terrible than it is, for you know, without being told, that the child is not doing this maliciously in order to hurt the other children. This is what is called an attention-getting device, and it work well, for him.

He has no resentment against these children, but he wants to be noticed, and he wants to show them that he is noticing them. The bite certainly does the trick.

Your practice of biting back is reprehensible. Your behavior should be, always, an illustration of correct not revengeful attitudes. Since it is wrong for him to bite others it is doubly wrong for you to bite him, since obviously you ought to know better.

Watch him carefully. If you see him rush up to a child as if to bite, attract his attention elsewhere or else isolate him immediately with explanations.

But, to give him some outlet for the emotion he feels toward other children, suggest that he pat their cheeks, or squeeze their hands or put his arm around them. He has not learned the ways in which we show interest in others and those ways you must teach him. This behavior is of passing concern because children do learn quickly that it isn't liked or approved by anyone.

Our leaflet, "Good Manners," may be had by sending a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of this newspaper.

Budget-Wise Recipes Are Tempting, Nourishing

Guaranteed to bring youngsters hurrying home to lunch is this noontime plate of applesauce muffins and American cheese—packed with nourishment and appealing to the youthful sweet tooth as well.

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Use enriched bread and enriched flour in all your children's menus to put vitamins and iron into their diet at no extra cost. Use whole grain products too, at least twice a day.

APPLESAUCE MUFFINS
(2½ dozen)

One-half cup shortening, ¼ cup sugar, ¾ cup light corn syrup, 2 eggs, ¾ cup applesauce, 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup chopped nuts.

Cream shortening and sugar together. Add corn syrup and beat well. Add beaten eggs. Add applesauce. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add to creamed mixture, stirring only enough to moisten flour. Add nuts. Bake in greased muffin pans in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

CORNMEAL MUSH
(Serves 4 to 6)

Three cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup whole ground cornmeal.

Bring water to boil, add salt when water is boiling briskly, slowly add whole ground cornmeal. Cook about 10 minutes. Pour into a loaf pan which has been rinsed with cold water. Let stand overnight. Slice ½-inch thick, and fry in good hot fat until brown on both sides. Bacon drippings are excellent for frying cornmeal mush.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Baked apples, cornmeal mush, corn syrup, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Vegetable salad, applesauce muffins, cheddar cheese, grapes, tea, milk.

What To Do

Can you suggest a suitable wedding gift for a girl that marries a man who must return to camp? She will continue to work, and to live with her parents.

ANSWER—The question you ask is a difficult one, but after all, there are many girls doing just what you mention in your letter.

It seems to me, since they won't be housekeeping for awhile, that the most sensible gift would be somethings she could use even though she is living with her parents.

Bridge sets should be useful, ash trays, cocktail napkins, luncheon sets. In fact, anything that she would use in entertaining her friends, or that she could use in her room. An electric clock would be nice and she would probably be pleased with a piece of sterling silver to match her chosen pattern.

ICY GREENLAND

Greenland, with the exception of a narrow coastal strip, is covered with a coat of ice 5,000 feet thick. This enormous ice cap is about 1,500 miles long and 630 miles wide.

Writing Letters Is Easy With Rules

"Still Writing That Letter?"

A letter needn't take such hours! perhaps losing them—because letters! If you put off writing to friends—it's are such a hard task, follow a little plan in your writing.

First, a lot of "You." Write "What are you doing . . . Everyone asks about you."

And strike that warm flattering note right at the beginning, not starting with "I guess it's time to write you," but with "At last a chance to write you!"

Second, a little "Me." For, of course, friends want to hear about you. Tell about the fun you've had —partying, fixing up the living-room or teaching Fido a new trick.

Third, a dash of "They." Is there something to tell about mutual friends? There's sure to be—and there you are at the end of the sheet before you know it, writing "When will we see you again? Fondly yours—"

Knowing the simple rules you can write all sorts of letters with ease. Our 32-page booklet has 24 model letters—friendly, business and social—including invitations, thank-you notes, job applications. Gives pointers on vocabulary, letter etiquette.

Sends 15c in coins for your copy of "Good Letter-Writing Made Easy" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service Department, 60 Front Street West, Toronto, Ont. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address, and the Name of Booklet.

McKenney On Bridge

America's Card Authority

An old familiar name to bridge players is that of Richard L. Frey, a member of the team who recently won the world championship Masters team-of-four title. Dick was one of the original members of The Four Aces. It looks as if he is really out to establish a record this year, as this is his third major victory of the year. Earlier in the year he won the national knockout team-of-four title for the Vanderbilt Cup and the Eastern States open pair championship.

Frey wins many points by making speculative doubles of low contracts. In today's hand he sat West. If you look at his hand alone and consider the bidding, you would think it problematical whether three clubs can be set. East has made only one overcall at the level of one. Supposing that he can win two tricks and West wins two aces, where is the setting trick to come from?

But the fact is that there is so much "body" to East's hand and so little to North's that the three-club contract is hopeless. Declarer actually went down 1100 points, though he had to play very badly to avoid winning six tricks.

Beef Prices Are Further Reduced

OTTAWA, Sept. 14. — (CP) — A further drop in wholesale beef prices becomes effective Monday in line with the graduated seasonal reduction announced on June 25 officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board's food administration said last night.

The new scale of wholesale carcass prices covers the period from Sept. 14 to Nov. 30, inclusive. Prices of beef quarters and cuts will also range correspondingly lower than those in the preceding period, Aug. 24 to Sept. 13.

Points For Parents'

By EDYTH THOMAS WALLACE

Mother: "Daughter, will you wash the dishes alone tonight so I can help Dad with his books."

Mother: "If you'll do the dishes alone tonight, I'll let you go to the show twice next week."

Members of the family should render reasonable service to each other as a matter-of-course and not resort to bargaining.

McCoy Health Service

Today I will try to explain to you the part which food plays in the cause and cure of all common disorders.

Digestive Disorders: Are induced by various dietetic indiscretions, such as the use of foods hard to digest, inharmonious mixtures of even good food, over-eating, eating irregularly, and eating when exhausted by fatigue or nerve strain. These are the principal causes of the many digestive disturbances included in the term "Indigestion." The discomfort arising after the meal provides an immediate clue to the trouble.

Eczema: Is a skin disorder resulting from stomach hyper-acidity brought about by wrong food combinations. The effective treatment is the dietetic treatment which eliminates the digestive reasons for this persistent eruption.

Flatulence: Or excessive gas, is perhaps the most common symptom prevalent with every disease. Most people are literally "walking gas factories." Out of what can this stomach and intestinal gas be made, it not from food improperly used?

Goitre: Is characterized by an enlargement of the thyroid gland, owing to irritation. Two common causes are: a diet lacking in iodine and irritation of the gland by toxic wastes, created by dietetic errors.

Headache: Is only a symptom, but is usually due either to an upset digestion or to biliousness. If you are troubled by repeated headaches then give the necessary attention to your diet.

Heart Troubles: Are made worse by distention of the stomach either by gas or by too much food, which distention will cause a pressure up against the heart. Such gas-producing foods as onions, garlic, cooked cabbage, and baked beans must be entirely eliminated.

Insomnia: Or inability to sleep is commonly due to a digestive disturbance, accompanied by flatulence. Many people have learned by sad experience the close relationship between unwise eating and being unable to sleep, but others do not know that sound, restful sleep is best obtained when the digestive tract is fed those foods which help it to do its work peacefully.

Kidney Trouble: Is caused by diet which throws too heavy a burden upon this eliminative organ. Often there is present a sluggishness of the intestines, bringing about an absorption of poisons from the colon which causes excessive amounts of indican to appear in the liquid waste thrown off by the kidneys.

Rheumatism: Is mainly developed by a disordered metabolism, and the rheumatic patient seems to be unable to burn sugar and starch properly. Certainly, diet plays an important part in helping overcome the tendency to rheumatism.

Over-Weight: One of the principal causes of an over-weight condition is the use in excess of starch, sugar and fatty foods. Reducing the weight is best accomplished by a change in diet.

I undertook a big task in trying to show you what an important factor food is in the production of many of the common disorders. I have not mentioned other contributing causes, but have emphasized only the dietetic causes, which I hope will give you a new viewpoint on the subject. If I have succeeded in encouraging you to eat more wisely, I shall be well satisfied for I firmly believe that health comes most of all from eating wisely.

All questions regarding Health and Diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, 1151 West 6th St., Los Angeles, Calif.

Fix Honey Price

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—(CP)—Maximum wholesale and retail selling prices for extracted honey and for pasteurized granulated honey have been fixed in an order issued by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board's foods administration.

As in the case of the recent order setting maximum prices on eggs, the primary object is to maintain uniformity of supplies in all sections of the dominion, the board said in a statement.

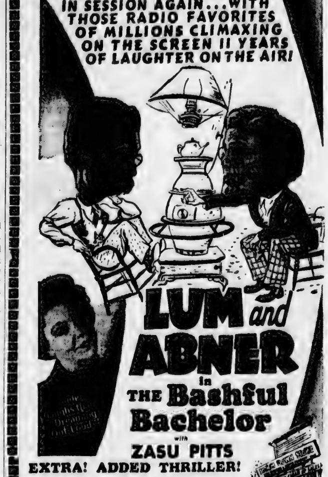

129 India Orphans On Hunger Strike

BOMBAY, Sept. 14.—(CP)—One hundred and twenty-nine orphans are on a hunger strike at the Lady Northcote Hindu Orphanage, protesting against what the demonstrators charge is maladministration of the institution by the Hindu superintendent. The children, in emulation of a familiar tactic of M. K. Gandhi, although their movement apparently has no political motive, refused their first meals Saturday.

Canada-U.S. Share Common Cause In War

VANCOUVER, Sept. 14.—Basis of the common cause of Canada and the United States is in "two words that will never end and that go deep—we share," Mrs. Malbone W. Graham of Santa Monica, Calif., advisor to the chief of naval personnel in relation to the new women's corps in the United States navy, told the Women's Canadian Club here Saturday.

Her address, which was broadcast over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, was the first she will make in a tour of British Columbia under auspices of the Association of Canadian Clubs of Canada to foster mutual understanding between the two nations.

COMMON DANGER

"We share a coastline and the common danger as the thrust of aggression is toward us," Mrs. Graham said. "Increasingly we share the common defence—in Alaska, in the Canada-Pacific divisions. Soon these shores in the convoying in the Atlantic. We hold a continent in joint responsibility, your country and mine.

Mrs. Graham said that in recent months "in the face of danger" naval government and mine have met problems and built a structure of co-operation such as we have never known before in our many years of living next door."

What had been achieved in months under pressure of common danger had not happened in years without it, but the strength of the new structure, both during the war and after it, "depends on the foundations in public understanding and public opinion in your country and mine."

September 21 To Mark 2nd Birthday Shop

On September 21, the Red Cross Superfluity Shop, 10135 102 street will mark its second birthday, for it was just two years ago this month that the shop was organized. Since that time, proceeds from sales at the shop, amounting to $8,700 have been donated to the Red Cross Society for its wartime program of work in aid of men in armed services, for refugees and for prisoners of war.

Of this amount, $3,100 has been given to a mobile kitchen fund for Great Britain; $2,500 to the Red Cross Campaign, $500 to the Navy Mothers' Club of Edmonton and the balance to the general funds of the Red Cross. Premises for the shop are donated by C. R. Frost, and all the workers are voluntary, with the result that 100% of sales go directly to the Red Cross.

During that time many Edmonton housewives have contributed articles of glassware, silver, china, embroidery and antique pieces to the shop. It is hoped that the generosity of Edmonton citizens during the past two years will be continued during the coming years.

Comprising the committee in charge of the shop are Mrs. Robert E. McLaughlin, Mrs. L. D. McLaurin, Mrs. Robert Pearson, Mrs. Angus McDonald, Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Mrs. W. C. McCormack, Mrs. O. F. Strong, Mrs. Ian Inglis, Mrs. T. Harold Field, and Mrs. E. D. C. Thomson.

Concert Given At R.C.A.F. Depot Sunday

By permission of Wing Cmdr. W. G. Webber, officer commanding No. 3 "M" Depot, R.C.A.F., a concert was given in the sergeants' mess at the depot on Sunday evening. The concert, in which a number of well-known Edmonton artists took part, was given under the auspices of the War Services Entertainment Board. Mrs. Richard MacDonald was director.

Artists appearing in the variety program presented include Miss Jeanette Paul, soprano; Miss Norma Madill, contralto; Miss Betty Cairney and Miss Joy Doble, Scotch dancers; Miss Betty Freeman, acrobatic and tap dancer; Jack Jones, comedian, Philip Knowles, baritone and Piper Alan Mitchell. Miss Alice Mitchell, who was accompanist, also played a pianoforte solo.

Following the concert, the artists were entertained in the sergeants' mess. Sgt. Major Chudley, R.C.A.F., was in charge of arranging the program and was master of ceremonies.

TO MAKE HOME AT INNISFAIL

Pictured shortly after their marriage Saturday evening in St. Stephen's College chapel are Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Gillis. The bride is the former Miss Elsie Mary McCall, only daughter of the Rev. Dr. F. S. McCall and Mrs. McCall of this city, and the bridegroom is the only son of Mr. Duncan John Gillis and the late Mrs. Gillis, also of Edmonton. The couple will reside at Innisfail.

Elsie McCall and John Gillis Are Married in College Chapel

TALL white candles cast a soft glow over the interior of St. Stephen's College chapel on Saturday evening, when Elsie Mary, only daughter of the Rev. Dr. F. S. McCall, Principal of Alberta College, Edmonton, and Mrs. McCall, became the bride of Mr. John Joseph Gillis, only son of Mr. Duncan John Gillis and the late Mrs. Gillis of Edmonton. Gladioli in pastel shades were arranged artistically on altar and chancel rail. The bride's father, the Rev. Dr. McCall, assisted by the Rev. A. K. McMinn, officiated.

Both bride and bridegroom are well-known in University circles here, the former having graduated with her B.A. degree, and the latter having obtained his B.Sc. degree in 1938. The bride is also a graduate of the College of Education.

Capt. Robert Pearson escorted the bride to the altar. Her dainty figure in her white crepe, slipper length gown, cut on princess lines with three quarter length sleeves, and long skirt, was a beadwork. Her chapel veil was held in place by gladioli and pink cornflowers. Her only piece of jewelry was a strand of pearls, and she carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli and pink cornflowers.

An only attendant, Miss Anna Gills, was a pretty picture in her floor length gown of sunset rose crepe. The skirt was cut full, the waist tightly fitted, and she wore a bolero jacket. Her shoulder-length veil matched her gown, and a cluster of yellow gladioli and blue cornflower was pinned to her hair in the front. She carried an arm bouquet of the same.

Sgt. Pilot Frank McCall, R.C.A.F., brother of the bride, was best man. Miss Kathleen Busby sang "Ave Maria" and "Still as the Night", and Miss Helen Porter was organist.

Mr. Richard Woodsworth ushered the guests to their places.

AT THE RECEPTION

Sweetpeas and roses in soft pastel shades were arranged in the dining room of the bride's home for the reception which followed immediately after the ceremony. Mrs. McCall received in a formal gown of midnight blue, princess style, and with a corsage of talisman roses at her shoulder. Miss Florence Todd, of Calgary, aunt of the bride, was also in the receiving line. She was smart in a dark red dress with matching hat and corsage of cream and red roses.

The reception table was lighted by white taper candles and graced with fragrant cut flowers. Centred by the bridal cake, the table was set with an Italian embroidered cloth.

For her wedding trip to Banff the bride changed to a beige tweed suit with rust accessories and corsage of red-rust dahlias with dark green cedar.

The couple will make their home at Innisfail, Alberta. The bridegroom is a chief navigation instructor at No. 32 E.F.T.S., Bowden, Alta.

Europeans, Canucks Rub Shoulders In Halifax Restaurants

HALIFAX, Sept. 14. — (CP) — Lunch hour is a glamorous time for the working girl in Halifax, once the preliminary of elbowing her way through wartime mobs to a table is over.

In a city whose population has doubled in three years with but slight increase in the number of restaurants, the mid-day hour can no longer be considered a period of rest, but there are compensations for a person who likes to watch what's going on around her.

There's never a problem of finding a lunch partner, for nowadays

Relieves Distress From Monthly FEMALE WEAKNESS

And Helps Build Up Red Blood!

Thousands upon thousands of women and girls who suffer from functional monthly disturbances—headache, backache, cramps, distress of "irregularities", nervous, tired, blue, weak feelings—have obtained most gratifying relief by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets (with added iron).

Pinkham's Tablets not only relieve such distress, they also help build up resistance against it. They help build up red blood! Made in Canada.

By JOAN STEEL

WINNIPEG, Sept. 14.—(CP)—"They're not all so tall, but they're strong," a male member of the Canadian army provost corps observed cautiously as he watched 72 potential army policewomen training at Fort Osborne barracks here.

The provosts comprise the newest branch of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, with girls carefully selected from every military district in the Dominion participating in training classes.

The first provost class started training in August. The complete course takes four weeks and at the end of that time the C.W.A.C. will have the first graduate class of women qualified to deal with the discipline of girls in the armed forces. Their authority extends to women in the naval and air services as well as the army.

TEMPERAMENT COUNTS

Qualifications for a provost include a good physical build and a suitable temperament, defined by officers as embodying the characteristics of leadership, tact, firmness and the ability to make quick decisions. A grade nine standing in education is preferred. Physical qualifications do not depend on height for the girls range from five feet two inches to six feet.

The police branch of the service has a wide appeal. Pte. Olive Wallace, of Punnichy, Sask., confessed she has always wanted to be a policeman. Pte. M. M. Ruddy, of Toronto came to the corps with previous experience gained as a police photographer with the Ontario government. For Pte. B. Schriener of Toronto, joining the provosts was a matter of keeping up family tradition as her father is with the military police. Pte. E. M. Robinson of Regina, said she had been chosen because of her ability in chasing people off C.W.A.C. property during her basic training days.

Traffic control, psychology, pistol shooting and unarmed combat are only a few of the trainees' subjects with the latter two the general favorites. Maj. W. A. Jones, assistant provost marshal for M.D. No. 10, informed his class in a lecture on arrests that "a soldier must be closer before being brought up before his commanding officer."

BRACELETS, TOO

Handcuffs which are part of the policewomen's standard equipment were passed around for examination. The inevitable happened when L. Cpl. Lucume Hamel of Quebec City proved their efficiency by locking herself in. Sgt. Maj. J. Stocks came to her rescue with a key.

Classes in judo-wrestling or unarmed combat are conducted by Sgt.-Maj. Stocks. The different holds are carefully demonstrated and practiced.

During their four weeks' training in Winnipeg, future army policewomen are entertained by shows, dances, boat trips and corn roasts arranged by the Greater Winnipeg War Services Co-ordinating Board and the Young Women's Christian Association.

But the masculine character of the training leads to complications. One fleeting Dan Cupid, provost staff officer at Fort Osborne, concerns a girl provost who smokes a pipe—and enjoys it.

Miss E. Hart Is Honored at Many Parties

MISS EVELYN HART, whose marriage to Mr. James Coulson of Winnipeg will take place Saturday, has been a guest-of-honor at a number of entertainments within the past few weeks. First to entertain for the bride-to-be were Mrs. Creighton Dobush, Mrs. Harvey Day and Mrs. Alan Henry who were hostesses at a breakfast party at Mrs. Dobush's home.

Miss Genevieve Boyle and Miss Evelyn Kinnear entertained for a number of guests at the Purple Lantern on Saturday, and Sunday Miss Anna Gillis arranged a breakfast party at the Macdonald hotel.

The bride-to-be will be feted Monday evening at the Garneau home of Miss Roberta Collins, and Tuesday, Miss Alberta Hastie is planning a party at her suite in the Annamoe Apts.

Aircraft Workers Entertain 400 At Saturday Dance

Central Masonic Temple was bright with patriotic decorations on Saturday evening, when 400 members and guests of Northgate Lodge, No. 1579, recently organized aircraft workers' union, gathered for dancing.

Old time and modern music, tags, spot and other novelty dances supplied the evening's entertainment.

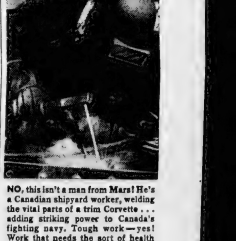

In charge of arrangements were: Mr. Arthur L. Howard, chairman; Miss Ruth A. D. Moore, secretary; Mrs. Alice L. Kemp, Mr. Wilson Conoly, Mr. Adrian Guennette, Mr. Walter Gray, Mr. Roy J. A. Payne and Mr. R. W. Preus, president.

Miss Edith Hilton, Miss Ruth Moore and Mr. Roy Payne arranged decorations for the hall.

Ottawa Believes Taxes in Canada Are Now at Limit

SUDBURY, Ont., Sept. 14.—(CP)—Col. C. W. Gibson, minister of national revenue, declared here yesterday taxes in Canada are now as high as the people can afford to pay, in the opinion of the government.

Here during an inspection trip of all customs and income tax offices, Col. Gibson said the imposition of taxes beyond a certain point would be unjust to some citizens because of the medical expenses, mortgage payments and other financial obligations they will have to meet.

"That is why," he said, "the government has planned to raise about half of its expenses through taxes and half by loans."

Real Progress Is Accompanied By Suffering

All progress involves suffering and in order to combat a sense of futility, it is necessary for us to take the Christian view of the universe, the Rev. E. S. Ottley, rector of Christ church, Anglican, declared in his Sunday morning sermon, which was entitled "The Sense of Futility."

"This discouragement is produced by the monotony of the average life, and such things as this war, which seems to contradict the upward striving of man," he said.

The Christian outlook is that events are not accidents, but the product of a reason, and they work to the fulfillment of a sublime purpose.

"Man has risen to meet this purpose, although his moral achievement has lagged far behind," he said. "Yet the purpose is working out slowly, and it is our part to grasp the things that will bring it about, and to remain in line with God's will. If we do that, life will regain its meaning."

City Teacher Dies In Eastern Canada

Miss Leila Hueston, who had been a member of the public school teaching staff in Edmonton for more than 25 years, died Friday at the home of relatives in London, Ontario.

Miss Hueston was on the staff of Oliver intermediate school. In 1938, she was delegate to the annual conference of the Business and Professional Women's club in Budapest.

On her return to Edmonton, she organized relief efforts to help refugees being sent to the Peace River country. She is also remembered for her work with the Chinese War Relief society.

The funeral services will be held in London, Ontario.

Seven Divorces

Seven decrees absolute of divorce were granted in supreme court Monday by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald. The decrees were given to: Florence Howard from Horace H. Howard; Lois R. Anderson from Rolf N. Anderson; Francis A. Rispler from Annie Rispler; Gail B. Gregg from Abbie Louise Gregg; Ethel M. Robison from Jesse Harold Robison; Mary B. Smith from David W. Smith and John A. Nichols from Lillian A. Smith. Decrees nisi of divorce were granted to Albertine Spillman from Alexander Spillman and John Maudie from Pearl E. Maudie.

Each year, 5,000,000 gallons of paint are used in the United States to keep motorists on the right side of the road.

3 Persons Hurt In 18 Mishaps Over Week-End

Three persons were slightly injured in two of 18 accidents that occurred on city streets at the week-end. None of the injuries were sufficiently serious to warrant hospital treatment. Those injured were:

Mrs. Helen Wispinski, Andrew, Alta., abrasions to the knees.

Mrs. G. L. Higgins, 9938 108 street, bruised shoulder.

Arthur Woida, 11818 67 street, injured knee and cuts to hand.

Mrs. Wispinski and Mrs. Higgins were injured in an accident at the intersection of 97 street and 128 avenue at 12:20 p.m. Sunday when cars driven by their husbands collided.

HEAVY DAMAGE

Total damage to the two cars was estimated by police at well over $100, with the Higgins car more seriously damaged.

According to the report given city traffic police, Wispinski who was in the act of turning off 97 street to 128 avenue suddenly swerved to the left to pass around a hole in the street and struck Higgins' auto which was travelling westward along 128 avenue.

Both persons injured were riding in the front seats alongside their husbands. They were injured when thrown to the switchboards of their autos.

Third week-end injury was suffered by Arthur Woida who was thrown heavily to the pavement when his bicycle collided with the side of a car driven by Miss Marjorie Bartoshek, 12545 124 street.

The accident occurred on 101 street at the entrance to Kingsway avenue.

TRIED TO PASS CAR

Woida attempted to pass Miss Bartoshek's car which was standing alongside a street car, and when another car appeared in his path he stopped suddenly, causing his bicycle to skid into the side of the standing auto.

Woida fell heavily to the pavement and suffered an injured knee and cuts to his hand. He did not require hospital attention.

A hit-and-run truck driver snapped a power pole at the intersection of 68 street and 112 avenue at 10:40 p.m. Saturday.

No eyewitnesses to the accident have been located by city police but a piece of rack at the scene is clue that the pole was broken off by a truck out of control.

The first report to the pole supporting the guy-wire that led to the main power pole and the force of the impact was sufficient to snap the pole.

The remaining 14 traffic accidents were all of a minor nature resulting in dented fenders, broken bumpers and no injuries to persons involved.

ROAD REPORT

A.M.A. safety slogan: Look out for the driver who doesn't look out for you.

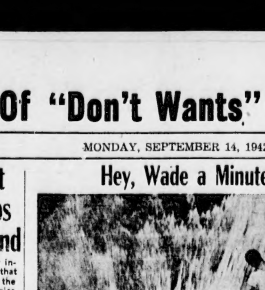

At Cherhill, a heavy rain has fallen during the last 12 hours, but it is clearing. Roads are muddy. A heavy rain has also fallen at Viking, and a light rain continues. It is cloudy and roads are muddy. Roads are muddy at Athabasca; it is cloudy and a heavy rain has fallen.

A light rain has fallen at Lac la Biche, Waskatenau, Two Hills, St. Paul, Chauvin, and Hay Lakes, and it is still raining. Weather outlook is cloudy; roads are muddy.

It is clear at Edson and roads are muddy. At Rochester, muddy roads and cloudy weather are reported. Czar has seen a light rain fall during the past twelve hours, and it is still cloudy, although roads are good. Bashaw has also had a light rain, but it is now clear; roads are good. At Peace River, weather is cloudy and roads good.

Rimbey, Thorsby and Rochester report a light rain has fallen during the last 12 hours. It is now cloudy and roads are muddy.

Development of Tar Sands Area Declared Vital

require at least 4,000 barrels for each runway.

"I am satisfied that it will be practically impossible to fill requirements such as these from present sources of supply, but all these requirements could be met by production from the McMurray field. The nearness of the source of supply would relieve our already over-burdened railway facilities," he stated, and added that the merits of McMurray asphalt have been fully demonstrated by practical paving demonstrations."

QUALITY SATISFACTORY

While not a petroleum expert, Mr. MacNicol gave it as his opinion that the products which are being derived from the tar sands will be of satisfactory quality. The gasoline now being produced has been used for months in automobiles, trucks and river boats. Actually it appears to give better performance by actual test than many gasolines distilled from oil well crude.

All the diesel oil is purchased by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company and is giving complete satisfaction. The fuel oil is being used under boilers, and the asphalt which can be produced is of a very high quality, stated Mr. MacNicol.

"In my opinion," stated Mr. MacNicol, "there has been sufficient delay in the intensive development of these sands. The time for action has arrived. The United Nations need oil, and may stand in greater need before long. Is it to be another case of 'too little and too late,' or are we resolutely to set our hands to this development?" asked Mr. MacNicol.

"Alberta and Canada have waited many years for the production of oil from the tar sands," he said.

SEES LARGE INDUSTRY

Mr. MacNicol foresaw from the developments of the McMurray tar sands a large oil industry with refineries in Edmonton, and also a diversified industry based on three of the most important materials known to chemical engineers, oil, limestone and salt, all available in abundance in the McMurray area.

From these materials, literally scores of products essential to modern civilization can be derived, he stated, and to crown it all, added Mr. MacNicol, there appears to be a fair possibility of discovering natural gas in the area a few miles to the south of McMurray.

Air Extension Is Necessitated For This City

spent on this necessary work. The committee in charge of this work desires to hold one or two more alerts during the fall and winter months, and possibly another black out. There is also involved the work of advising institutions and larger commercial houses on the proper precautions to be taken; revision of forms and many other matters of detail.

The A.R.P. committee and the City Commissioners recommend that Capt. A. J. Huff of the V.V.R. should devote the greater part of his time for the last four months of the year to attending to details of such work as may be designated by the A.R.P. committee. Remuneration for Capt. Huff will be set by council.

The report on A.R.P. precautions points out that the Prairie Provinces have not yet been declared a "vulnerable" area, and therefore do not qualify for Dominion assistance. Provincial committees have been set up in both Alberta and Saskatchewan without Dominion assistance, and in each case the province is assisting to a small degree in the establishment of air raid precautions.

NO COMMITTEE HERE

No provincial committee has been set up in Alberta, but it should be pointed out that the Alberta government will support the V.V.R. organizations throughout the province to the extent of about $10,000 for the year 1942. The V.V.R. members are engaged actively in A.R.P. work.

City Assessor Thomas Walker will seek authority to proceed with the assessment roll, and asks that council direct that no new assessment be made and that the assessment roll for the previous year be carried forward into the next succeeding tax year.

Ten junior members of the police force are asking that the former salary scale of $125 monthly be restored, and stated that due to the increased compulsory deductions and higher cost of living it is difficult for them to meet their obligations.

Final Figures Not Compiled For Teachers

While final figures have not yet been compiled, it is possible the shortage of teachers in Alberta may not be as serious as at first believed, according to a report received from officials of the provincial department of education Monday.

The department has received reports from the various school divisions on the teacher situation and it was stated it would be definitely known how many teachers were needed when the various schools after figures had been checked. Monday was the deadline for these reports.

LESS THAN 200

"However, it would appear the situation may not be as serious as believed earlier this month," a departmental official said, adding that possibly the number of teachers needed would be less than the figure of 200 issued a short time ago.

It was reported that "quite a number" of high school students had obtained leaves of absence from classes to assist in harvesting work due to the prevailing shortage of farm labor.

Shortly before Alberta schools opened Sept. 2, Premier William Aberhart announced that while school opening would not be delayed to release pupils for harvest work, leaves of absence not exceeding 20 days would be granted during September and October to any high school student desiring to do harvest work.

To give such students an opportunity of covering lost ground in their studies, teachers are preparing a condensed course covering lessons taken up during the pupils' absence. Students will take this "forced feeding" course when they return to classrooms.

veloped ulcer in a few hours, after a night of great worry about his wife, who underwent a serious operation.

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, of the Mayo Clinic says:

"If the patient is worrisome and temperamental, operation is probably useless." And another authority states:

"Even after an operation, the potential ulcer patient, the temperamental, remains. Treatment of the disease has only begun."

Fears and worries that may cause ulcer, or assist a physical condition, tending to the development of ulcer, are, anxiety about making a mistake, deeply buried feelings of frustration, or infantile help-seeking attitudes, the articles state.

Cures have been assisted by having victims change their jobs to work they are confident of doing well. Once the anxieties are removed the ulcer disappears.

We think that science is steadily driving forward on many fronts, with a new "ruthlessness" that augurs well for mankind in that new world that must arise after victory is won in the present struggle.

And if worries about finance and jobs are indeed the chief cause of a prevalent sickness such as ulcer, it is not unlikely that other serious ills of the flesh will be traced to the same general cause.

In the ages gone by man spent most of his time in a frantic quest for the means of making a livelihood. He has just about won that great battle. In that tomorrow that is almost here he will spend his years in making life itself more livable.

And surely the objective of to-morrow's world is no less worthy than the purely utilitarian objective of yesterday.

Many Patronize New Library Car

On the first run of Edmonton's library car since the opening of school, 75 new loan cards were issued.

At Calder more than 50 children took out books for the first time, while at North Edmonton there were about 25 first-graders.

Last week 800 books in all were circulated at Calder, and about 700 at North Edmonton. The "library on wheels" was inaugurated for these districts a year ago next month.

Cloverdale League Will Hold Party

The Cloverdale Community League will hold its regular whist drive and dance in the Cloverdale Hall, Tuesday, Sept. 15. Part of the proceeds will be donated for the war effort, and the remainder will go into the building fund.

Wednesday, Oct. 7, boxing and wrestling matches will take place in the Cloverdale Hall.

C. P. Hustler, president of the league, made the announcements.

Alberta's lumber supply situation and the shortage of manpower for lumbering this fall and winter will be discussed at a meeting between members of the Alberta Forest Products Association and A. R. Nicholson, Ottawa, Dominion timber controller, who is expected to arrive in Edmonton Monday afternoon for the conference.

St. Paul Obtaining Help from Townspeople for Harvest Work

Although the general farm labor situation in the St. Paul district, about 100 miles northeast of Edmonton, is not as acute as it is elsewhere in Alberta, in the immediate vicinity of the town farmers have had to call on townspeople for assistance, according to a report received Monday from the extension branch of the provincial department of agriculture.

According to J. M. Fontaine, district agriculturist at St. Paul, a meeting was called of the businessmen of the town and plans were drawn up to meet any emergency. The municipal district office was established as a clearing house where farmers could make their needs known.

LABOR DEMAND

Demands for laborers were transmitted from this office to the heads of four committees which undertook to organize groups of volunteers to stook the crop. The heads of the committees have available a number of men for each week during the harvest period.

It is expected this source of volunteer labor will nearly meet the demands for extra assistance unless weather conditions create an emergency, it was reported.

On a routine tour of inspection of western Canadian offices, N. W. Van Wyck, Montreal, freight and traffic manager, Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd., arrived in Edmonton Monday. He is accompanied by R. J. Lewarne, Winnipeg, general freight agent for Western Canada. Monday they conferred with Capt. George S. Crossley, district agent. It is expected that navigation on the great lakes will close toward the end of November.

Dr. C. Jackson, Theology Dean, Dies, 62 Years

Dr. Clyo Jackson, 11026 90 avenue, dean of theology at St. Stephen's College, University of Alberta, died Sunday following an illness of several weeks. He was 62 years old.

He was born in Ridgeway, Ont., and was a graduate of Victoria College, University of Toronto, and Chicago University, where he received his doctor of philosophy degree.

He came to Edomton in 1911 to join the teaching staff of Alberta college. He was well known as the author of numerous articles and essays, the most recent of which was a section of a book of essays published by Longmans in 1939 under the title "Environmental Factors in Early Christian History."

OTHER POST

Besides his position as dean, Dr. Jackson was professor of New Testament and church history at the University. He is survived by his wife and a daughter, Virginia, who is in training as a nurse in Montreal.

Funeral services are being arranged by Hainstock and Son, funeral directors.

RIFLEMEN BAG STRAFING PLANES

These Grim Defenders Mow Down Reckless Nazi Hordes

Squadron Leader Norman Bretz, of Toronto, commander of a Canadian Spitfire squadron, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for his part in the raid on Dieppe. His squadron was credited with damaging three enemy planes.

These Russian soldiers (Left), at an observation post in the Murmansk area seem to bear out the president's words: 'With the help of her Allies she will ultimately drive every Nazi from her soil," said the president. Scores of German planes have been downed by Soviet infantrymen such as these (Right) lying on their backs on the battlefield and firing rapidly.

Alleged Jap Spies Caught in U.S. Net

These three men are held by U.S. federal agents on charges of acting as agents of the Japanese government. Walker Grey Matheson (LEFT) is a former news analyst in the office of the co-ordinator of inter-American affairs. Irvine Harvey Williams (CENTRE) and Joseph Hilton Smyth (RIGHT) were arrested in New York. Smyth and another allegedly bought the magazine The Living Age in 1938 with money provided by the Jap consulate in New York.

New "Web in Sky" to Trap Nazi Dive Bombers

These are first pictures of new 'secret weapon' successfully used by British ships against dive bombers—a rocket which trails entangling wires. Rocket is shown being placed in gun, with wire container along side. Rocket screams aloft at the approach of dive bomber. This new device is used by the 12,000 anti-aircraft gunners of the Maritime Regiment who man merchant ships and protect them against attack from the air. Parachute opens (RIGHT) when the rocket reaches maximum height, and keeps the "spider's web" aloft for a considerable time. Many enemy pilots have flown into the almost invisible strands, tearing large wing sections, knocking off propellors.

Conservative "Laymen" Meet

Rank and file members of the Conservative party took stock of the party's future at a gathering in Port Hope. J. M. Macdonnell of Toronto (TOP LEFT) was Ontario chairman. He talks over some of the problems of the meeting with H. R. Milner, Edmonton, chairman of the sessions. Another layman delegate was Mrs. W. S. Haney of Sarnia (BOTTOM LEFT). Col. Alan Cockeram (BOTTOM RIGHT), former Conservative M.P. for South York, also attended.

Sergeant's Bren Gun Downed This Nazi

Smashed to pieces by the impact, this Folke-Wulf, one of Germany's much-vaunted fighter planes, was shot down by a sergeant using a Bren gun. The raider was flying so low it turned over on its back and crashed immediately after the sergeant opened fire.

"Queens of Clouds" Are These Weather Observers

Taking a five-week course at the Dominion meteorological office in Toronto are these airwomen, training to be meteorological observers at R.C.A.F. flying training schools throughout Canada. During the course they take lectures, learn how to read recording machines, and are taught how to take detailed observations and chart and plot weather maps. They are: Jeanette Archibald, Kitchener; C. Harvey, St. John's Newfoundland; Edith J. Cape, Vernwood ,Sask.; G. H. Bruce, Winnipeg, and Joyce Adams, St. John's, Newfoundland, all AW2's.

Land Soldier Hefts a Log

This good-sized log seems light as a feather to Barbara Riddlesworth, of Staffordshire, England, a member of the Women's Land Army. Girl "soldiers" in this service are being used to clear wooded areas throughout Britain and their work in most cases compares favorably with that done by men. Large numbers of men have, of course, been released for active service since women have taken over these jobs.

Peach—But No Beach

At party atop a New York hotel, blond, blue-eyed Pat Ogden acquired city sun-tan and title of "Beach Terrace Girl of 1942."

Heart Throb

Film star Barbara Britton proudly displays her new heart-shaped pin bearing the letters, "USN", to show she has a boy friend in the Navy and doesn't want any others.

One of those "it had to happen sooner or later" things happened in Toronto when R. E. Whitehead drove into a downtown parking lot behind a trim little bay-and-white Shetland pony the other day and nonchalantly turned it over to the attendant, who with equal aplomb placed a parking ticket on Little Lass. The pony, said Mr. Whitehead, has a speed of 12 miles an hour and will wait in a parking lot as patiently as a car—and she burns no gasoline.

SPORTING BLOOD

BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

THE STORY: Hunter Dent, who manages wealthy Strickland Bairird's farm, is suspected of being involved in the robbery and murder of a bank messenger, through his protection of Ballard's disinputed son. Junior. Hunter found Junior lying unconscious beside a satchel containing $17,000, the amount taken from the messenger. Hunter had put the boy to bed, discovered next day that Junior had not been drunk, but shot and seriously wounded.

Hunter hides the money, next day finds it gone from a safe in which only he knew the combination. The tires of his car match the tracks of the "death car" which Junior drove and crashed on the estate, and which Hunter is hiding. But the sheriff examines Hunter's tires, finds there is no dust on them.

CHAPTER VI

SHERIFF ANDERSON folded his camera and dropped it back in the car seat. He continued to eye Hunter in a way the farm manager did not like. He murmured under his breath, "Um-mmmm," took out a small notebook and wrote things down. Without being so at all he acted in a most disagreeable manner. He repeated the name, "Hunter Dent." He asked, "And your official title is farm manager, that it?" Hunter nodded. The two men drove off. Hunter and Red faced each other.

The afternoon was declining. Hunter had a strange sense of time, as if not hours but weeks and months had elapsed since all this began. Red dropped on the bottom step of the silo. She talked as if to herself. "It couldn't have been Junior's car. It could not have been Junior. He was in town last night—yes. He came back some time in the night, that's true. But he was with some of the gang every minute. With Hankins Temple, with the Ghibartos, with the twins, with Neal, Bill—he couldn't have been Junior—" She became aware of Hunter's eyes closely upon her. Startled out of thinking out loud, she rose. "I guess I'd better be going, Hunter."

She moved toward the house. With a growing uneasiness that he was shielding Junior at the dangerous expense of himself, Hunter returned to the woods. He had said his key was the only one to the old chain-and-lock. That was not true. There were two keys and Junior had the other. He reached the wrecked car. He could not go on lying too long about as big an exhibit as the automobile. When night came he must get in here and haul the car out. He could use the big truck. Where he would secrete the car was another question.

Red was gone when Hunter returned to the house. He asked Warwick, "Where did Miss Bella go?"

"To town, sir, I believe."

A sudden question, which overawhelmed all others, popped into Hunter's mind. Red standing there ruminating, making what amounted to an alibi for her brother. She named all present at the party except herself.

"Warwick!"

"Yes, sir, Mr. Dent?"

"You saw all that were at the party last night. Was Miss Bella there?"

"Yes, sir, she was."

"I mean all through it. Did she leave with the rest, or go away alone or with her fiance?"

"Now you raise the question, Mr. Dent, I don't believe she was here when the party abruptly broke. It happened rather on the spurt of the moment, sir, I would say. You know how they do—some one screams something, and they all scream, and all make a dash for their cars, and the house becomes like a tomb." He reflected. "Now you ask, Miss Bella evidently did not go with the rest."

Hunter decided. "One thing seems sure. Red didn't know, couldn't vouch in her own mind, that Junior wasn't mixed up in the stick-up, the killing. She suspects. She is fraid. She is beginning to be convinced that I am mixed in it, deeper than anyont believes. But because she was not with the gang she can't know for sure, and has no way so far for finding out. Am I stupidly slipping, a goose around my own neck?"

Hunter go the paper and read the fairly meagre details. A girl and her boy friend were on their way home from the neighborhood picture show not far from the river front about midnight. This region of town was of fairly ill repute. Old frame houses, sorry little corner stores, dark stairways where dangerous characters lurked. The couple heard cries, shouts, a string of oats, and some pistol shots. They darted into a dark doorway. A young man with at drawn low over his face walked and ran past. He had something under his arm. Later it proved to be the leather bag with the money. Or that was the supposition. Another young man, in tails and silk hat, came along. He had a gun. He was running pretty fast after the young man ahead. He shouted, "Hey, stick 'em up!" It all happened so fast the couple hardly knew just how the details came. Anyway, there seemed to be two more people. Men. They just appeared. From nowhere, it would seem. The shots came fast now. When the girl screamed her boy friend slasped his hand to her mouth, telling her to keep it shut. They didn't want to get mixed in what was going on. So the rest of the doings were blurred. She did not see the two again. The man in tails after shooting once seemed to have disappeared. She could hear running steps. The echoes jumped up and down in the cobbled street. Then the police showed up and by that time the bank messenger, as he later proved to be, was lying in the middle of the narrow street, shot. The bag was gone. The girl and her boy friend couldn't run. The boy friend, however, escaped by running up the dark stairs and not coming to her rescue when the police nabbed her. The name was Sarah Kiker, and she worked part time at the munitions plant.

That was the jumbled story of an eye-witness. Sarah Kiker now was in jail. She declined to divulge the identity of her boy friend.

Hunter laid the paper aside thoughtfully. "There's a gal for you! There's a real sport."

Warwick came in and began arranging things. Hunter watched with surprise. "Something doing tonight?"

"The young, sir, are planning a meeting. Not a party, but just a get-together, as Miss Bella said."

"I see. Well, I'd better clear out."

Hunter went down to the barn. The time was almost dusk. He had to get Junior's car out, but what he would do with it afterward he could hardly think. He could put it temporarily here in the barn. He got out the heavy truck, some chains, and made ready for the wrecking job.

He ate supper. There was a small dining room attached to the servants' quarters for his use. By the time he was ready to attack the job in the woods cars bearing the guests were arriving. Hunter went out and stood in the shadows, so slashingt headbeams would not readily show him watching. The crowd was quiet. They entered the house without much talk and no laughter at all. Red didn't seem to be about. It struck Hunter with an ominous portent that he might be included in the topics to be discussed, for there was no question their purpose was with Junior.

Hunter went through the shrubbery and shadows around the west side of the mansion. Here the low-branched magnolia trees made the dark into ink. He crept up to the window, open to the bland evening. He could see the group. Hankins, Temple, the McDougal girls, Mrs. Ballard's brother, Neal Frazier, the Ghibarto twins. Red and her fiance were not present. Frazier was leaning against the mantle, finishing a cigarette. He crushed it out in an ash tray. He was a short but powerful man. A batchelor hurrying into his late 30's, with a pretty watermelon belly, he nevertheless had a bulldog face and pugilistic build. He occupied the advantage of being the oldest member of this rather cullish group that made sportsmanship their battle cry.

"I'll wager you the real culprit is not far from where we are," he said. "All of you read the Kiker girl's story in the afternoon paper. Without going into details at this moment, but speaking from some inside dope, which in turn is made up of many small things, I'm willing to lay odds on the killer's being right here. I mean on this place."

There was a hush. He finished. "I'm speaking of Hunter Dent, the manager here."

Curious World —By William Ferguson

Debunker

Many people believe that when they get scared their hearts beat faster and faster. The truth is that the action of the glands, particularly the ardrenals, during fright is such as to cause a slight initial speeding up of the heart when first scared, and this is followed almost immediately by a slowing up of the heartbeats and then the beating becomes stronger — but not faster. People mistake the pounding of their hearts for speed of the heart. These strong beats raise the blood pressure, pump sugar to the muscles, cause fatigue to be banished and prepare the body for defending itself. The heartbeats are stronger but not much faster.

The War Today

By JOHN COLLINGWOOD READE

Still Necessary to Wipe Out Rommel

As more and more details of the recent battle in Egypt reach the outside world, it becomes apparent that the British victory was a good deal more important than had been thought at the time. Not only has Rommel's armored strength been impaired badly, but his loss in transport vehicles has hampered his mobility.

The British are wary of his traps and ambushes, which he has had plenty of time to prepare, and are not pursuing his retreating rear guard in full cry. Nevertheless, they have exerted continuous pressure upon him in the centre, and made a number of sorties in the south, with the result that he has abandoned the heights at El Memeimat. The possession of these heights gave him commande of quite a considerable area and would have restricted large-scale British operations; so his enforced withdrawal was another tactical defeat.

There are vague hints, to despatches from Cairo, that German transport is moving westward toward Libya. It is very much to be hoped that this does not indicate preparations for a general withdrawal of the Axis forces into Cyrenaica. Rommel is supposed to be ill and unable to direct operations. His illness may well be a device invented by the propaganda department to protect his reputation in the event of a withdrawal or to cover the fact that he is absent from the front in consultation with the general staff in Germany.

AVOID 'HIDE-AND-SEEK

If there is one thing that must be avoided, it is a resumption of the game of hide-and-seek which has been continuing on the Libyan desert for the past two years. It is much more costly to the United Nations than it is to the elemy because of the enormous quantity of Allied shipping which is kept months at sea to supply the Army of the Nile.

General Alexander's task is not merely to provide for the defence of Egypt, but to remove the Axis Afrika Korps from Libya altogether. This may be very difficult to do if Rommel is ever allowed to escape from the narrow funnel between the coast and the Quattara depression in which he is now contained. Once he has recrossed the Egyptian boundary, he will be able to disperse his forces in the open desert, regain his mobility and protect himself by deployment from the worse effects of air bombardment.

But if the Quattara Depression makes it difficult for Rommel to turn the British south flank, it also obstructs British attempts to sweep around and attack Rommel's rear by land. If Rommel is to be bottled up in his present confined space and hammered to pieces, some means must be found for putting a cord in the bottle. There are only two ways of doing this: one is by driving him into Tripoli from West Africa or up through the Lake Chad area, and the other is by landing powerful forces at some point on the Egyptian or Libyan coast west of Rommel's main encampment, perhaps at Matruh Sidi Barrani or Sollum.

BEST PLACES NEEDED

The aircraft controversy as between British and American types is getting well aired, which is all to the good. What the United Nations need is the best weapons in the largest possible quantities, no matter who makes them. The type of parochialism which is convinced that the local boys are superior warriors to anybody else and the local products are a revelation to all other backward peoples is directly contrary to the spirit of the United Nations. It leaves nothing but a heritage of pride and prejudice, acrimony and jealousy behind it as tinder for the next war.

The American commercial aircraft tradition should enable the United States to build the most reliable and satisfactory long-range bombers once the special requirements of war on different battlefronts are thoroughly understood by American designers. There has been nothing the matter with American bombing aircraft except that they were under-protected and were notable more for range than bomb-carrying capacity. An exchange of designing experience between the British and the Americans would soon remedy this.

British fighter aircraft should be superior to the American because the British have long specialized in the production of high-performance engines. The Schneider Cup trials and the speed records won on Daytona Beach by British cars are ample evidence of teh special skill possessed by British engineers in developing refinements on the internal combustion engine.

BRITAIN MAKES GOOD FIGHTERS

The Americans have some good fighter aircraft for special purposes, but the high-altitude performance of some of them has been limited by the lack of a suitable engine. It is generally recognized that the Spitfire has proved the most successful general-purpose fighter in the light of combat experience. The British have developed much more advanced machine than this, however, for various special duties, including the Beaufighter, the Boulton-Paul Defiant, the Whirlwind and the Tornado.

Still newer types are in process of development, and it is probably true that for service in the western theatre of war the most acceptable bomber types can be made on this side of the Atlantic because they are self-delivering and their manufacture is well suited to American industrial practices; while the most acceptable fighter types should be made on the other side of the Atlantic to avoid using shipping space to transport them across the sea.

The visit of the Lancaster to the United States may excite the interest of leading American aircraft designers and persuade them to adopt some British practices which have proved themselves under service conditions. There will always be found some people who hate giving the British credit for anything, just as there are people in Britain who can find no virtue in anything which has been made on this side of the Atlantic.

LET ALL GET CREDIT

If that type of parochialism could be listed as one of the casualties of this war there may be some hope of an enduring peace to follow. But there are plenty of people only too anxious to exploit local prejudice to the great harm of the cause. It is a much more gratifying and more civilized practice to pay tribute to one's comrades and to remain silent about one's own accomplishments. Praise for oneself is more convincing when given by one's associates.

There is something debasing about the contention that stories and motion pictures of every theatre of war should be edited differently for different places. Why should we think it quite normal that American newsreels of Dieppe should be edited to make the action appear a great American triumph and only object to be compelled to see the American version instead of one showing it as an exclusively Canadian affair. The wholesome, generous point of view is to show things as they happened and pay just tribute to all who were involved and proved worthy of tribute.

British versions of fighting in the Middle East invariably speak in terms of high praise for Australian, New Zealand and South African units, although taken together they represent less than half the force employed in this theatre of war. They do this because they assume that the exploits of the armored regiments from the British Isles will receive their due at the hands of their colleagues from other countries.

ALL UNITS IMPORTANT

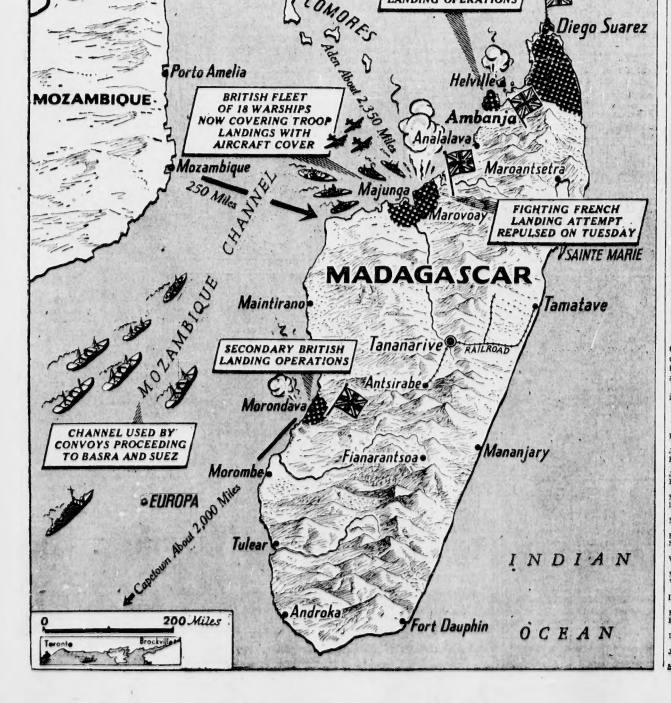

The sortie from Tobruk which broke the siege lines was not made by the Australians or the New Zealanders. It was made by the Coldstream Guards and two Scottish regiments of world renown. In the great air battles and massive raids over Germany, Polish, Czech, Norwegian and Dutch squadrons play just as important a part as squadrons from Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States.

The Americans expect to hear only what the Americans are doing. The Canadians are told only what Canadians are doing. The same with Australia and New Zealand. It is thus supposed that the morale of each nation will be raised up. This is a delusion and an insult to the good qualities of the ordinary man. Pandering to local prejudice, and magnifying local accomplishments out of proportion to the credit given others, makes only for an inflated national ego and a tiresome national bombast which cannot possibly contribute to harmony and co-operation after the war, besides which, it is mean and ungenerous.

Self-respecting Canadians and Americans know very well that the men of their race will acquit themselves like men. They need to know is that the common men of all nations, if fighting in a just cause, will fight like heroes. Thus we shall lose our cynicism, regain our confidence in humanity and come to know what a just peace in an ordered world is a possibility and not an idle dream.

The accompanying map shows the locale of new operations undertaken by the British against the Vichy-controlled island of Madagascar. The British effected a landing in Diego Suarez on May 5, and have since extended their control over the northernmost peninsula. It is now found that this is not sufficient and that Axis agents, with the connivance of the Vichy authorities, have been operating in other parts of this considerable territory.

After consultation with the United States, British naval forces carried out a heavy bombardment against Majunga, after an attempted landing by Fighting French troops had been repulsed. Supported by aircraft, the British landing parties captured the port. Other landing operations were carried out at Morondava and Ambanja, further to the south, and both ports were taken without difficulty. With the possible removal of an Japanese offensive against India as the dry weather approaches, and the German struggle to break through into the Middle East and the Caucasus reaches its climax, it becomes doubly important to bring the whole of Madagascar under control.

City Has 100 Days Without Traffic Death

Monday marks the 100th successive day devoid of fatal traffic accidents on city streets. This is the first such string of "deathless" days in 1942. In fact, it is exactly one year ago to the day that the last 100-day string was reached.

At that time it continued four days more till Glenn Murray, age 11, was fatally crushed by a truck at the lane of his home.

Though reaching the 100-day stretch is regarded as quite an achievement for a city the size of Edmonton, it is far from the records set several years ago.

MODERN RECORD

Edmonton's modern record was set between October 8, 1937 and January 28, 1939, when no fatality was recorded in 477 successive days.

Immediately prior to the fatality of October 8, 1937 the city enjoyed another streak that fell only 13 days short of completing the year Mrs. Wall met death on October 21, 1936 and the next fatal accident occurred October 8, 1937 when Mrs. M. Musie was fatally injured.

City streets were then clear of fatal accidents for the balance of 1937, for all of 1938 and for 28 days in 1939. The long spell was broken on January 28, 1939 when Emil Splett met his death.

Other stretches lasting more than 100 days in recent years were from June to October in 1939, and from Dec. 1940 to April 1941.

Third longest stretch in recent years was that of 209 days from January 5, 1936 when David Grant was killed, till August 1 of the same year when Audrey King, 6, met death in a traffic accident.

THREE THIS YEAR

During the first seven-and-one-half months of 1941 five citizens met deaths through traffic accidents while this year only three fatalities have been recorded to date.

First 1942 death was that of Tony Senyck, who died several days following an accident on Kingsway avenue, when the car in which he was a passenger, skidded and crashed through a guard rail. The accident occurred Feb. 27.

On April 23, Gary Usher, age 3, was fatally injured when he ran against the fender of a car operated by John DeFrain, Ellscott, Alta. This accident occurred in front of the child's home on the Fort Trail at 120 avenue.

Last fatality to date this year was that of Robert "Bobby" Warner, 14 months, who was found fatally injured at the curb of the street near his home on June 7.

On August 14 the string of successive days without fatalities came very close to being broken when an accident only 300 yards outside the city limits took the life of Jos. Rasko, Redwater, Alta., garageman.

Japanese Bases In Burma Blasted By R.A.F. Bombers

NEW DELHI, Sept. 14.—(CP)—Heavy R.A.F. bombers successfully attacked railway communications at Mandalay and Rangoon and raided a double-decked steamship at Prome Saturday in aerial assaults on three Japanese concentration points in Burma, the R.A.F.'s India headquarters announced yesterday.

Tracks and trucks at the station yard at Mandalay were straddled with bombs and direct hits were scored on rolling stock and railway buildings at Rangoon, the R.A.F. said.

Insanity Verdict Returned by Jury In Double Murder

GUELPH, Ont., Sept. 14.—(CP)—Trial of 21-year-old Charles Clarence Dickinson on a charge of murdering his mother and sister came to a dramatic conclusion Saturday when a supreme court jury returned a verdict of not guilty on account of insanity.

The two women, 55-year-old Mrs. Amy Dickinson, and 19-year-old Megan Dickinson, were found shot to death in their Guelph home last Feb. 21. Dickinson, on leave from the army at the time, later gave himself up to police.
